Reds Practice Brain Washing On 3 Captives

Freed Americans Tell Of Horrors In Chinese Camp

HONG KONG, Sept. 15 (AP) —Bedbugs, brain washing and isolation in darkened cells—that was the Red China encountered by two American newsmen and a Brooklyn ship captain who returned today, ill and shaky, from 18 months as prisoners of the Communists.

There were flies, too, and endless meals of rice.

"They brain wash you from time to time," said Richard Applegate, 37, of Medford, Ore., a National Broadcasting Co. correspondent, after setting foot on this British crown colony. "We had to tell them we loved communism before we could leave."

His companions were Donald Dixon, 25, of New York, an International News Service correspondent and Benjamin Krasner, 31, a ship captain all seized aboard the 42-foot yawl Kert by a Red Chinese gunboat off Hong March 21, 1953, while they were sailing toward Portuguese Macao.

"Any boat that is small enough is apt to be captured by the Communists," said Dixon. "They like to jump on small things. The machinegunners looked like they were itching to shoot somebody who couldn't shoot back"

Krasner, so run down he had trouble focusing his eyes, said he was forced to sign confessions written in Chinese without even knowing their meaning.

For the last 10 months, the three had been confined in small, windowless cells in a Canton jail.

Taken by the Reds to the border bridge at Lowu station today, they were met by U.S. Vice Consul Hodridge, who brought them in his car about 40 miles to Hong Kong. Hodridge's simple greeting was: "I am a friend from the American consulate."

Applegate was wearing soiled blue jeans and a sport shirt which appeared to be the same clothing in which he sailed on his ill-fated voyage. Dixon, who seemed to be in the worst physical condition, was in slacks. Krasner wore soiled civilian clothes.

About 70 reporters and photographers gathered at the Peninsula Hotel in Kowloon, Hong Kong colony city on the mainland, to interview them.

"Let us go up to our rooms and calm down first," one returnee

Eden Engages In Crucial Talks With French Premier

PARIS, Sept. 15 —UP— British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden Wednesday night opened showdown talks with Premier Pierre Mendes-France on whether France will join a Western defense alliance with a rearmed West Germany.

High British sources said Eden was putting it up to France that the choice lay between a revived and expanded 1948 Brussels Pact or isolation while the United States and Britain tried their own methods of putting 500,000 Germans in uniform.

Mendes - France encountered Eden's opening presentation, a foreign ministry spokesman said, by unveiling for the first time his own project for rearming West Germany within the Western defense ranks.

Eden flew from Rome for the crucial windup of a tour of West-Europe in search of a substitute for the French-killed European Defense Community. He promptly opened a round of talks at the French foreign ministry.

At the same time the United States emphasized the choice being put up to France by announcing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' quick trip to West Germany and Britain but not to France.

Responsible quarters admitted that Dulles' decision to give France a preliminary taste of diplomatic isolation produced consternation, although officially the word was "no comment."

U. S. Minister Theodore C. Achilles made two trips to the foreign ministry. One was to deliver Dulles' regrets that his schedule would not permit a Paris stop. The other was to try to smooth ruffled feelings with word that Dulles "hoped" to meet Mendes - France soon.

7 States To Be Heard In Supreme Court On Issue Of School Segregation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP) — The first step toward resumption of Supreme Court arguments on school segregation was taken today when attorneys for three southern states filed notice they wanted to take part in the legal debate.

Attorneys general for Florida, North Carolina and Oklahoma informed Supreme Court Clerk Harold B. Willey they wish to present their states' views when new arguments are heard sometime in the fall.

The question for debate then is how and when the tribunal should order desegregation of white and Negro pupils.

Arkansas, Tennessee, Maryland and Texas also notified Willey they wished to file "friend of the court" briefs later. The court clerk said it was not clear whether these four also wished to take part in the oral arguments and he planned to ask them to clarify the point. If they wish to take part they will be permitted to do so on the basis of the notices received.

A spokesman for the state said at Nashville today Tennessee filed its notice merely to protect the states right to intervene, if it finally decided to do so.

Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook said in Atlanta that three other southern states were joining Georgia in boycotting the hearings. And Bernard Sykes, Alabama's acting attorney general, said that state would file no brief because it might "legally or morally" obligate Alabama to conform imme-

British Hotel Heir's Daughter Has Vanished

PARIS, Sept. 15 (AP) — James Goldsmith, handsome young British hotel heir, charged tonight an "unknown person or persons' kidnaped the daughter born in the tragic climax of his runaway romance with a Patino tin heiress.

Statements from Goldsmith and police sources suggested the 4-months-old girl may be with a member or servant of the Patino family.

Police sources said there had been difficulties between Goldsmith and the fabulously wealthy Patino family over custody of the child, Isabela.

The infant's 18-year-old mother died in childbirth.

Goldsmith reported to French police that the child had been kidnaped from a hotel in suburban Versailles and told reporters she had been under the care of her grandmother, Mrs. Antenor Patino, since Sept. 1 when Goldsmith left Paris on a business trip.

Police sources said they believe the baby may be en route to Spain or already in that country but said they could give no reasons for such speculation.

The concierge at the Hotel Trianon Palace in Versailles declined to say whether Mrs. Patino was in the hotel tonight. However, he told a reporter by telephone she was speaking on behalf of Mrs. Patino and that she knew nothing about the Goldsmith child.

Goldsmith's wife, Isabel, died shortly after the child was born by Caesarean operation May 14. Isabel, the daughter of the Bolivian tin king, Antenor Patino, and Goldsmith made headlines early this year when they eloped to Scotland.

"The child has been with my mother-in-law at a hotel in Versailles," Goldsmith said when reached by telephone at a Paris hotel following rumors the little girl had been kidnaped.

'Today when I went out to see her, my baby and her nurse had disappeared with their baggage," Goldsmith said. "I have filed a complaint against an unknown person or persons charging kidnaping."

Deputy Killed By Berserk Gunman

SEATTLE, Sept. 15 —UP— A crazed gunman Wednesday shot and killed a sheriff's deputy who was trying to pick him up for a sanity examination.

Deputy Don Armeni went to his death in a blaze of gunfire as he approached the killer's barricaded cabin on Lake Joy near here.

Other deputies immediately opened fire on the cabin and the berserk man, Dee Roy Johnson, 26, was wounded seriously.

Crazed Man Holds Woman Hostage; Is Shot Fatally

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 15 (AP) —A crazed gunman, holding a woman hostage, today asked policemen to kill him—and then thanked officers as he lay dying on the woman's porch.

H. B. Long, 42, an escapee from the Arkansas State Hospital, held a housewife captive in her home and shouted to police:

"Come and get me, I want to die."

Then he marched the woman onto her front porch. The hostage, Mrs. A. D. Lynn, deliberately fell to the lawn, and a policeman immediately shot Long four or five times.

According to police, Long escaped from the mental institution today, terrorized people in a West Little Rock neighborhood by brandishing a .22 caliber rifle, and then wandered into the backyard of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn. He accosted Mrs. Lynn in the yard and ordered her into the house.

A neighbor heard the commotion in the yard and called police. A dozen officers surrounded the house and called to the man to surrender. He shouted back for the police to come get him, saying he wanted to die.

He pushed Mrs. Lynn out onto the front porch and covered her with the rifle. Patrolman Gene Smith fired as Mrs. Lynn purposely fell to the lawn.

"Thanks, fellows . . . that's good enough," Long said just before he died.

State Receives $11 Million In Oil Payments

Bidding High For Mineral Rights To Offshore Acreage

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 15 (AP) — The State Mineral Board today pocketed 11 million dollars in offshore oil bonuses and, in a stern resolution, charged the federal government with "threatened encroachment" on Louisiana's oil rich tidelands.

Included among the bonuses was a record $5,265,000 from the California Oil Co. for mineral rights to 5,000 acres in the South Pass area off Plaquemines Parish. It was more than two million dollars higher than the old record for a single tract and marked the third leasing in a row that the bonus record has been shattered.

Never more cognizant of the vast wealth potential on the floor of the Gulf of Mexico, the board took determined action against a scheduled federal leasing in the area.

In an official protest, it called on the U.S. Department of Interior to "cease and abandon" its Oct. 13 lease sale on grounds that some tracts were "wholly or partially" within state boundaries as defined by the recent Legislature.

Prospective bidders at the federal letting were warned that Louisiana intends to "take all appropriate and available action to protect its property rights" under the fifth amendment.

The protest resolution, filed also with the Bureau of Land Management, termed the October leasing a trespass on Louisiana sovereignty and a violation of the congressional act requiring offshore lands to the states within their historic boundaries.

The term historic boundaries is the multi-million dollar heart of the matter. Louisiana claims history bequeathed it a boundary averaging 27 miles out from the shoreline in the Gulf of Mexico. The Interior Department would limit Louisiana history to three miles.

To bolster its claim, the 1954 Legislature reasserted Louisiana's coastal boundaries by writing them into the statute books. Gov. Robert Kennon, who because of the tidelands issue and other differences with the Democratic administration jumped party lines to support the

GOP Drive To Control Congress Gets Under Way

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 —UP— The Republican high command Wednesday opened a full-scale campaign to win votes in November. It predicted the GOP can maintain control of Congress if it "runs scared."

Republican national chairman Leonard W. Hall made the forecast as Vice President Richard M. Nixon and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. took off on a grass roots "campaign of education" that will cover most of the nation before election day.

Nixon, top Republican speaker for the fall campaign, warned GOP workers that the fight for control of Congress "is a horse race and a tight one." Jubilant Democrats have pointed to their election of a Maine governor as a certain sign of victories in November.

Selection of candidates to fight it out this fall for control of the 84th Congress was virtually completed Tuesday with primaries in nine states. Only Rhode Island remains to choose its Senate and House nominees.

Nixon told reporters, before taking off for his first stop at Columbus, Ohio, that Republicans are behind now but will win in November if they do an effective job of telling the voters of the need for a GOP Congress to continue the administration's program.

Republicans hope to pick up a Senate seat in Ohio where GOP Rep. George H. Bender is running against Democratic Sen. Thomas A Burke, an interim appointee to the seat of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Nixon told the Republican state convention at Columbus that a Democratic House and Senate "would torpedo" the "magnificent" work of the Eisenhower administration during the past two years.

He said "anti-Eisenhower legislators will inevitably be looking harder at the 1956 presidential elections than they will toward the task of helping the Eisenhower administration enact its program for a stronger America."

Martin, who predicted that Republicans will "pick up 15 seats in the House," told a $50-a-plate GOP dinner at New Bruwnswick, N.J., that a Democratic victory will mean that the administration's program will be "sabotaged and ripped to shreds by a Congress hostile to President Eisenhower."

Antibiotic Being Tried On Cancers

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP) — A new antibiotic, Puromycin, shows some promise of controlling some infections and certain types of cancer, the American Chemical Society was told today.

The drug may be the first in a new line of antibiotics, by changing the original formula to "tailor-made" new ones against specific germs, viruses or cancer cells, said scientists of Lederle laboratories division, American Cyanamid Co.

Puromycin has knocked out transplanted breast cancers in mice, and now is being tested experimentally on human cancers.

It shows greatest promise so far against African sleeping sickness, caused by a parasite, and is undergoing trials on humans and animals having this disease.

The drug was first obtained from a mold found in an old Indian mound in Wisconsin. Now it and a number of relatives have been made synthetically.

The drug apparently blocks some step in the life-processes of living cells, Lederle scientists said. In theory it may be possible to design drugs which viruses, germs or cancer cells would take in, in place of some essential chemical they need. The drug would become a monkey wrench tossed into the machinery of the cell or virus.

Puromycin was obtained by Dr. J. H. Williaks, Dr. B. R. Baker, Dr. B. L. Hutchings, Dr. C. W. Waller, P. W Fryth, J P. Joseph and R. E. Schaub.

Babies a year to two years old, especially those with poor appetites, grow faster when a protein element, Lysine, is added to their diet, said Dr. Anthony A. Albanese, nutritional expert of St. Luke's Hospital, Greenwich, Conn.

Lysine is one of the amino acids, or building blocks of proteins, Dr. Albanese said infants need twice as much Lysine as normal young adults, and may be failing to get enough of it.

Chemists were also shown the first public display of a chemical element which glows in the dark and has 5,000 times the radio-activity of pure radium. There is only a speck of it, as much as one grain of salt.

The element is Polonium, discovered by Marie and Pierre Curie, and occurs in radium ore. But this is the first time scientists have ever had a measurable amount of the pure stuff, said E. Francis Joy, Mound laboratory, Monsanto Chemical Co., Miamisburg, Ohio.

Polonium gives off 5,000 times more alpha rays, or cores of helium atoms, than pure radium does, but does not emit X-rays. Study of Polonium can add to knowledge about reactions of radioactive elements.

2-Year-Old Boy On Stroll, Gets Lost

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 15 (AP)—A two-year-old boy went for a stroll early this morning, causing the whole police force hours of anxiety.

In the interlude, Michael went home with a policeman until finally retrieved by his grandmother. His mother was in the hospital giving birth to another child.

Rigid Crop Production Control Plan For 1955 Is Shelved By Benson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson today abandoned a major portion of his rigid 1955 crop production control program that had aroused sharp grower complaints in politically important farm belt areas.

He dropped provisions which were designed to take about 40 million acres, or about 12 per cent, of the nation's crop land out of the production of cash crops of any kind.

The secretary announced his decision at a news conference. He said, in reply to a query, there had been no political pressure exerted on him by Republican congressional candidates to ease up on his control program. Benson did say, however, he had discussed the matter with some Republican congressmen and party candidates for congressional seats.

Farm leaders have reported that Benson's 1955 crop program—set up several months ago and designed to prevent the accumulation of surpluses of crops not now available in oversupply — had stirred up perhaps more criticism among farmers than the administration's new price support law.

At the behest of President Eisenhower, Congress passed farm legislation setting up flexible price supports to supplant war-born high rigid supports at 90 per cent of parity for major crops. The flexible floors range between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity next year and 75 to 90 thereafter. Parity is a price declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

Under the flexible system, government price guarantees will average less than under the wartime programs. Most Democratic candidates for Congress have been attacking the new support program and some have criticized Benson's production control program.

Under the control program as originally announced, farmers were required to abide by all acreage planting allotments assigned them in order to be eligible for price support aid on any crop. Allotments are planned for cotton, wheat, corn, peanuts, major types of tobacco and rice.

In addition, farmers who were asked to divert more than 10 acres from crops under planting allotments would not have been permitted to use such land to produce other cash crops. They would have been limited to grass, hay and soil conservation crops.

It was this latter provision—which made the 1955 program the strictest control program in history—that had encountered grower criticism. The complaints were particularly sharp in wide areas of the South, Southwest and lower

New Immunity Law May Crack Big Spy Ring

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—UP— The Justice Department is using its new witness immunity law in re-opening grand jury investigations into World War II Russian spy rings, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Informed sources said a grand jury inquiry under way here will look into testimony by Elizabeth Bentley, confessed former spy, that she acted as courier for two wartime espionage rings operating within the government.

The government plans no action against Miss Bentley, who has testified freely. But it is hoped that under the new law witnesses will corroborate testimony which Miss Bentley has given previously.

She accused more than a score of government employes of being members of the rings, including the late Harry Dexter White, one-time assistant treasury secretary and former U.S. representative to the international monetary fund.

Harold Glasser, former treasury official and one of those accused by Miss Bentley, has appeared before the grand jury. Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover have appealed to Reds and ex-Reds to take advantage of the immunity law to tell what they know about the Communist conspiracy.

The new law was enacted in the closing day of Congress as part of the Eisenhower administration's anti Communist legislative program. It provides that a federal judge can grant immunity from prosecution to a witness testifying before a grand jury about subversive activities.

The immunity would be granted at the request of the Justice Department. The statute is aimed at forcing testimony from witnesses who might cite the Fifth Amendment in refusing evidence that could be used against them.

One grand jury investigation began last week. It is designed to ascertain if there have been any violations of a whole series of laws dealing with subversion.

Naval And Air Arms Ready To Hit Aggressor

Dulles Outlines Nation's Role In Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles told the world tonight that U. S. military plans call for maintaining in the Western Pacific "powerful naval and air forces" capable of striking any aggressor.

He discussed this force as a mighty re-enforcement for the new Southeast Asian defense pact which he signed at Manila last week along with representatives of seven other nations interested in the security of the Southeast Asian area.

The treaty does not require the United States to make any "material changes in our military plan," Dulles said. He added that the deterrent power created by the presence of U. S. forces in the Western Pacific "can protect many as effectively as it can protect one."

The function of these forces, Dulles said, is to keep up the capacity for "striking at any aggressor by means and at places of our choosing."

His report on the Manila conference was recorded for broadcasting this evening following his departure for Europe.

Dulles also labeled as "a total failure" what he called Chinese Communist efforts to "intimidate" some members of the Manila meeting by opening the bombardment of Quemoy about the time the meeting was beginning. All the countries which attended the conference signed the treaty, Dulles emphasized.

He said the pact would now have to be ratified and backed up by genuine will to make it effective but he expressed confidence it would achieve its purposes.

"I believe that the Manila pact will, in fact, make a substantial contribution to preserve free governments in Southeast Asia and to prevent communism from rushing on into the Pacific area where it would seriously threaten the de-

In a plane-side statement just before taking off, the secretary noted that before recessing last month the Senate approved a resolution favoring some alternate plan under which Germany would contribute to European Defense if EDC was rejected.

As a result, he said, he will meet Thursday in Bonn, capital of West

Cigarette Makers Asked By FCC To Quit Making Health Claims In Ads

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission today asked the cigarette industry to consider abandoning references to health in its advertising and to limit cigarette sales appeals generally to quality, taste, flavor and enjoyment.

The proposals were made in a letter sent to all cigarette manufacturers by Charles E. Grandey. He is director of the FTC' new Bureau of Consultation, set up to foster agreements between FTC and industry without litigation.

By implication, the proposal put cigarette makers on notice that FTC might soon apply blanket disapproval against all advertising appeals, direct or indirect, "which are questionable in light of present day scientific knowledge."

The FTC letter made no specific mention of the current controversy over whether cigarette smoking can be linked to a rise in lung cancer, but said:

"The spirit in which the industry has entered into the effort to resolve the scientific questions currently presented leads us to the belief that the industry . . . will consider this an especially propitious time to effect voluntary cessation of every questionable claim and implication in its advertising."

The offer to agree, industry wide, on advertising standards that would be acceptable to FTC was the latest move in a long series of skirmishes between FTC and cigarette makers. Over the last 12 years the FTC has brought complaints against some aspect of the advertising of every major cigarette manufacturer. Many complaints covered claims of the kind that FTC suggested today the industry avoid. FTC polices cigarette and other advertising under its mandate from Congress to guard against "false and misleading advertising."

Grandey asked for comments from the industry on the feasibility of establishing the standards, and suggestions on the standards themselves.

Claims that one cigarette is preferable to another, he said, should be "generally limited to subjects of quality, taste, flavor, enjoyment and other similar matters of opinion."

E. A. Darr, president of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., said at Winston-Salem, N. C., today that advertising that intimates there is anything harmful in smoking cigarettes is "not constructive advertising."

diately with any order the Supreme Court might issue.

Cook said he had been authorized by the governors of South Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana to say their states would have nothing to do with the hearings.

The Supreme Court decision last May 17 that segregation of public school pupils violates the Constitution was given in cases from Virginia, South Carolina, Kansas, Delaware and the District of Columbia. The court left these five cases on its docket in calling for new arguments on how to put integration into effect. Thus attorneys in these decided cases may appear in the renewed debate without filing notices today.

Court observers were interested in the fact that apparently only three states not directly involved in the May decision had responded to Chief Justice Warren's invitation to all states that require or permit segregation.

This invitation was that their attorneys general join orally in offering the Supreme Court advice on working out the mechanics and timetables for final integration. Apparently 14 states decided to ignore the invitation. This was the last day for acceptance.

As of now, it appears the renewed arguments will be by attorneys for only seven states, the District of Columbia and by U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell. Attorneys for Negro parents in the five decided cases also may argue without advance notice.

The Supreme Court opens its fall term on Oct. 4. During the week of Oct. 4 the justices will decide when to hear the renewed arguments. The date could be in November, December or early next year.

Warren invited attorneys to discuss these points:

1. Should the tribunal order that Negro children be admitted at once to public schools nearest their homes or should there be "an effective gradual adjustment" to a system not based on color distinctions?

2. Assuming a gradual changeover, should the court spell out instructions to the four states and District of Columbia? Should it appoint a special master to hear evidence and recommend specific terms? Or should it direct federal district courts to work out details and frame final decrees?

Eisenhower candidacy, was out of the state and unavailable for comment.

The mineral board based its protest on a provision of the fifth amendment of the U.S. constitution, which holds that no man shall be "deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation."

Members also tallied returns from the most prosperous — on an acre-for-acre basis — leasing sale in mineral board history. Bonuses on leasing 21,531 acres of state owned lands and water bottoms averaged $550 an acre, a new high. The previous record was an average $300 an acre.

But the $11,573,000 bonus total was behind July's record 15 million dollars. Louisiana has received nearly 30 million in oil bonuses since Congress returned the submerged lands.

Besides the record California bid, three other October bonuses cleared the million mark.

California leased another 4,694 acres in South Pass for $2,510,000 and Shell paid bonuses of $1,673,000 and $1,100,000 for tracts of 5,000 and 1,582 in the same area.

For its leases, California also bid an annual rental of one half the bonus price, plus 17 per cent royalties on gas and oil, $2.00 on sulphur, 10 cents on potash and 17 per cent on all other minerals. Shell bid the same rental (one half the bonus), plus one-sixth on gas and oil, $2.00 on sulphur, 20 cents on potash and one-sixth on all other minerals.

Pretty British Girl Strangled Near U. S. Base

RUISLIP, England, Sept. 15 (AP)—A pretty, 21-year-old girl was found strangled with a black-and-gold silk scarf today in bushes a quarter mile from U.S. Air Force headquarters in this London suburb.

Scotland Yard men, already hunting a man they describe as a baby-faced American for the similar strangle slaying last week of a party girl called "Red Helen", were put on the new "case of the girl in black."

The latest victim was Jean Townsend, manager of a women's department of a London theatrical costumer. Her body was found with the silken scarf knotted tightly around her neck.

She wore, under a white swagger coat, a black dress, black underwear, black elbow-length gloves and black earrings. Her employer described her as "a quiet girl—charming and intelligent."

The body lay just five yards off a lonely lovers' lane and less than a mile from her home. Her stockings, shoes and a black handbag lay beside the body.

Scotland Yard's detective superintendent, Robert Richardson, said Miss Townsend had visited with friends last night. She was attacked apparently while walking home from a subway station only 10 yards away.

Flattened grass around the spot where the body was found indicated a terrific struggle, with the possibility she had been dragged into the field. Richardson said the body could have been dumped there from a car.

midwestern areas seriously affected by drouth.

Benson said his action will permit farmers to use the diverted acres to grow any crops except those under allotment, potatoes and commercial vegetables. The department wishes to avoid overproduction of potatoes and vegetables because they are highly perishable.

He said relaxation of the controls—which he said he disliked in the beginning—were justified on several counts. He emphasized mainly shortages of livestock feeds in drought areas.

Benson said also that congressional action authorizing a shift from high rigid to flexible price supports next year made use of controls less necessary in efforts to curb surplus production. He said flexible supports will serve to help deter excessive production when surpluses exist.

On the drought problem, Benson announced his department has recommended that President Eisenhower add Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Tennessee and South Carolina to the list of drought disaster states. Under an emergency program, the department helps livestock farmers in drought designated areas obtain feed at reduced prices.

Benson also announced the first price support rate under the new flexible system—82½ per cent of parity, or the minimum, for next year's wheat crop. This means next year's wheat will be supported at not less than $2.06 a bushel, national farm average, compared with this year's rate of 90 per cent of parity or a national average of $2.24.

Dulles To Visit

Germany, with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and then fly to London for conferences Friday with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

"Because the United Nations General Assembly convenes the first of next week I shall not have the opportunity to meet others in Europe this week," Dulles said.

"However, it is probable that later this month there will be a European meeting at which the representatives of a number of interested countries will be present, and I look forward to having, at that time, a further and broader exchange of views."

While Dulles may discuss a number of West German rearmament proposals, his chief interest is expected to center on Britain's revised plan for bringing Germany and Italy into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization through the 1948 Brussels Pact linking Britain to the continent.

Senator's Wife Is Hospitalized

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 15—UP—Mrs. Helen Davis Knowland, wife of Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) was found unconscious in her Piedmont home shortly after noon Wednesday and was rushed to the Peralta hospital here.

Her physician, Dr. Robert J. McIvor, said she had recovered consciousness and was "snapping out of it very nicely."

The doctor said he had not determined the cause of Mrs. Knowland's condition. "We wish we knew," he said.

The Senate majority leader was notified in Long Beach, Calif., and was flying home to his wife's bedside.

J. Russell Knowland, the senator's brother, said the family did not know what caused the victim's condition, but said she had been in poor health and under a physician's care for several months.

Arkansas Solon Asks Drouth Aid On New Basis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP) — Rep. Gathings (D-Ark) asked today that drought aid be made available to farmers, hurt by dry weather in counties of his district not designated disaster areas.

He said that while 5 of the 10 counties in his district were declared drought disaster areas yesterday there are spots in the other counties where farmers have been equally hard hit.

The Agriculture Department yesterday designated Phillips, Lee, St. Francis, Cross, and Poinsett counties as disaster areas making farmers eligible for aid under the emergency drought program.

Gathings told department officials, producers in Clay, Greene, Craighead, Mississippi and Crittenden counties who have suffered crop failures should be entitled to similar consideration. The damage in parts of those counties, he said, was as severe as in the other five counties.

said. "We're too shaky to talk. We'll talk to you later."

When they returned after a brief rest, the three talked in turn. Their joy over returning to freedom almost turned to hysteria at times as they recalled their ordeal.

All three said they would withhold some facts about their imprisonment "because the three others are still in Communist hands." They referred to Krasner's Chinese financee, Wang Ying, and two Chinese boat boys seized with them on the yawl.

fense of the United States," Dulles said.

Dulles rejected Soviet complaints against the treaty. He said it is aimed at no nation, only at aggression, and added:

"The fact that the Communists find that objectionable is tragically revealing of their ambitions."

The Manila pact commits the eight member nations, including the United States, Britain and France, to act together to meet the common danger in case of aggression by armed attack, Dulles said. It also opens up new ground in diplomacy by providing that if there is a threat to the treaty area through subversion or "indirect aggression" the member nations shall consult immediately.

Dulles told his radio and television audience that this went further than any other security treaty that has been made.

The Chinese Communists opened their attack on Quemoy, a Nationalist island off the China mainland, about the time that the Manila conference opened and Dulles said of this action:

"Apparently they hoped to intimidate the members of our conference and perhaps prevent some from signing the security pact."

Such use of violence is typical of the Reds, he went on. He recalled that bloody attacks were made at the climax of Korean armistice negotiations and in connection with the Geneva meeting to discuss peace in Indochina.

In respect to the attack on Quemoy, Dulles said:

"This effort to intimidate the Manila pact and the Pacific charter with confidence that in so doing they were adding to their own security."

He noted that the Soviet Foreign Office has issued a statement denouncing the treaty, particularly article 4 "which provides for united resistance to armed attack and political subversion." He said the Russians state that the Red Chinese don't like the pact either.

Photon, Revolutionary New Typesetting System, Is Tried On Newspaper

QUINCY, Mass., Sept. 15 —UP— The first commercial installation of photon, a revolutionary photographic type-composing machine, was announced Wednesday by the Quincy Patriot Ledger.

The photon process imposes characters on rolls of film, and bypasses all present conventional processes of getting news from an editor's desk to the press room.

The Patriot Ledger installation has been under test at the newspaper, and specimens of the photon machine's work have been appearing unobtrusively this week in the paper's pages alongside material set on traditional linecasting machines using hot metal.

Manufacturers of photon claim that it works two and a half times faster than present type - setting processes, and is the most rapid process devised in the five-century history of movable type.

One book has been set on photon, and a Bible for fall publication is being set in the Cambridge, Mass., workshop of the Graphic Arts research Foundation Inc., an industry-supported non - profit organization which has been functioning since 1949.

The Quincy Patriot Ledger's photon experimentation is of particular significance in the newspaper-printing industry because the machine is being used in conjunction with another new printig developmet, the Dow etcher.

The new etching equipment, developed by the Dow Chemical Co., in co-operation with the American Newspaper Publishers Association, will etch the film from photon on featherweight magnesium plates with much greater speed than present processes. It is claimed that the fast etcher will complete a full-size newspaper page on a magnesium plate in two and a half minutes.

Translated into newspaper production, these processes mean that later news will reach the reader faster through a substantially-reduced time required in getting the news from source to street.

Key part of the photon machine is a glass matrix disc containing transparent images of letters and figures of 16 groups or "faces" of type. An operator sits at a standard electric typewriter keyboard and types the news or advertising copy, and can check his work from a roll of paper feeding from the machine as with an ordinary typewriter.

But there the similarity between typing or typesetting ends.

Rows of buttons are at hand on either side of the photon operator, and these give complete control of the machine. He can mix any of the 16 faces within a single line of "type" through the button controls.

As the operator types, electronic signals from the keyboard go by cables to a photographic unit which can be at hand or in a distant place. Inside the unit is a miniature photographic darkroom, and there an automatic "brain box" receives and remembers the signals.

As the operator nears the end of a line, a buzzer sounds. A touch to the "carriage return" key sets the machine to photographing the remembered line. The glass disc spins — eight times a second—and each time around it passes before a stroboscopic tube which beams a flash of light for about 10-millionths of a second. In that infinitesimal time, the light penetrates a selected character on the glass disc and implants the image on a roll of film.

As more split-second magic, if the operator has signed a change of type-size within the single line, the "brain box" causes a battery of 12 lenses to follow direction to the indicated type size on the glass disc.

To correct operator errors, the operator can see them as soon as they are made and can then either require the "memory box" on the machine to forget the wrong character and substitute the proper one, or can kill the entire line and restart it, with the partial line never having reached film.

Type - sizes vary from half an inch to the agate type usually used in classified advertisements. The machine can set flush to the left or right of a column margin through separate keys on the keyboard, and can automatically center a word or group of words.

There are keys causing automatic justification of lines, filling each line to the newspaper column width, or causing the line not to be justified. There are keys providing for normal or "tight" composition.

The glass disc does not wear out, as in the use of metal matrixes, and the type as produced on the film remains sharp and clean regardless of the age of the disc. It is claimed that the single glass matrix replaces conventional typesetting matrixes that would cost about $40,000 and weigh two tons. The matrix disc weighs a pound and a half.

Photon was invented by two French electrical engineers, Rene A. Higonnet and Louis Moyroud.

Negro Arrested On Battery Charges

Walter Ruffin, Negro, of 418 8th street, was being held in the city jail Wednesday on charges of aggravated battery after allegedly hitting a neighbor with a baseball bat, city detectives said.

According to the detectives, they received a call about 7 p. m. Tuesday to 416 18th street where they found Milton Hightower, a resident of that address. Investigation revealed, the detectives said, that Hightower had been hit on the head with the bat during an argument with Ruffin.

To loosen peach skins, dip the fruit into boiling water for about one minute, then cool in cold water, remove skins and pit. Very ripe peaches may need even less than a minute of dipping.

U. S. Rice May Go Abroad Under New Surplus Act

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 —UP— Agriculture Department officials said Wednesday they think a "substantial amount" of surplus American rice could be moved abroad under the new $1 billion surplus disposal act.

They made the comment to Rep. Clark W. Thompson, (D-Tex.) and two members of the rice trade from Thompson's district who met with officials about possible surpluses arising from this year's record rice crop.

A spokesman said Thompson and Ben Reynolds, of Houston, and K. Saibara, of Webster, both members of the independent Rice Growers of Texas, asked whether the new disposal act could be used to step up rice exports to Japan and the Far East.

He said they were told there is "good chance" that a "substantial amount" of rice can be exported under that and other programs.

Welcome, City Officials

The city of Monroe is proud to welcome today city officials from some 43 towns in northeast Louisiana who converged here today to discuss affairs of municipalities and through such discussions to better the welfare of the respective communities which they represent.

Monroe is very proud that in one of the latest issues of the Louisiana Municipal Review, official publication of the Louisiana Municipal Association, a lengthy article devoted to outlining the phenomenal record of growth, municipal, industrial and residential, which the city on the Ouachita has made in past years. Tribute is paid in the magazine to Mayor John E. Coon, Commissioner of Streets and Parks Wayne Huckaby and Commissioner of Finance and Utilities Frank X. Cline, for their part in the progress and growth of the city.

Individually the city of Monroe is commended for its police department, insect control, police and detective departments, fire protection, city airport, hospital facilities, street and park improvements, sewer districts, schools and other items.

The Louisiana Municipal Review states: "All in all, Monroe has a comprehensive municipal program, soundly planned and intelligently developed. The astonishing thing about it is the quiet manner in which Mayor Coon and Commissioners Cline and Huckaby have gone about it. There's been no fanfare—but Monroe people have gotten use to suddenly finding that a great deal has been accomplished without any waste of words. The officials have had excellent cooperation and maintaining such cooperation is one of the marks of a good administration. The people have approved the program that has been developed and have supported it.

"But it's still astonishing when you look around Monroe and see how much has been and is being done. The city itself has grown phenomenally, but the city administration has accomplished just as phenomenal a growth, not only serving a far greater number of people but serving them more efficiently, effectively and extensively than ever before in history."

The Foundation To Defeat Communism (Senate Res. 247)

SENATE RESOLUTION NUMBER 247 CONCERNING THE END OF RELATIONS WITH THE PIRATICAL SOVIET EMPIRE (SPONSORED APPARENTLY BY THE TWO STALWARTS IN THE SENATE, JENNER AND M'CARRAN) HAS COME TO THE ATTENTION OF THE MORNING WORLD THROUGH THE AUSPICES OF THE NEWLY FORMED "FOUNDATION TO DEFEAT COMMUNISM," ITS STATEMENT, (REPRINTED BELOW) MERITS THE CONSIDERATION OF EVERY LIVING AMERICAN.

The re-establishment of American foreign policy on its true principles.

Twenty years ago, on the basis of solemn pledges of non-interference and respect for the rules of international Law on the part of the Soviet Union, the United States recognized the Bolshevik State. The assurances and guarantees of the Kremlin have proved over these twenty years to be a flagrant fraud and the most vicious challenge to international ethics and civilized human conduct.

The vicissitudes of the last decade have even brought the United States to the overt infringement of its own moral and political principles by accepting under the cover of the United Nations' Charter, Communist Russia, the living denial of everything for which the Charter is supposed to stand. A step further in this fatal course has been our consecration of the enslavement of nations by the recognition of Moscow enforced puppet-governments in the subjugated countries of Europe.

The net result of this abandoning our principles has been an ever increasing deterioration in international developments, which now approaches an agonizing moment of reappraisal. The tragic predicament in which we find ourselves after this period of bargaining away our principles, is the most striking proof of the absolute failure of the policy advocating the abandonment of the moralistic and legalistic approach.

The time has now come to re-establish our foreign policy on the great traditions of the past. The Jenner-McCarran Resolution asking for the breaking of relations with the "center of Kremlin international outlaws," if implemented, will represent the first step towards this goal. By putting an end to our association with an international order based on slavery and despotism, we re-enforce our leadership with the moral forces throughout the world. Let us not forget that the foreign countries enslaved to the weight of oppression and tyranny, they are the elements which would contribute a decisive part in the disintegration of the Communist empire.

The severance of relations will draw a clear line between [illegible] and international piracy so inextricably [illegible]. This would in fact disentangle the United [illegible] many other positions in which she continues [illegible] as a result of the inertia, error of past [illegible] of legitimacy on the establishment of nations. It would [illegible] the poisoned moral and political atmosphere [illegible] Yalta.

The [illegible] brought against the breaking of relations [illegible] the presence of American Missions is giving hope and encouragement for the enslaved and are posts of observation. However, it is definitely known that under the circumstances, the presence of American Missions have quite the opposite effect on those populations, they do not comfort the subjugated, they merely confirm to them that the United States considers the Communists as their legitimate rulers. In addition, the conditions of total impotence to which the American Missions are reduced and the continuous vexations suffered by their staffs cannot either encourage and give hope or even maintain the prestige of the United States.

As for the "post-of-observation"-theory, it is mere wishful-thinking, because the things which might be worthwhile observing the Missions are not permitted to observe. It is hard to believe, on the other hand, that the task of the Mission is to observe the nature and techniques of Communism, now after 37 years of observations and experiences.

Conversely the breaking of relations, by recognizing the legitimate rights and aspirations of the enslaved, will strengthen the potential forces on the side of freedom. Through this, instead of being ourselves the sufferers from the Kremlin's divisionary tactics, we can turn the tables on them by nourishing the natural explosive forces of national independence and human liberty, now suppressed within the prison of nations. Only by striking at the focus of the infection can one hope to commence the process of its disintegration. All other easy and fake solutions are mere dilatory compromises doomed to failure.

We urge you therefore, to support the Jenner-McCarran Resolution.

THESE DAYS

Man's Future

Dr. Harrison Brown, whose recent book, "The Challenge of Man's Future," is a valuable study of man's place in his physical environment, has this to say:

"I believe that man has the power, the intelligence, and the imagination to extricate himself from the serious predicament that now confronts him. The necessary first step toward wise action in the future is to obtain an understanding of the problems that exist. This in turn necessitates an understanding of the relationships between man, his natural environment, and his technology. I hope that this study will in some measure contribute to that understanding."

The realistic problem that faces the human race is population and food supply and with all the wisdom of politician and scientist, little progress has actually been made adequately to feed the increasing population of the world. Not all the factors in this problem are geographic or economic. For instance, while in the United States the government purchases the excess production of wheat and stores it with little hope that it will be used before it rots, India goes hungry because of a religious scruple against killing monkeys who rove in large numbers through wheat fields and despoil them.

Again, vast areas of the world are closed to trade for political reasons, so that places which have food surpluses cannot supply places which are short of food. It is estimated that an increase of 25 percent in food production in the entire world is necessary for adequate nutrition at the present time.

Whereas it has been assumed that wars, troubled times and economic disturbances tend to reduce populations, the increase of the world's population has been enormous in recent years. The present population is accepted, in spite of inadequate census material, as about 2.5 billion with the greatest concentrations in Asia, particularly China and India. Of this number, it is estimated that about 800 million are within the orbit of the Soviet Universal State. In an interesting study of the trend to increase the number of human beings the "Population Bulletin" says:

". . . But we have seen that in the years to come the population of the world probably will increase considerably above the existing level—possibly reaching 4.8 billion in another 50 years and 6.7 billion in another century . . ." No student of the problem believes that the present food supply is adequate to meet any such demands.

While the pessimist must assume that if the atom or hydrogen bombs get in their work of destruction, a significant part of the human race will disappear, the population experts are disciplined to think in terms of an increasing population, following a trend. In other words, if wars and troubled times do not reverse the trend, what will man do about the distribution of food? Conventional weapons, even if we have more wars, will not markedly reduce the world's population.

In the United States, it is difficult for us to think about this problem because we are so plentifully supplied that we do not know what to do with such a commodity as surplus butter. But that is not true in all the world. I have witnessed starvation—permanent starvation—in parts of North China and can testify to its debasing effects upon human beings. Such starvation is geographic in the sense that man, over the centuries, having despoiled the land, it will no longer produce. The earth possesses many man-made deserts, the product of centuries of using the soil incorrectly.

Either a way must be found to increase the productivity of these old lands or human beings should be moved out of them. But where to move to? It would be interesting to know in this connection what the Russians have actually done in the Karakum desert and whether they have moved into it part of this derelict Chinese population, but such knowledge is at present not available in any reliable form. For a period, a few years ago, articles appeared in the Russian and Chinese press indicating that the reclamation of this desert would result in a mass movement of Chinese into it. This would create a new state of perhaps 50 million people. Little has been said about this area in recent reports. It may have been abandoned.

The problem is serious because hunger is politically the most pressing of human emotions.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Youthful Ways

The stories in the newspapers make thoughtful people anxious about development for our young people. We read tales of dangerous habits, of criminal acts, of waywardness that amounts to delinquency and are plunged in distress at the thought of a generation without intelligence, morals, integrity of any sort.

We need not be. We hear about these unfortunate children because they are so different from the great group of healthy minded, upright, intelligent boys and girls that fill our schools and colleges to overflowing. It is they to whom we can look for the maintenance of our national standards and our ideals and we will not look in vain.

The high school boys and girls of this generation are taller, healthier, abler in more fields than the older ones at the same age. We hear, "These children enter high school unable to read." Only some. The great group read and read well. In the past those pupils who failed to reach the standard set for academic success dropped out by mutual consent. Today they cannot do that. Willy-nilly they must go to high school.

Any teacher knows that there are always some pupils who are not fitted by nature, helped by environment, to master academic subjects. When this group reaches the high school they must be admitted. They are grouped, usually, so that all of them may have the help they require. They are always compared with the students who are fit and able to their great disadvantage. There trouble lies. So much for the retarded pupil in the high school.

Then we have a group who have been transplanted to an alien way of life and are without ability to meet its demands. These, coupled with the mentally backward group furnish a great many of the candidates for delinquency. The social workers, teachers, church people are bending every effort, aided by the police and health officers to teach and train these children. It is they we hear so much about, not the healthy wholesome generation the schools are graduating. To know about them you have only to read the reports the superintendents of the schools send out. Do that and you will be encouraged about the ways of this younger generation.

Get acquainted with the work the church is doing in your neighborhood and you will be highly gratified by what you learn of the young people there. The picture is not so sad as you imagine. The usual American home is a wholesome place for its children, the usual school is a good place for them to develop habits and intelligence to strengthen good character, the usual church is alive and alert to youth needs. They won't, they don't want to go wrong. Lend them a hand.

A cowardly attitude is often due to shyness. Dr. Patri discusses this trait and offers advice in his leaflet P-12, "The Shy Child." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care of Morning World, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

"Informed Circles"

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Since voters are prone to think more about their own welfare and the economic state of the union than what goes on in the rest of the world, the 1954 political campaign will probably touch in only the usual vague fashion on foreign policy, though it is regarded in informed circles as the most critical problem facing the United States today.

The term "informed circles" does not intimate that people outside those circles are uninformed. The truth is that even those who would like to be better informed are not given the information to which they are entitled. U. S. foreign policy is formulated in a back-room atmosphere, which is one of the reasons the nation is so much concerned by what is going on now and what it means for the future.

The uneasy feeling that the United States will become involved in another major war within the next ten years prevails among a large proportion of the voters who will go to the polls on November 2. If they could vote to prevent that calamity, they would do so overwhelmingly, but there appears to be no such possibility.

Progress has been made since World War II in holding back the Communist thrusts designed to envelop free nations and thus force the United States to resist alone. This country has learned painfully of the mistakes made by its inexperienced or incompetent diplomats. Its foreign aid program has been unskillfully administered by men who knew little or nothing of European politics, and some of them are still in important government posts. The result is that the foreign policy issue is a confused clamor for and against more foreign aid of all kinds, for and against continued alliance with free European and Asiatic nations, hope and despair for the United Nations, with a strong undertow of recurrent isolationism.

Under those circumstances, it is difficult to see how Republicans and Democrats can formulate a bipartisan foreign policy in the next Congress in which the hit or miss response to constant critical developments in several foreign zones would be succeeded by a reasoned plan of consultation between party leaders and the White House.

The United States has participated in two European wars and one major Pacific war because those nations which became our enemies were convinced we would not fight, and that they could nullify our strength if not defeat us, in war at sea. Now the most effective Communist propaganda, according to reports from western Europe, is that the United States cannot be depended upon to continue its aid, and will withdraw from Europe altogether as the spread of communism continues. A similar line is being used in southeast Asia and in India.

So far the foreign policy of the United States in 1954 has been defined by slogans like "massive retaliation," "containment," "no more Munichs" and others, the interpretations of which are frequently revised. The approach of the State Department through conferences, alliances and attempts to obtain better understanding with other free nations is matched by the drastic steps counselled by Senator William F. Knowland (Rep-Cal.) leader of the majority party in the United States Senate, who has advocated withdrawal of the U. S. from U. N. if Red China is seated there, and breaking off of diplomatic relations with the Soviet government, usually a forerunner of war — though we had no diplomatic relations with that government from 1919 to 1933, a fourteen year period.

European newspaper readers are said to be completely confused because they do not understand that the Republican leader of the Senate is privileged, under our form of government, to express his own views, without in the least influencing the executive branch of the government.

Meanwhile, France and Italy are quarreling, taking retaliatory measures against one another, the Communists are being listened to in Rome and Paris, the McCarthy situation is being interpreted as a threat of dictatorship here. The Communists have a right to be cheerful. Their foreign policy can change from month to month, with no debate, with immediate compliance by every Commie in the world.

Some political candidates might impress their constituents by proposing, in clear cut terms, that we at least unite in telling the Communist powers that we will unitedly oppose them every step of the way, and that Congress take that position.

Delaware Senate Race

The Delaware Senate race, in which incumbent J. Allen Frear, Jr. (D) faces Rep. Herbert B. Warburton (R) is going to be close—so close that the outcome probably hinges on the size of the vote. Traditionally, Democrats have won on a large turnout. The GOP normally gets a fairly high percentage of the vote in a midterm election, and expects to do so this fall.

Frear has been in the Senate since 1949. This year in the state Democratic convention he won renomination over James M. Tunnell, Jr., son of a former Senator, who resigned from the state supreme court to try for the nomination. The tide turned June 23 when ex-Gov. Elbert N. Carvel (D), who had appointed Tunnell to the bench, announced he would support Frear. Some labor groups announced they would not back Frear if he ran for re-election. Warburton, elected at large in 1952 as the state's lone Representative, was unanimously nominated at the GOP state convention Aug. 18. In 1952, he received 50.9 per cent of votes cast, 0.1 per cent better than the Eisenhower tally.

The Issues

Their records in Congress will provide issues for the two candidates in the campaign. Warburton also plans to make an issue of his "solid support" of President Eisenhower. On some questions, voters will find little difference on which to make their choice. Both men, for instance, favored state control of submerged oil lands. But Frear voted against U. S. participation in construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway while Warburton was for it. Frear voted in favor of building 35,000 public housing units a year for four years and increasing the purchase of military aircraft by $400 million. Warburton voted against both proposals.

The Democratic Senator has met with opposition from the Party organization in his state. And he hasn't been afraid to assert his independence of Democratic leadership in the Senate. He approved the Bricker amendment to limit the President's treaty-making power, and the President's request for flexible rather than rigid farm price supports. He voted with GOP party majority on such issues as statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, and postponement of Taft-Hartley labor law revision. With Sen. Walter F. George (D), he sponsored an amendment to the Internal Revenue bill to increase personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $700. Warburton voted against a similar provision when it came up in the House.

Warburton usually voted for Administration program. He voted for flexible farm price supports, a compromise program to extend reciprocal trade agreements for one year. But he voted to recommit and thus kill the Administration's health reinsurance program, and for the Cole amendment to the Atomic Energy Bill, which would have granted normal patent rights for some inventions. The President favored a program of compulsory patent sharing.

Frear has indicated he favors a tough military posture before the threat of Communist aggression. But he believes defense spending should be cut by more economical operation of the armed forces. He is against admission of Red China in the United Nations, and has his doubts about the chances of "peaceful co-existence" with the Soviet Union. He favors standby economic controls and a "reasonable reduction in excise taxes."

Warburton has worked in Congress for vocational rehabilitation and education. He was for federal aid to education if the community is unable to do the job and if aid is in the form of guarantees to borrowing only. He favored a balanced budget and an end to deficit financing. Federal employes, he said, should get a raise in salaries only after the budget is balanced. He was for ending "double taxation on dividends" and against increasing income tax exemptions for dependents.

The Candidates

Frear, whose company sells mink, coal and farm machinery, was born near Rising Sun, Del., March 7, 1903. He was graduated from the University of Delaware in 1924. Nine years later he married Esther V. Schauer; they have two children and live in Dover. He's been classed by some as a middle-of-the-roader, by others as a conservative. When he came to Washington, he told a reporter, "It would be healthier for our country to take its liberalism step-by-step rather than in one big dose."

Warburton, 37, was born in Wilmington, where he now lives with his wife, the former Elizabeth Grimm. They have no children.

Ranges Suit Every Type Of Kitchen

Constant research by manufacturers has resulted in a wide variety of improvements in the modern automatic gas range so that a prospective buyer can find one to suit any kitchen plan.

This information was revealed today by Monroe dealers who are to use their own phrase, urging homemakers to "trade 'n' save" during Old Stove Round Up, September 15 to October 30.

Separation of Units

The most outstanding idea in gas range construction, say these dealers, is separation of top-of-the-range cooking from the baking and broiling sections.

Further, manufacturers have not forgotten the thousands who live in apartments or small quarters, where the kitchen must be planned for maximum efficiency in limited space. The 30-inch range has an extra large oven, big enough for the festive turkey with room for other dishes and plenty of room above for top-burner cooking.

More Room in Kitchen

Compared to older models, this space - saving gas range means more room in the kitchen for food preparation without sacrificing any of its "big brother's" cooking, baking or broiling ability.

All new designs in gas ranges stress ease of cleaning, and have streamlined surfaces.

After every use, wipe the range with a dust cloth, and if you happen to have a spillover, use a paper towel to clean off all traces of food or liquids. If you give your gas range the same daily attention you give your dishes and pots and pans, you will find that it takes only a couple of minutes to keep your range in condition to give you maximum efficiency at all times.

500 Freshmen Students Welcomed At Northeast

Northeast State's President Lewis C. Slater welcomed nearly 500 freshman students to Northeast State at the annual fall semester freshman orientation meeting in the college auditorium this morning as the first event in registering the more than 1200 students expected to enroll for the new school year. The largest entering class in the college's history were welcomed to what President Slater described as the "friendliest campus in the state."

Miss Dorothy Works, president of the Honor Society, served as mistress of ceremonies for the program which spiced registration information with music, good humour and a friendly atmosphere. Dr. Ernest Holloway, dean of men, pronounced the invocation. Music was provided by vocal soloist Sara Batton, with Betty Sourlock as accompanist, and by flutist Beverly Durden, with Mrs. Eloise Calhoun Stanhope at the piano.

President Slater, in his welcoming address, was emphatic both in words and mood that Northeast is the friendliest campus in the state. He welcomed new students to come to his office for aid of any kind. He also emphasized that college is primarily for the purpose of study, saying that "while the many activities we have here for your enjoyment and participation are important, it is for study that you will be ultimately judged."

Terry Elder, president of the Student Council, seconded President Slater's opinion concerning the friendliness of the school, but also pointed out that "enjoyment only stems from participation." He urged the freshmen to begin participation immediately in the varied organizations and activities of the school. He announced that all freshmen, except veterans, football players, and ministers, must wear freshman caps. No high school letters will be allowed on the campus. He invited all interested freshmen to apply at the Pow Wow office for work on the student newspaper, the Pow Wow, or the college yearbook, the Chacahoula.

Miss Ida Lee King, newly appointed dean of women, was introduced, as was Dr. Ernest Holloway, dean of men.

Dean William Smith gave the freshmen a verbal tour of the Northeast campus, telling them of physical facilities and location of offices important to them, and introducing the faculties housed in the various buildings. The entire faculty, largest in Northeast history, was introduced.

It was announced that a coke hour will be held for newcomers on Thursday morning at 10:30 in the presidents home with President and Mrs. Slater.

Band Director Joe Barry Mullins urged freshmen who played musical instruments to join the Northeast band, which is shooting this year for a membership of 60.

Salvation Army Makes Appeal For School Clothing

Captain Louis Mockabee of the Salvation Army issued an urgent appeal today asking for school clothes to replenish the supply the organization had on hand prior to the opening of school.

Captain Mockabee said that at the present time there is a "heavy demand from mother's asking for clothes to enable them to send their children to school."

The local Salvation Army leader urged Twin City mothers to look through their children's closets and see if there are any old clothes that less fortunate children could use to go to school.

Persons having old clothes can contact the Salvation Army headquarters, at 510 Harrison street, or phone 3-3707. If the donor desires the clothing can be picked up at their home.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Do You Have Problems? So Does Everybady Else

"Misery loves company." That is so much truer than we realize unless we stop to think it over.

I know that it is a jolt to our egos to recognize the fact that there is practically nothing we worry about which most people do not worry about. We like to think of ourselves and our problems as dramatic and individual. They are dramatic but they are not unusual. What do you worry about that others do not worry about; love life and family relations, finances, your children, poor health, overweight and aging!

Maybe you worry about not "belonging," not being popular or properly appreciated by your fellow man. If so, you are not unusual! This need of being loved and wanted and appreciated, is the most fundamental need of all men and women of all ages, sexes and races.

However, the quickest way to lose this most important reward is to concentrate on this attitude. People are ready to like you, but most people are NOT ready to carry you about on a satin cushion and attend to your sensitiveness and complexes. Give them and yourself a chance!

You cannot force love or appreciation. These come because of your investment in life, because of what you really are.

Once a person accepts the fact that his or her problems are universal, he taps a great feeling of belonging, a richness in his life experience, a mutual understanding with his fellow beings.

No matter how much better off a person may seem to be, he or she also has problems and heartbreaks and frustrations. Sometimes your problem is easier than theirs, although it may not appear that way to you at the moment.

Who can weigh the margin of happiness and benefit and self-investment and toil, in any person's life? Who can say he was wrong or right? Once we recognize the fact that our problems are universal, we "belong" in the only important way, and our hearts will be warmed and our lives made richer for this understanding.

Tomorrow: "Teen-Agers Worry, Too, About Weight, Figures."

(Released by The Register and Tribune Syndicate, 1954)

Do you worry about not "belonging," not being popular or propertly appreciated by your fellow man.

Jacoby On Bridge

East's Bridge Show Is Unconvincing

Probably every parent is familiar with the antics of little boys who, with the jam still wet on their faces, pick up a schoolbook and vow that they've been doing their homework all along. In today's hand East put up just such an unconvincing show.

The bidding set the stage for the show. South had a minimum opening bid, and West had a light takeout double, both players being influenced by favorable distribution. North properly redoubled to show his strength, and East could just about afford to make a free response of two hearts to the takeout double.

The second round of bidding was just as feverish as the first. South rebid the spades to indicate a good suit but a minimum hand with little interest in a low penalty double of the enemy.

West raised the hearts in the hope of indicating a good sacrifice bid even though he had already stretched his hand to the breaking point by doubling one spade.

North decided to end the nonsense by jumping to game in spades, and East doubled for penalties on the theory that his partner had a very good hand for the takeout double and raise of hearts.

Practically every bid was a "stretch," although not one of them can be condemned as a bidding crime. The net result was a rather shaky contract with a rather shaky double hanging over it.

West began the defense by taking the two top clubs and the ace of hearts. Then he led a low heart and put it up to declarer to take the rest of the tricks.

It was obvious to everyone at the table that the contract would stand or fall on a diamond guess.

Declarer obviously had good spades and the ace of diamonds for his opening bid, and the burning question was: Which defender held the queen of diamonds?

Declarer won the fourth trick with dummy's king of hearts and promptly led out five rounds of trumps. This was where East put up his show. He discarded the queen of hearts and the queen of clubs, hoping that these cards would be considered strength enough for the bidding that he had done and that the position of the queen of diamonds would still be in doubt.

South was not convinced, however, by these shenanigans. He couldn't believe that East would have bid the hearts freely and would have doubled four spades with just two queens and a jack. Even with the third queen, East's bidding was barely justifiable. So South played the diamonds by finessing through East, and made his doubled contract.

Card Sense

Q—With neither side vulnerable, the bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Spade	Pass	2 Clubs	2 Dmds.

You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-J-9-7-5, Hearts A-9-4, Diamonds 7-5, Clubs A-2. What do you do?

A—Bid two spades. You have only 14 points in high cards, but the two doubletons and the strong six - card suit are enough extra strength to justify a free rebid.

Today's Question

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-J-9-7-5-4, Hearts K-Q-9, Diamond 7, Clubs A-2. What do you do?

Answer Tomorrow

Freeze fruits and vegetables soon after they are packed. Put them in the freezer, a few packages at a time, as you have them ready. Or keep the packages in the refrigerator until all you are doing at one time are ready. Then transfer them to your freezer.

DEAR MISS DIX: We have everything anyone could want from life, except peace. My husband has a good-paying job and I work, so there is no lack of money. But he and I, as well as our two daughters, 14 and 16, are continually squabbling.

Besides a full-time job, I keep my six-room house immaculately clean, do all my own canning and freezing, and have a few sidelines such as representing a national product in home demonstrations. Yet in spite of all I do nothing satisfies my family. I see my husband only on Sunday, when, instead of being glad to be with me, he finds excuses to go out with his friends. My daughters take their cue from him and are disrespectful and disobedient to me. I am so nervous I'm afraid of what may happen to me.

Christine F.

REVIVE RESPECT, ATTENTION

ANSWER: Your family could do with a lot less of what your money buys, and a lot more of you. No money can buy the personal care and attention that growing youngsters need — and need most as they enter the precarious teens. Respect cannot be bought, but it is easily alienated. By showering your family with the goods of the world you have lost them as loved ones. In your long letter, outlining one family difficulty after another, you conclude with the statement that nothing would persuade you to stay home since you couldn't stand the bickering. Doesn't it occur to you that if you stayed home and discharged your duties to your husband and children the basic cause of dissension would soon disappear? If you have the time to demand respect from your children, you'll get it. Rearrange your schedule to include time for family get-togethers, for family meals. Make your husband solely responsible for the financial welfare of the home, and you take care of its morale.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am about to begin the second year of my nurse's training. My fiance is in Europe and has another year of service. We want to be married as soon as he returns. The problem is that I've always wanted to be a nurse, and I also want to get married. Would it be wiser to end my training now and marry next year, or postpone marriage for two years?

B.B.

ANSWER: Postpone your marriage. Since your fiance is only 20, he'll still be a very young bridegroom. Waiting will give him a chance to get established in a job and your profession will always be security for you, as well as excellent preparation for the job of motherhood. If you married next year, you would undoubtedly find that the responsibilities of a wife, home and children for a very young man with no business experience would be a rather shaky foundation for a good marriage.

DEAR MISS DIX: I really like Charlie, though I date other boys and he dates other girls. He's always asking our friends if I like him best, though he teases me about the boys I go with. Very often, when he has a date with another girl, he brings one of his boy friends around so we can make up a foursome. I want Charlie for more than a casual friend; how can I get him?

Debbie

ANSWER: Your present status with Charlie, and the other boys, is just right for a young teen-ager. This is your time to pick and choose; and remember, boys have the same privilege. There may be many boys between Charlie and the time you meet the "one and only." Don't rush things; enjoy your teens.

Trade 'N' Save Slogan Of Drive Now In Progress

For the six - week period between September 15 and October 30, housewives of Monroe will be given the opportunity to "trade 'n' save" on new gas ranges. That phrase, incidentally, is the slogan adopted this year by appliance dealers during their annual Old Stove Round Up.

Chief aim of the Old Stove Round Up is to convince homemakers that:

1. They should not judge modern automatic gas cooking by 15- or 20-year-old gas stoves any more than they should compare the Bloomer Girl with today's modern woman.

2. Just because gas range burners never wear out, the outmoded models may provide a cooking medium but certainly are not equipped for modern low - heat cookery.

3. Old gas stoves are not fully insulated to keep kitchen and cook cool.

4. Old gas stoves are not equipped with automatic controls so that the homemaker can walk out of her kitchen to go swimming with the youngsters or keep a fridge date.

"The trouble with women," said a Monroe appliance dealer, who insists on not being named, "is that they are too sentimental. They hang on to a good thing too long. Hats, dolls, or maybe a dress. Yes, they even hang on to old gas stoves.

"Perhaps it's because gas ranges last too long and burners never wear out. After all, a gas range is a pretty substantial appliance, sturdily made. But the fact remains that thousands of gas stoves now in use are, frankly, obsolete!"

Cooperates 100 Per Cent

The local dealer, who is cooperating 100 per cent with the Old Stove Round Up, went on to point out that one out of every four gas ranges is more than 15 years old. One out of every two gas ranges is more than 10 years old.

To remedy this situation the local appliance dealer urged homemakers to "trade 'n' save" — trade in their old stoves for a generous amount and apply it toward the purchase of a modern automatic gas range.

Congressmen In 9 State Primaries Renominated; Sen. Upton Is Defeated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRES

Rep. Norris Cotton's defeat of Sen. Robert W. Upton for the Republican nomination for a New Hampshire Senate seat provided the major lineup change today resulting from Tuesday's spate of nine primary elections.

Elsewhere, congressional candidates seeking renomination emerged victorious as candidates were chosen in New Hampshire, New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Colorado, Utah, Minnesota and Washington.

A New York state convention and a Rhode Island primary later this month will complete selection of nominees for the November 2 election.

Upton's Senate seat was one of five at stake in Tuesday's balloting. Sens. Bridges (R-NH) and Saltonstall (R-Mass) were unopposed for renomination and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) won easily over two opponents.

For the fifth seat, Colorado Democrats chose former Rep. John A. Carroll, 53, onetime adviser to President Truman, over Denver Mayor Quigg Newton to oppose Lt. Gov. Gordon Allott in November. Allott was unopposed for the Republican nomination to the seat vacated voluntarily by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo).

Johnson was nominated without opposition for the Colorado governorship and will face Republican State Sen. Donald G. Brotzman, also unopposed in the primary.

Cotton, a four-term House member, defeated Upton and Wesley Powell, a 37-year-old attorney, for nomination to the remaining two years of the term of the late Sen. Charles W. Tobey. Upton held the seat by appointment. Stanley J. Betley, Manchester Democrat, will oppose Cotton in November.

Bridges, like Cotton, was considered a November winner in strongly Republican New Hampshire, but will compete in November against Gerald L. Morin, 30, Democratic mayor of Laconia.

In Massachusetts, the Democrats who ousted Republican Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge two years ago, chose Foster Furcolo to run against Saltonstall. Furcolo, a former U.S. House member who now is state treasurer, outdistanced two primary opponents.

To run against Humphrey, Minnesota Republicans nominated State Treasurer Val Bjornson who likewise had little trouble with two opponents.

The Minnesota primary brought an upsurge in the Democratic-Farmer - Labor voting strength which DFL spokesmen promptly claimed was a "repudiation" of the Republican party. But the Republicans countered that a hotly contested DFL race for governor and strong organizational work—not interparty disputes—were the major factors in piling up the Democratic vote. Republican Gov. C. Elmer Anderson was unopposed for renomination.

With the primary claims still echoing, two of the national Republican party's top campaigners launched intensive speaking tours with a frank admission from GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall that the party is "running scared."

Vice President Nixon told a press breakfast in Washington that his party "might be behind" at this time, but both he and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass) said they are confident the Republicans can hold control of Congress.

They spoke just before boarding planes for Columbus, Ohio, and Newark, N. J., respectively, to start building up Republican enthusiasm.

Women had their innings in two of the state races. In Utah, Mrs. Reva Beck Bosone, a two-term former House member, won decisively in her race with Warwick C. Lamoreaux for the Democratic House nomination in Utah's 2nd District. In November she will oppose Republican William A. Dawson, who defeated her two years ago.

In Vermont, Mrs. Consuelo Northrop Bailey seemed assured of becoming the nation's first elected woman lieutenant governor. She won a three-way race for nomination to that post, which traditionally leads to the state's governorship. But she declined comment on the possibility of her becoming the state's chief executive in later years.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) didn't participate in the primary campaigns, but his name figured in some of them.

In Wisconsin, a strong McCarthy opponent, Fred R. Zimmerman, won GOP renomination as secretary of state over an opponent who ran with his party's blessing. And Dist. Atty. Harley Kelley, who waged a legal battle against efforts by the Joe-Must-Go club to oust McCarthy from the Senate, was defeated by James R. Seering. The fight over the Joe-Must-Go club, headed by newspaper editor Leroy Gore, was not mentioned by either side in the campaign.

In New York, Rep. Stuyvesant Wainwright II, who campaigned on an anti-McCarthy platform, scored a 4-1 victory over William P. Shea.

New York watched also the expected convention battle next week between Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and W. Averell Harriman, former mutual security administrator, for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York.

Incomplete and unofficial returns, involving supporters of Roosevelt and Harriman, indicated Roosevelt lost ground.

Roosevelt himself was renominated without opposition for another term in the House, and other New York congressmen, among them Chairman W. Sterling Cole of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, also won out in the primary.

'Brain-Washing' Ruled Out As Batchelor Defense

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 15—UP—The "judge" in ex-progressive Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor's court martial ruled Wednesday that Batchelor's attorney, "for the purpose of showing character traits," can introduce testimony that his client was "brain washed" by the Chinese Communists.

"This, in effect, rules out brain washing as a defense and changes definitely the essential theme of my defense plan," Joel Westbrook, Batchelor's lawyer, said. "Brain washing cannot now be used to defend Batchelor on the collaboration charges."

Westbrook had called 22 witnesses and said he intended to use most of them to give the eight-man court martial a day-by-day picture of life in Chinese Communist Prison Camp No. 5, where Batchelor was held for 38 months and became a "Progressive."

He wanted to show that the brain washing Batchelor underwent made him think that doing such things as becoming a "peace fighter" actually was in the best interests of the United States and encouraged the Chinese to improve the living conditions of him and the other American POW's.

In Batchelor's case, he said, brain washing consisted of taking a young idealistic youth from a small town, Kermit, Tex., with little formal education and educating him. Westbrook promised to present evidence that his intelligence level was higher when he came out of the prison than when he went in.

Lt. Col. Francis R. Boyles of the prosecution said the brain washing testimony might be aimed at showing mitigation (some excuse) but was not a defense.

Lt. Col. Donald L. Manes, Jr., who as law officer of the court functions as a judge, ruled that the brain-washing testimony could be introduced to show "character traits."

After that ruling, Westbrook started examining witnesses and the Army charged that he was going considerably beyond what he needed to show "character traits." But Manes overruled Army objections.

Joel Adams, a guard at the Portsmouth, Ohio, atomic energy plant, said Batchelor once saved him from being sent to a camp for "reactionaries" while they were POW's.

He said Batchelor warned him that the Chinese were on to him. He didn't take Batchelor's advice, however, and the Chinese eventually put him away in the reactionary camp 72 days. He said that the "reactionaries" in the camp smoked marijuana.

"All of them?" Westbrook asked.

"Most of them — as many as could get it, anyway," Adams said.

Sgt. Robert D. Collett, 25, of Onawa, Iowa, stationed at Fort MacArthur, Calif., testified that he and Batchelor were captured together and that Batchelor broadcast over the loud speaker system in prison camp and took part in Communist "study groups."

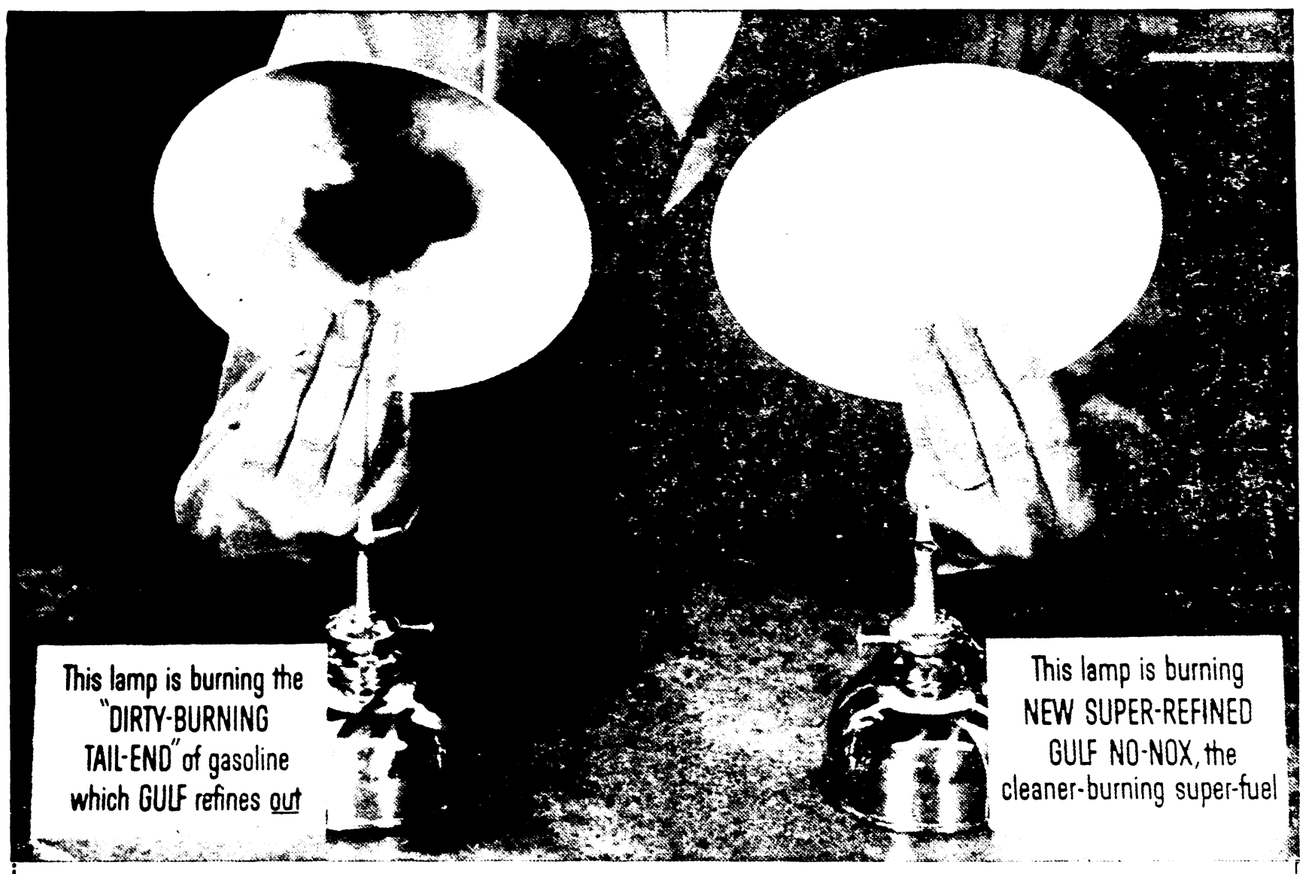
Gulf announces a completely new and different gasoline!

Now—Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 trouble-maker in high-compression engines. Result: a cleaner-burning super-fuel that gives you thousands of extra miles of full engine power... free from knock or pre-ignition.



This lamp is burning the "DIRTY-BURNING TAIL-END" of gasoline which GULF refines out
This lamp is burning NEW SUPER-REFINED GULF NO-NOX, the cleaner-burning super-fuel

Proof: Instead of trying to fight troublemaking deposits with so-called "miracle-additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place.

That's why Gulf, in making new Super-Refined NO-NOX, refines out the carbon-forming, "dirty-burning tail-end"—more than a cupful in every gallon. Just look at the plates the Gulf scientist is holding in the unretouched photo above and see what a difference Gulf super refining makes!

Starting with your first tankful, this new, super-refined, super-powered fuel will give you these immediate and lasting benefits:

- More complete engine protection than so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines. Why? Because Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline, the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines—and then treats this new Super-Refined NO-NOX to give it a complete range of protective properties. It protects every part it touches against harmful deposits—carbon, rust, gum.
- Extra gas mileage. Why? Because new NO-NOX is specially blended for the short-trip, stop-and-go driving motorists do most.
- No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's super-compression engines. Why? Because the anti-knock power of new Gulf NO-NOX has been stepped up to an all-time high.
- Stall-proof smoothness—no more worries about carburetor icing in chilly weather, or vapor lock on warm days. Instant starts, too—and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

Road tests show: New Gulf No-Nox actually makes cars perform better than new... even after 15,000 miles!

TRUE! Under all conditions—Gulf test cars showed: Higher-than-new horsepower! Better-than-new on gasoline mileage! And not a single trace of carbon knock or pre-ignition at any time, even on the steepest mountain grades!

COMPLETELY NEW! SUPER-REFINED

New Gulf No-Nox

ASC Funds Approved For Drouth-Hit Farm Area

Drouth emergency assistance—but not by way of a presidential proclamation — has been granted to farmers in 28 north Louisiana parishes, it was revealed here today.

The action granting authority for federal cost sharing in purchase of seed for emergency forage, winter cover crops, fertilizers and other essential conservation practices, was taken several days ago by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to E. B. Martin, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee of the Louisiana Seedmen's Association.

Martin said that the State ASC committee had been given the go-ahead in allotting surplus practice funds for use in parishes which it chose to designate in the drouth disaster area.

The confusion surrounding this action comes out of a campaign by state agricultural leaders to have President Eisenhower declare the same district as a drouth emergency area so farmers can receive federal assistance in shipping in feed for livestock.

Martin, who made two trips to Washington, while the assistance program was under consideration by the department of agriculture, said that the same report on the drouth conditions which was prepared by the state ASC (formerly PMA) committee, to submit in a request for aid in procuring funds for livestock feed, was submitted in obtaining this relief measure.

He said that C. E. Slack, state administrative officer of the ASC informed him of the program's approval at state level, about five days ago, and details of the relief measure were released at the parish level this week.

The program provides that some $3 million in unused funds available to the ASC for its 1954 program, may be used on a cost-sharing basis for purchase of seeds for planting winter cover crops this fall, and for planting forage crops, including such small grains as oats, wheat and barley.

The small grain crops may be used for hay, forage or ensilage, but acreage on which grain is harvested will not be eligible for cost sharing practices. The same will apply to plots of pasture where seed are harvested.

Martin said that reports from 28 parishes indicated that drouth had reduced overall crop production by at least 50 per cent, varying up or down in different sections.

Farmers may find out to what extent they can receive assistance by contacting local ASC officials, Martin said. The program in general calls for cost sharing of around 50 per cent, on the basis of current market quotations on seed and fertilizers.

The purchase order system will be used in giving financial assistance he said. A purchase order will be issued to the farmer, who in turn will take it to an eligible vendor for purchase of seed, or fertilizer. He will pay the difference in cash.

No table of fair prices for goods purchased will be set up, unless the rules are amended, Martin explained.

The parishes included in the program are:

Beauregard, Bienville, Bossier, Caddo, Caldwell, Catahoula, Claiborne, Concordia, DeSoto, East Carroll, Franklin, Grant, Jackson, Lasalle, Lincoln, Madison, Morehouse, Natchitoches, Ouachita, Red River, Richland, Sabine, Tensas, Union, Vernon, Webster, West Carroll, Winn.

In the meantime, drouth ridden areas in the 28 parishes are being toured by a representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at the request of state officials who are seeking a livestock feed assistance program, which must be authorized by President Eisenhower.

The three day tour will be concluded today.

Robert Hall, representative for the federal government in Washington, began the automobile tour Tuesday which was designed to take him through Monroe, Winnsboro, Ruston, Jena, Jonesville, Harrisonburg, and a number of other cities in this area. He is being accompanied by F. L. Spencer, state director for FHA, L. A. Mullin, drouth committee chairman, and W. W. Roberts, state agricultural official.

Mullin said Hall had expressed no opinion on the drouth situation in north Louisiana Tuesday and "he probably will not make any report to us."

The drouth committee chairman added that he expected Hall would make his report to the agricultural department in Washington, and the department would inform the local agriculture officials of his decision.

Mullin said he had "no idea at all" what the agriculture department would do on Louisiana's request for drouth aid.

Franklin Sheriff Holds Hot Check Suspect For Texas

WINNSBORO, Sept. 15 (Special)—According to Sheriff Hiram B. Waller, the Franklin Parish Sheriff's Department was notified Wednesday by the chief inspector of Houston, Texas that Gene Spencer Smith, 34, of Houston now housed in the Franklin Parish jail is wanted by authorities of that city on three counts of forgery.

Smith is being held by Franklin Parish authorities on charges of careless and reckless driving resulting in an accident, fleeing the scene of an accident and not having a driver's license.

After a 24-hour search, by both Franklin and Richland officers following a traffic accident in Gilbert, La., Smith was apprehended at Tourist Court in Delhi Saturday about 3 p.m.

Smith signed a waiver of extradiction and will be released to Texas authorities Thursday.

Apartment House Damaged By Fire

Fire inflicted an estimated $1500 damage on an apartment house under construction in the 100 block of North Nineteenth Street late Tuesday night.

The structure, which was near completion, was owned by J. J. Preston, proprietor of a Monroe lumberyard.

Assistant Fire Chief C. A. Roddy explained that the fire apparently started in sawdust in the six-apartment building and spread to the structure itself.

The alarm was sounded about 11:45 p.m. and fire trucks 103 and 105 responded to the call.

Registration For Special Classes Set For Saturday

Registration for special classes which Northeast State will offer during the fall semester is scheduled Saturday from 8 to 12 a.m. The only exception is the geology course for which students will enroll Monday, September 20.

First regular class meetings will be held during the week of September 20, it is announced by the office of Dean William M. Smith.

Full college credit will be given the late afternoon and Saturday morning course offerings. The tentative list is based upon requests of in-service teachers and others unable to meet regularly scheduled classes. The number of courses may be increased, however, if sufficient interest justifies the program expansion. Persons desiring other special studies are asked to call Dean Smith at 3-5121.

The present list of offerings includes the following according to date and hour schedule: Monday from 7:30 to 10 p.m., a geology class, the specific course to be determined by the group. Tuesday, 4:30-7 p.m., Education 157 (methods in teaching elementary social studies), Sociology 125 (introduction to social welfare), and an advanced library science course upon request.

Fascination In Riding Through Wild Hurricane

By LOWRY BOWMAN

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 15 (UP)—U. S. Navy weather planes have been plunging into hurricanes for 10 years and the men who fly them concede they can't explain why they stuck at it.

The 35 officers and 200 enlisted men of airborne Early Warning Squadron Four, the Navy's "hurricane hunters" are not thrill-seeking youngsters. All but two of the pilots are married men, most of them veterans, and why they love their job is a mystery even to them.

They are all volunteers, get no extra pay and must stay on call 24 hours a day during the hurricane season from June 15 to Nov. 30.

Their job is to fly at wavetop level into each hurricane to chart its force and direction. Their reports give coastal towns time to prepare and hurricanes no longer take the same fearful toll as the howler which hit Galveston in 1900, killing an estimated 6,000 persons.

The squadron, based at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station with a detachment at San Juan, Puerto Rico, operates under the control of Fleet Weather Central in Miami.

Because of the danger of flying into a hurricane which may have winds of more than 150 miles an hour, the pilots are "requested" and not ordered to enter the storm. Whether they do or not is up to them. They always do unless they feel it would definitely jeopardize the lives of their crews.

When word of a suspicious storm area is flashed from Weather Central, the crew of one of the squadron's six radar-equipped Neptune planes takes off.

Once in the hurricane it takes the strength of both pilot and co-pilot to handle the controls and they must often let the plane, like a well-trained horse, choose its own course.

The crew, strapped in tightly, is soaking wet in minutes as the rain forces its way through unsuspected cracks and around the window frames. Usually everyone becomes seasick -- no matter how many hurricanes they have weathered.

Fisher's Will Leaves Nothing To Second Wife

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—The estranged second wife of Harry C. (Bud) Fisher was cut off without a penny in the will of the cartoonist who created "Mutt and Jeff."

Most of the estimated half-million-dollar estate of Fisher, who died last week, was left to the Red Cross and the Salvation Army, it was disclosed today.

It is doubtful, however, that the terms of Fisher's testament will be approved. New York state law provides that a widow is legally entitled to one-third of her spouse's estate.

Fisher's widow, the Countess Aedita de Beaumont, from whom he had been separated since 1925 after living with her for about one month, said she was not surprised by the will.

"Of course," she said, "he never could write well. I haven't decided what to do about my rights as his widow."

Swimming Pool Here Converted To Fishing Hole

Junior anglers this year will again have an opportunity to try their luck at Swayze Natatorium, Commissioner of Streets and Parks Wayne Huckaby said yesterday.

Huckaby said the State Department of Wildlife and Fisheries is now stocking the swimming pool with bass, bream, white perch and some bar fish, and that the pool will be opened to young anglers September 25.

The pool, he continued, will be open week days from 2:30 to 6 p.m., and on Saturdays and Sundays from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. To be eligible to angle at the pool a child must not be over 12 years old. He, or she, must also bring bait, fishing tackle and container for carrying home his catch.

An attendant will be on hand at all times.

The conversion of the swimming pool to a fish pond when it was closed to swimming was first tried here last year. It proved so successful that it is being initiated again this year, the Commissioner explained. He also said tentative plans call for a fishing rodeo and other special events.

Killer Gallego's Biggest Regret Is Lack Of Chance To Slay His Own Brother

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Killer Gerald Gallego said today his only regret at not making good his escape from the jail here was that he won't be able to reach California to kill his brother.

"He broke me up from the only girl I ever loved, and the only one who could have helped me to go straight," the husky desperado said.

Gallego talked freely to a group of newsmen and police officers.

Gallego denied he wanted to kill his mother and his sister, as had been reported.

Someone asked him if he believed in God.

"I read somewhere once that there is no God except the man himself," he answered.

His escape from the jail, where he fatally injured jailer J. C. Landrum and his flight through unknown territory, seemed to emphasize his creed about God and man.

Gallego said his only chance to go straight came when he got out of prison in California last October.

He met a girl named Charlotte.

"She was everything I ever wanted, and we were to have been married in April," he said. "My brother turned me in for parole violation, trying to get me in trouble like always."

His mother, Mrs. Daisy Stoddard of Hawthorne, Calif., said, however, that she turned her son in, instead of the brother, hoping Gallego would go straight.

"Charlotte and her family came to see me in jail and tried to get me out," he said. "Finally my brother arranged for me to be released and got me a job out in the desert, and told me I couldn't see her (Charlotte) again.

"He broke us up and I'll kill him if I ever get the chance," he declared.

The chance seems unlikely. Gallego is sentenced to die in the electric chair for slaying a constable in Ocean Springs, Miss. last May. His case has been appealed to the state Supreme Court. The appeal automatically delayed his execution, scheduled for last July 15.

Gallego also said he killed a man in California several years ago.

The 26-year-old slayer said he met a man whose name he does not know in Inglewood, Calif., and killed him in Westchester after robbing him.

"I hit him with my fists and he fell against a car bumper. I put him in a trunk and carried him from Westchester to a ravine and threw him in, covering him with rocks and dirt," Gallego said without emotion.

In Los Angeles Gallego's mother, Mrs. Stoddard, expressed relief that her son had been captured without being shot. Gallego had threatened the lives of his mother and brother, Robert Gallego, 30, of Hawthorne, Calif.

"It was terrible," added Mrs. Stoddard, "to hear that that jailer died. But I guess there is nothing left to do but pray."

Mrs. Stoddard said she planned to write Gallego and tell him she is still behind him "no matter what happened," but added she has canceled plans to return to Mississippi to be with him when an appeal from his death sentence was scheduled late this month.

Mrs. Stoddard said she wished "That I could turn back the clock a year." She explained she meant that it was after Gallego ran away from a prison camp at Yermo, Calif., a year ago that he got into this trouble.

"I had hoped to get him into a hospital for psychiatric treatment," Mrs. Stoddard said. "But now I'll just have to think of my other children and my husband and forget Gerry—except to pray for him.

Smyth Resigns As AEC Member; Libby Gets Post

DENVER, Sept. 15—UP—A resigning member of the Atomic Energy Commission wrote President Eisenhower Wednesday that if war should come, this nation's stockpile of atomic weapons should provide the United States and the free world with "overwhelming" power to meet any attacks.

Dr. Henry D. Smyth, second AEC member to quit within three months, wrote in his letter of resignation to President Eisenhower that he hoped atomic weapons would continue to serve as a deterrent to war.

"But if attack should come," he wrote Mr. Eisenhower, "the stockpile we have prepared would assure this country and the free world the capacity to answer with overwhelming power."

Smyth, the scientific member of the commission, submitted his resignation to become effective Sept. 30. He was the lone AEC member to vote against barring Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer from access to secrets as an AEC consultant. The other member to resign earlier this year was Eugene Zuckert.

Author of the famed 1945 report on the atomic bomb, Smyth gave no reason for his action, although it had been known for some time that he desired to leave the AEC He will return to the field of education, in which he last served as chairman of the Princeton physics department.

The White House said Mr. Eisenhower soon would name another professor, Dr. Willard Frank Libby, 45, a native of Grand Valley, Colo., as successor to Smyth.

The announcement of Smyth's resignation and a shift in four top diplomatic assignments were made before the President left his summer White House offices at Lowry Air Force Base here for a five-day secluded vacation-in-a-vacation at Fraser, Colo., 70 miles west of Dener.

Mr. Eisenhower, accompanied only by a longtime Denver friend, Aksel Nielsen, his host for the five-day trip, and White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, sole member of his staff to make the jaunt, arrived in Fraser by car at 10:45 a.m., two hours after leaving his office.

Georgian Killed In 30-Foot Fall

NEW ORLEANS —UP— Police today investigated the death of a 55-year-old Georgia man who was fatally injured in a 30-foot fall into a drainage canal.

Authorities identified him as Jack Gaylord, Columbus, Ga. They said he apparently landed on the canal's concrete siding and topple into the canal which contained only a few inches of water.

An autopsy was scheduled by the coroner's office.

Police crash truck patrolman Leonard Cassard lowered himself into the canal at St. Louis and N. Gayoso last night to examine the man. He apparently was still alive but was dead on arrival at Charity hospital.

Pleads Guilty To 135 Charges

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sept. 15—UP—Chinese Nationalist sources reported Wednesday that Red China has moved an entire division of Marine "commandoes" into the Quemoy area.

Fighting around the threatened, Nationalist-held island just off the Chinese mainland was said by the Nationalists to have entered the "harassing phase."

The reinforcement of commandoes apparently was in addition to the 220,000 Red Chinese troops the Nationalists estimate to be massed along the mainland coast in the vicinity of Amoy.

Head Of WCTU Declares South Is Going Dry

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 15 (AP)—The president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union said here today "The dry pattern is a trend in the South."

Mrs. Glenn G. Hays of Evanston, Ill., made the statement as the WCTU opened its 80th annual national convention.

She said more than 830 of 1,306 counties in 13 states generally grouped as the Old South are totally dry or at least ban hard liquor.

"Mississippi and Oklahoma have remained dry since repeal, and talk of state prohibition is heard more frequently from some other Southern states," she added.

Mrs. E. D. Hinkle of Lexington, president of the Kentucky WCTU, estimated that 81 per cent of Kentucky is dry by area, and that about 61 per cent of the population lives in dry territory.

Passman En Route To Inspect Aid To West Europe

Louisiana's Representative Otto E. Passman has left Monroe on the first lap of an extended tour which will take him to a number of central European countries for a "spot check" of foreign aid results.

On Passman's itinerary are visits to France, England, Italy, Germany and a number of other countries receiving American aid. He will return late next month.

Passman expects to spend most of his time determining what benefits, if any, the people of the countries aided by the United States receive and in finding out how the people of those countries regard the gifts from the United States. He plans to obtain a man-in-the-street view, rather than an official view, of whether the American aid is beneficial and of whether it causes good or bad feeling toward the United States.

Two Officials Of Grain Firm Face New Indictments

FORT WORTH, Sept. 15 —UP— Two officials of the Transit Grain Co. have been indicted again on charges of illegal-grain mixing, it was disclosed Wednesday. The defendants made bond and did not have to go to jail.

Leo Potishman, president of the firm and well-known contributor to Fort Worth charities, and Julian Scott, vice president, made $3,000 cash bond each before U. S. Commissioner Robert F. Milam.

A Dallas grand jury voted the indictment Tuesday. It is believed similar to indictments against the firm in Houston and New Orleans during the past year.

These charged that the firm substituted low-grade wheat for the higher grade belonging to the Commodity Credit Corp., mixed them together, then sold the product as all high-grade wheat.

The superintendent of the Houston port elevator admitted clearing $140,000 in the grain-mixing deal last October. Potishman and Scott were fined after pleading guilty to the charges.

The four-count indictment against them in New Orleans, involving another grain firm official there, has not been disposed of.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 50 to 90 cents a bale higher today. Trading was moderately active. Mill and export covering orders plus commission house demand carried nearby October and December into new seasonal high ground in early dealings.

Expectations that the spot cotton situation will tighten up spurred mills to cover future contracts on a broader scale.

The crop outlook to traders appeared to be still deteriorating as Secretary of Agriculture Benson recommended that five cotton states—Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia and South Carolina—be added to the list of drought disaster areas. The secretary further revealed he has placed 1,000,000 bales of government owned cotton in the commodity set-aside and will ad an additional 2,000,000 bales to it soon. This set-aside will not be included in figuring support prices on the 1955 cotton crop which are again expected to be at 90 per cent of parity.

The New York Cotton Exchange Service estimated domestic cotton consumption in August at 670,000 bales, against 542,000 in July and 726,000 in August last year. All figures were on a four-weeks comparison.

The C.C.C. reported that for the week ending September 10 there were 30,391 bales of 1954 crop cotton placed in the loan, bringing the total so far this season to 64,030 bales. For the same week 6,668 bales of the 1953 crop were repossessed, leaving a net stock of 5,147,964 bales of that crop in government hands.

Rain Postpones Marciano-Charles Title Scramble

Reslate Contest For Tonight, But Outlook Gloomy

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP) — A drizzling rain Wednesday forced postponement until Thursday night of the Rocky Marciano - Ezzard Charles heavyweight title fight after Charles had weighed in at 192½ pounds—heaviest of his career. Marciano weighed 188½.

The postponement was announced at 1:55 p.m. by promoter Jim Norris after he and all the principals had spent the morning peering at the gloomy, grey skies and consulting various weather authorities.

The forecast for Thursday was just as bleak as Wednesday's weather—cloudy, cool with occasional rain.

If rain deals the fight another setback Thursday a decision will be made then as to the next possible date. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, was hoping to use Saturday as the alternative for the Yankees Stadium affair. It can't go on Friday night because of the I.B.C.'s regular radio-TV show that night from Washington featuring Walter Cartier and Willie Troy.

There were several blocks against Saturday, too. For one Norris said the host New York Yankees who return to the stadium on Monday, have not yet given permission for the use of the park that night. Secondly, Nate Halpern, president of Theater Network Television, Inc. (TNT) said he had the cable cleared for Thursday's theater-telecast but didn't know whether he could get the coaxial cable for Saturday.

It was the third heavyweight title to be postponed. The weather also completed a cycle of three title fight postponements for the I.B.C. this month. The Sept. 1 welterweight title fight between Kid Gavilan and Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia was postponed until next month when the champ from Cuba came down with the mumps. The scheduled Sept. 22 lightweight championship clash between Paddy DeMarco, the titleholder, and Jimmy Carter in San Francisco, was put off until November when DeMarco developed calcification in his left elbow.

Joe Louis was involved in both previous heavyweight title postponements. He feud with Tommy Farr in 1937 and the second a twice postponed affair with Jersey Joe Walcott in 1948.

Both Charles and Marciano appeared relaxed at the weighin ceremony Wednesday and they conversed in Italian. Carter learned the language while stationed in Italy with the army during the war.

Charles' weight Wednesday was seven pounds more than he scaled for the June 17 match when he won a 15-round decision in Marciano. He didn't have any breakfast before the weighin. Wednesday manager Tom Tannas said Ezzy devoured a pork chop, eggs, bacon and some toast and marmalade and tea.

"The weight is good for Ezzy," said Tannas. "He's strong and that's what he needs for March 24th."

Charles himself had said he expected to weigh around 190 pounds for the fight. The Negro ruler was one of the last fighters to arrive at the weighin. He was preceded by Marciano and Rocky Graziano. Charles and Marciano were scheduled to weigh in at 10 a.m. (EST) but Norris postponed the weighin until 1 p.m. (EST) to give Charles more time to get to the Garden.

Ezzy was accompanied by his manager, Tannas, and Marciano by his manager, Al Weill. Also with the welterweight titlist [illegible]

6-Run 6th Clinches 10-4 Win For Bums Over Reds

BROOKLYN, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gil Hodges' 40th home run of the season touched off a six-run sixth inning by Brooklyn Wednesday that enabled the Dodgers to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 10-4 and keep alive their National League pennant hopes.

The victory moved the Dodgers to within three games of the front-running New York Giants, who had their game against Milwaukee postponed because of rain.

Hodges' blow, a 350-foot drive into the left field stands, broke a 2-2 tie and preceded five more hits in the sixth frame, one a grand slam double by Pee Wee Reese.

Sandy Amoros followed Gil's homer with a single to right. He moved around on a sacrifice and another one-baser by Jackie Robinson.

Howie Judson then relieved Cincinnati starter Bud Podbielan and was greeted by Roy Campanella's single. After Don Newcombe fouled out, Junior Gilliam walked to fill the bases.

Reese lined a double to center delivering three runs and when shortstop Roy McMillan threw the relay from the outfield into the grandstand, Reese also scored. Rookie Jerry Lane relieved Judson at this point and retired the side.

Newcombe, showing signs of returning to his pre-army form of 1951, allowed eight hits until he was derricked for Jim Hughes in the eighth. Hughes choked off the Redlegs' rally with a damage of only two runs to the Brooklyn lead. The triumph was Newcombe's ninth of the year.

The game was started and played almost throughout in a pouring rain that made base-running and outfield play precarious. The rain slackened to a drizzle in the fifth inning, but it came down hard in the final three frames.

Cook 10-Rounder Headlines Arena Boxing Tonight

Opposes Mexican Vet; Grover Bass In 6-Round Semi

Gus Kallio presents an all-star boxing program at the newly-remodeled arena tonight, with 24 rounds of professional boxing scheduled, headlined by the Clarence Cook-Alex Cedillio feature ten-rounder.

The semi-final bout, slated for six stanzas, is a feature attraction in itself. Grover Bass, the smoothie from McGehee, Ark. takes on colorful "Barefoot Boy" Tobe Harris, from a town in Texas by the name of Cut 'en Shoot.

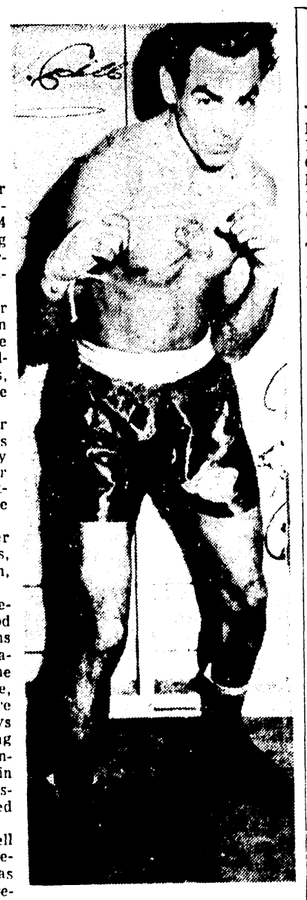
In the second of the two four round preliminaries, Farmerville's Devane Garris, a long and lanky leather - tosser, fights newcomer Harry Wells, a stockily-built light-hair, who replaces Tallulah's Gene Sargent on the card.

In the 8 p.m. opener, another Farmerville lad, Jimmy Evans, fights Bobby Flores of Houston, Tex.

Cook, up-and-coming middleweight contender, has made a good impression in recent New Orleans bouts, and is rated by Ring Magazine as the middleweight of the south. Formerly from Oak Grove, but now residing in Bastrop where he is employed, Cook has always been impressive in any boxing card he has headlined here, including his unanimous decision win over Norris Ray, the slugging Bastrop Bomber, before a jam-packed arena crowd.

His opponent tonight may well snag Cooks fistic climb, for Cedillo, from Durango, Mex., has fought 65 pro fights, and is reputedly a crafty and strong, as well as experienced, puncher.

Bass is a smooth-working, hard-hitting youngster, whose handsome appearance belies his ring skill. He won his last fight here on a unanimous verdict without too much trouble, and impressed one and all with his boxing ability. Tonight he meets a rugged lad, who looks like a hillbilly with his coonskin hat and bare feet, but fights exactly the opposite.



MEXICAN VETERAN of 65 professional bouts is Alex Cedillio, (above) who fights Clarence Cook, Bastrop, in the feature ten-rounder at Kallio's Arena tonight. A six round semi-final and two four-rounders complete the card.

Indians End Home Work For Lion Contest Today

Coach Devone Payne's Northeast State Indians will run through their last home field scrimmage this afternoon before leaving by chartered bus tomorrow morning for Hammond where they will meet the potent Southeastern Lions in the opener of the 1954 Gulf States Conference season.

The green Indian squad, boasting only eight upperclassmen in a squad of 38, open against one of the teams who finished in a three-way tie for the Gulf States championship last year. Coach Payne, asked to crystal ball the final standings this year by the Associated Press, ranked the Lions from Hammond as the team likely to finish second behind Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs. He picked the Demons of Northwestern for third. These are the three teams which finished in last years unusual deadlock for the top spot.

Quarterback Danny Hoak, freshman from Hopwood, Pa., who was figured for some duty in coach Paynes split T, has been bothered recently with a pain in his hip. It has become progressively worse until yesterday he was sent to a physician for a check. His condition and possible readiness for action are a question.

Pete Chambliss, a transfer student from Hinds Junior College in Raymond, Miss., will likely get the nod to start at the important split T quarterback slot.

Coach Payne and his staff have spent much of the last two days setting up their defense for Southeastern's attack. Twice a day practice sessions have been the rule for the inexperienced Indian squad until yesterday when college registration, which took players' time, cut practice to one session. A practice session is scheduled for tomorrow night under the lights in Hammond. The team will return immediately after the game Saturday night.

The Indians expect to present a balanced attack against the Lions, mixing a passing and running game, coach Payne said.

St. Matthew's At Holly Ridge For Contest Tonight

HOLLY RIDGE, La., Sept. 15 (Special) — The Holly Ridge Eagles will open their 1954 home football season Thursday night when they face an invasion from the St. Matthew's Fighting Irish of Monroe. The Eagles go into their home opener with a season record showing a tie with Start and a loss to Rayville. It will be the first game of the year for Coach Jay Broussard's Irish.

The game, originally scheduled for Friday, was advanced to Thursday night to avoid conflicting with neighboring games.

The Eagles have worked hard getting ready for an expected improved Irish eleven, correcting mistakes uncovered in the Rayville game.

Probable starting lineups are:

St. Matthew's — Pittaro and Zagone, ends; Saucer and Sharmon, tackles; Goldman and Guerriero, guards; Frugé, center; Norman, quarterback; Jungina and C. Inzina, halfbacks; Guirlando, fullback.

Holly Ridge — Williams and Thompson, ends; Sistrunk and Taunton, tackles; Stokes and Motton, guards; O'Quinn, center; Best, quarterback; Smith and Futch, halfbacks; Boleware, fullback.

Coach Broussard reported two Irish starters, Jackie Norman and Carl Inzina, on his ailing list, but he will give them the starting call. He said George Frugé may be moved from center to halfback if Inzina can't play.

Game time is 8 o'clock. Ticket prices are $1 and 50 cents.

Lea Lane Is Winner Of Durazna Stakes

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Charlton Clay's speedy Lea Lane ran down Hasty House farm's Alspal in the stretch to whip her persistent rival by two and one-half lengths and capture the $18,200 Durazna Stakes at Hawthorne Wednesday.

Third in the six furlong dash for 2-year-old fillies was Alleghan.

Lea Lane returned $4.20, $2.80 and $2.80. Alspal paid $3.20 and $3. Alleghan's show price was $6.

Harris' Future Unsure As Nats Plan Overhaul

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—A major face lifting is in store for the Washington Senators over the winter, but whether manager Bucky Harris will vanish in the shuffle rests squarely with an old friend, clubowner Clark Griffith.

The wolves have been howling in the capital as a result of the club's disappointing second division finish. Its attendance figures have tumbled.

And when neighboring Baltimore shelled out a sizeable bundle of cash Tuesday to lure Paul Richards as general manager of the Orioles, the howling grew even louder.

Calvin Griffith, the Nats' executive vice president, acknowledged the situation Wednesday. "Something is going to be done," he said. "We can't afford to get kicked around. You can be sure there will be plenty of changes."

Clark Griffith, the 84-year-old owner of the ball club, said firmly that any decision to shift managers would be his and his alone. He promised an announcement after the season ends Sept. 26.

Harris, himself, was saying nothing. He was at the same old stand directing the field fortunes of the club which he piloted to its first championship 30 years ago. This is Harris' third hitch as manager of the Senators.

The Washington complaints are familiar. They run like this: The club has no respectable farm system; it makes no effort to get good players; it has no life in the field.

Both Griffiths dispute these assertions. They believed last spring that the Senators had the nucleus of a first division club. Harris went along with that idea. He even foresaw the possibility of a pennant.

The fans whooped it up enthusiastically at the start of the season, but as the Nats slid down the ladder, the crowds fell off. Only 360 showed up for one game last week, and total attendance is off nearly 100,000 from last season.

"We're going to do some trading," Calvin Griffith said. "We're working on promotional ideas, too. We don't intend to stand still."

He was looking over his shoulder at Baltimore, 38 miles away, where a last place club was making noises as if it were determined to be a last place club no longer.

Junior Rebels Show Triumph In First Scrap

While the West Monroe varsity gridders are grooming for tomorrow night's battle here with the strong Rayville Hornets, the Rebel junior eleven is celebrating a 26-0 triumph over Jonesboro-Hodge's juniors Tuesday night.

Johnny Marzula, outstanding player for the West Monroe juniors, went 39 yards for the first Reb touchdown, and following touchdowns were by Joe Ford, 20-yard run; Odis Howell, guard, who went 40 yards with an intercepted pass; and Joe O'Neal, 50-yard run.

Meanwhile, the varsity Rebels, hoping for revenge for last year's loss to Rayville, were working hard for tomorrow's game against a Hornet machine expected to come here at full strength. The Rebs are optimistic about their victory chances, but inexperience is still the biggest anchor on Reb hopes of breaking away.

Walter J. Travis won the U. S. Golf Association amateur title three times, was medalist six times.

Hard Work Off; Bengals Polish For Longhorns

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 14 (AP) — Coach Gaynell Tinsley gave his Louisiana State University football team a rest from heavy scrimmage Wednesday to concentrate on tying up loose ends in offensive and defensive maneuvers.

The aerial game received a lot of attention, with tossers looking sharper than usual. Quarterback Al Doggett, Win Turner and Mat Burns were hitting the ends and halfbacks with precision and consistency.

Ends Joe Tuminello and Bob Reich got to the right spot at the right time and helped make the passers look good.

Halfback Vince Gonzales and guard Phil Beron returned to practice after minor injuries but performed with the second team. Both had been slated for starting berths against Texas in Austin Saturday.

Coaches said sophomore halfback Tommy Warner, who recently aggravated a pulled thigh muscle, may not make the trip.

A senior sweetheart for the parade at the parish fair will be elected by members of the senior class this week. The class sweetheart will ride in the parade in a new convertible and will join other parish schools' sweethearts to sit on the stage when the governor speaks.

Fisheries Boat Delays Cruise

PASCAGOULA, Miss., Sept. 15 (AP)—A fourth exploratory cruise by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service vessel Oregon scheduled to begin today was delayed by an area of squally weather in the Gulf of Mexico.

Stewart Springer, chief of gulf fisheries exploration, said the vessel would take on the new day of sea, depending on the weather, in its search for fish grounds for shrimp.

About 24 tons of tuna have been caught on the three previous cruises which were followed with considerable interest by commercial fishing companies.

The purpose of the next cruise will be to determine the extent of the tuna season in the gulf and to experiment with various methods of catching tuna.

Cherokee Strip Pioneers To Hold Big Celebration

ENID, Okla., Sept. 15 —UP—Pioneers who made the Cherokee Strip run Sept. 16, 1893 are holding their 61st annual celebration here.

The ranks of pioneers who made the run in an area touching on parts of Ponca City, Perry and Enid, are thinning fast.

The Cherokee Strip Association sponsored a downtown parade Wednesday. Seven covered wagons from the Pioneer Club of Fayetteville, Ark., riders from an area roundup club and several floats reflecting pioneer days were in the parade.

An old-time fiddlers contest was held on the Garfield county courthouse square, and a rodeo was held at the fairgrounds.

Hitchhikers Turned Over To Richland

Two hitchhikers, who called the cops when a suspicious motorist fled with their suit cases and later found themselves under arrest on narcotics charges in Monroe, have been released to Richland parish authorities.

The two, Robert James Fenderson, 23, and James Clay Baker, 25, were arrested by the Ouachita parish deputy sheriffs and Louisiana state police after the two had reported a third person for running off with their clothing. Investigation revealed the possession of 95 marijuana cigarettes.

Sheriff Grant said the men, residents of Arizona and California respectively, were turned over to Sheriff Hill in Richland parish and District Attorney Henry Anders for prosecution since the actual possession of the illegal narcotics was in that parish.

The two men were apprehended late on the night of Sept. 9, after they had complained to Rayville police officers that a motorist with whom they were hitchhiking had driven off with their clothing. The local department received a call to stop the driver of the car, later identified as Ernest Doyle Penick, Jackson, Miss., on the complaint.

When taken into custody by the local deputies and state police, the driver of the automobile told officers he had picked up the two as they were hitchhiking westward. While riding between Tallulah and Rayville, Penick told officers the two men urged him to buy some of the cigarettes which they said were marijuana. Penick also told officers he can't sell all he didn't want to smoke himself.

Penick, according to his statement to the officers, became frightened at what might happen and stopped in Rayville for something to eat. When the two riders entered the cafe he told them he had to go back to the car and, upon reaching the vehicle, left without either of the men.

A search of the clothing in the automobile revealed the cigarettes hidden in the lining of a heavy jacket.

The two were later picked up by the Ouachita parish sheriff's department and face public charges of illegal possession of marijuana.

DIAMOND DUST

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Old sugar sacks filled with diamond dust are saving some industries thousands of dollars each day. Industrial diamonds are used to grind super tough tools. Jaycees Slate Roundtable On La. Wildlife

To coincide with the opening of the hunting season, which got under way Thursday with the opening on doves, the local Jaycee chapter (Junior Chamber of Commerce) will sponsor a "Wildlife Roundtable" as the topic of the regular Friday night program over television.

Four individuals well-acquainted with wildlife problems will serve as Jaycee roundtable panel members for the 6 p.m. program Friday. They are Jake Benton, president of the Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation; Raymond Moody, State Biologist, District 2; Richard Barnes, U. S. Game Agent, and Capt. Edmond Smith, Wildlife Ranger chief, District 2. Walter Schubert will be moderator.

The panel program will be broadcast and questions may be asked the panel members by the general public in one of two ways. A postcard can be mailed today with a question, addressed to the Jaycee Roundtable, KNOE-TV, Monroe, or a call during the program to the station will do the trick.

Some of the questions likely to be dropped on panel members include:

(1) Water problems. What is being done to maintain proper water conditions for the ducks (and hunters) in the northeast Louisiana area. If present trends toward drainage of swamps and lakes continues, where will the ducks and duck hunters go?

(2) Why does the Pacific flyway get 80 days while Louisiana gets 50 on migratory waterfowl? Why is their limit higher?

(3) Do present laws make violators? Is it worth going to the trouble to get to a hunting area—and then be restricted to killing only four ducks? And what if a Woodduck is accidentally killed. Should he be thrown away to be eaten by the mink?

(4) How can the hunter meet the problem of the woods and field being closed off by posted signs?

(5) With the crowded conditions brought about by poorer water conditions, what are the best ways to practice gun safety? What ethics should guide blind-building?

(6) The Louisiana Conservation Review and the leaflet put out by the conservation department list the second split on coots as Dec. 22 to Jan 10. Is this correct, or does it actually coincide with the second duck split, Dec. 17 to Jan. 10.

The roundtable members will also make every effort to clear up any "legal" problems hunters may have, a spokesman said last night.

N. S. C. Students To Be Employed In Business Areas

Employment of Northeast State students in the business areas of the Twin Cities will function through the college employment office, according to W. L. Perkins, head of the commerce department.

Local business men who are interested in employing student's are requested to telephone Perkins at 3-5121.

Increase of fall activity in stores and offices has, in previous years, made heavy demands for student work. This increase will probably be accelerated by vacancies caused by persons resigning from jobs to begin or continue their college studies.

The employment program works to the advantage of both the employer and the student, Perkins explained.

Applications for work to help defray college expenses have already been filed by a large number of Northeast students. Some of these will be given campus jobs. Requests for employment cannot be filled, however, unless work is open in the business areas of the Twin Cities.

Previously students have accepted various types of employment in grocery stores, men's and women's dress shops, shoe shops, paper mills, filling stations and offices calling for secretarial work.

Night and day jobs have been included in the list of part-time employment in previous years. Business men desiring to discuss employment problems are asked to confer with Perkins regarding recommendations of students for particular types of work.

Municipal Meet Opens Here Today

Approximately 100 city officials from more than 40 Northeast Louisiana cities are scheduled to convene here today for the annual fifth district meeting of the Louisiana Municipal Association, Mayor John E. Coon, district vice president, said yesterday.

The purpose of the meeting, which will be held at the Bayou DeSiard Country club, is to discuss various problems facing the members and to exchange ideas for the betterment of the communities, Coon said. He also explained that the group will discuss enactments of the 1954 state legislature, which affect the municipalities of the state.

Members present at the meeting will include mayors, councilmen, city attorneys, clerks and engineers. Representatives and senators in the district have also been invited to attend the meeting.

Rice Delivery Date Changed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—Louisiana members of Congress were notified by the Agriculture Department today of a change in the delivery date for Louisiana rice placed under price support loans in 1954.

Sens. Ellender and Long and Reps. Willis and Thompson, Democrats, said the date has been changed from April 30, 1955 to Feb. 28, 1955.

The shift, they said in a statement, was made on the request of rice industry representatives in Crowley, La.

The change means that government loans obtained by rice farmers will mature Feb. 28 and that farmers preferring to deliver their rice rather than pay off the loan will do so on that date.

Girl Suspected As Check Artist Here Arrested

Monroe authorities yesterday returned a 19-year-old woman from Jackson, Miss., to face a charge of forgery here.

Raymond Knowles, assistant chief criminal investigator in the Ouachita parish sheriff's department, and Sgt. Sidney Martin, head of the check detail of the Monroe City Police department, returned Mrs. Jenell Chanceller after her arrest by Jackson city police about 8:30 p.m. last night.

She is alleged to have passed a forged check here in the amount of $30 to a grocery store, Sheriff Bailey Grant said. He said there may be other checks out, and the woman jailed has used a number of aliases. They include Mrs. Jack Thomas, Mrs. Jack Wilson, Mrs. James Williamson, and Mrs. Frank E. Owens.

Investigator Knowles, Grant said obtained information that th Chanceller woman was in Jackson, and Knowles notified Jackson authorities, who later made the pickup after locating her. She waived extradition and was immediately returned by Knowles and Martin.

No bond had been set late yesterday.

La. Firemen Open Ninth Annual Conference Here

When registration closed at 7:30 p.m. yesterday the majority of the expected 350 firemen and their wives from throughout the state had arrived here for the three-day Forty-ninth Annual Conference of the Louisiana State Firemen's Association. Registration will be resumed at 8 a.m. today and continue until 10 a.m., when the conference will be officially opened in the Crystal Ball Room of the Virginia Hotel by association president, Irby Gascon, of Plaquemine.

Invocation will be by Rev. Dr. J. N. Blackburn, of Houma, chaplain of the association.

Monroe Fire Chief H. L. Hales, conference host, will introduce Mayor John E. Coon, who will give the welcoming address, and other local officials.

The response to the welcoming address by Chief J. W. Andrus, of Crowley, will be followed by memorial services conducted by Rev. H. L. Johns, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

The next item on the agenda is the appointment of committees, after which the assembly will be addressed by Sidney S. Bowman, New Orleans, State Fire Marshal, and Michael H. Bagot, New Orleans, attorney for the State Fire Marshal's Department.

The afternoon session will get underway at 2 p.m. with an address by Parker Wiggins, New Orleans, manager of the Louisiana Rating and Fire Prevention Bureau.

Other speakers scheduled for the afternoon session are Foster McMichael, Shreveport, president of the State Fire Fighters Association of Louisiana; Rudolph McBride, Port Sulphur, president of the Port Sulphur Volunteer Fire Department, and Brig. Gen. F. A. Woolley, Baton Rouge, state director of the Louisiana Civil Defense Agency.

The principal business session of the conference is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday in the Crystal Ball Room. The three-day conference will be highlighted by the annual banquet at 8 p.m. Thursday on the Virginia Hotel roof.

Last night delegates were entertained at a barbecue at J. O. (Red) Willett's farm on Millhaven road.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Urges GOP To Stem Disunity Within Party

Nixon Goes On Stump To Begin Fall Campaign

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Vice-President Richard M. Nixon last night urged Republicans to knuckle down to the business of winning elections and warned them of the dangers of party disunity.

Nixon declared:

"If you were for Eisenhower in 1952 . . . you have no choice but to vote for Republican candidates for the House and Senate in 1954."

"One of our major dangers is disunity in the Republican organization. The Maine organization was fighting amongst themselves," he said.

A Democratic governor recently was elected in Maine, the first time in 20 years, but Republicans won the state's senatorial and congressional seats.

The party must work hard, said Nixon, because if too many Democrats get in Congress they will "torpedo" President Eisenhower's program in mid-term.

Nixon said Eisenhower opponents in the 84th Congress would be looking closer at the 1956 presidential election than towards helping the GOP administration enact its program.

"A democratic senate and house would torpedo this magnificent work—now at its mid-mark," Nixon said.

He addressed the one-day Republican State Convention in a nearly filled 2,845-seat movie the-

Grand Jury, Cops Piece Together Stabbing Story

OMAHA (AP)—A grand jury and police worked today to put together the story of a stabbing fray involving a college psychologist, a wife who went to the psychologist for advice on saving her marriage and her husband.

Police held Dr. Claude E. Thompson, 43, University of Omaha staff member, at the same hospital where Francis W. Luther, 38, an insurance underwriter, was in serious condition from six stab wounds.

Police said the information they had from Luther, Dr. Thompson, Mrs. Luther and Donald Leroy Junge, Omaha, friend of Luther, was:

Dr. Thompson and Mrs. Luther met in a tavern where Luther and Junge located them and watched from a parked car until the professor and Mrs. Luther left and entered Dr. Thompson's car.

A few moments later, Luther approached the car. There was a tussle. Dr. Thompson said "all of a sudden, blooey. I saw a few stars and I don't remember anything that happened after that. Luther said he hit the professor and Thompson but did not see a stabbing.

Junge said he saw Luther hit Thompson but did not see a stabbing.

Kidnaping Not Serious, Mere Family Squabble

PARIS (AP)—The reported kidnaping of tin millionaire Antenor Patino's motherless 4-month-old granddaughter simmered down today to a custody fight between the wealthy Bolivian family and their British son-in-law.

The young father, 20-year-old hotel heir James Goldsmith, reported last night to police that his baby daughter Isabela had been kidnaped by an "unknown person or persons" from the Versailles hotel where she had been living with her grandmother.

The baby, Patino's lawyers announced today, "is somewhere in or near Paris with her grandmother," a Spanish Bourbon princess who has been estranged from Antenor Patino for years.

The lawyers said Mrs. Patino had asked the Paris Civil Court for custody of the child and the case would be argued tomorrow.

The attorneys refused to say just where Mrs. Patino and the baby were but added, "we can say they are together."

In filing his own charges in the civil court last night, Goldsmith dropped his kidnaping allegation and protested against "non-presentation of the child." He said he expected a thorough search to be made for the baby.

Court sources said after such a charge an investigation was routine. But they doubted any all-out hunt would result from what they said appeared to be essentially a family quarrel.

Goldsmith married Patino's 18-year-old daughter Isabela last January after a headline elopment to Scotland. Her parents joined in pursuit of them, but finally consented to the match.

The young couple's baby was delivered by caesarian operation

Mother, Three Children Killed In Car Mishap

EAST BRUNSWICK N.J. (AP)—A 23-year-old mother of three children was killed last night when hit by a car and dragged five miles on its bumper.

The victim was identified as Mrs. Grace Sullivan Frank of New Brunswick.

Police said the car struck her on Rt 18 here, and dragged her along five miles until another motorist hailed the driver down in Sayreville. The driver was identified as Norman F. Childers, 43, of Milltown N. J., where he is a councilman. Crilders, a chemist at Rutgers Agricultural College, was charged with causing death by auto.

Police quoted Childers as saying he didn't know about the body until he was flagged by the other motorist. He said he felt a bump but wasn't aware that his car struck anything.

Adlai Calls For 'Reappraisal' Of Republicans

Says Public Is Tired Of 'Myths And M'Carthyism'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Democrat Adlai Stevenson last night called for an "agonizing reappraisal" in the hearts of Republican politicians "who for so long nourished us on myths and McCarthyism."

"One of the myths and distortions that has been carefully cultivated for a long time is that the Democratic party is anti-business," he told a Democratic campaign dinner.

The 1952 presidential candidate said the Republican "hatchet men will conduct the smear attacks on the flanks" while President Eisenhower delivers "little sermonettes."

But he said the election this week of a Democratic governor in Maine for the first time in 20 years confirms that "our people are tired of his unending diet of equal portions of niceness, nonsense and nastiness."

Stevenson devoted a substantial part of his address to business and how he said it prospered under Democratic presidents.

"For every three business enterprises existing in this country when the Democrats took office in 1933, there were four by 1953," he said. "The rate of business failures during the so-called Golden 20s was 20,000 a year. But that figure dropped to only 6,000 a year even during the hard post-World War II period of adjustment from war to peace to defense mobilization.

"Corporation profits after taxes were more than twice as high in 1952 as in the Republican peak year of 1929."

He said both the Democratic party and the business community want "vigorous, stimulating competition in a growing economy."

N. Y. Magistrate Named To Enforce New Comics Code

NEW YORK, (AP)—A New York City magistrate who has waged a long battle against juvenile delinquency today was named administrator for a stiff new code of ethics in the oft-assailed comic book industry.

The newly created Comics Magazine Assn. of America announced the selection of Magistrate Charles F. Murphy as code administrator. He will take the post Oct. 1.

One of the first actions contemplated is the banning of all so-called horror and terror books. Police in many cities already are waging war against such publications on the grounds they inspire youthful crime.

Magistrate Murphy was a legal adviser to the late Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia. He has organized many projects during the past five years for combating and reducing juvenile delinquency.

One of these was Teen Plan, Inc., a private organization devoted to helping teen-agers find suitable careers.

Under the comic book publishers association's plan for self-policing, the 44-year-old Murphy, it was said, will have "full authority to

Iranian Army Agent Jailed As Red Spy

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The Iranian Army's chief counter intelligence agent for the strategic Abadan oil area has been jailed in the sweeping cleanup of Soviet Spies in Iran's security forces.

The top plainclothes agent in Khuzistan Province, Capt. Gholam Hossein Gargaozloo, was the leader of 133 operatives assigned to work against Red spies around the Abadan oil refinery on the Persian Gulf. The captain went under the name of "Mr. Moghadam."

Authorities arrested Garagozloo yesterday, charging that he himself was a Russian spy.

Nearly 500 officers in the army and police force have been caught up in the nationwide drive against spies. The number eventually taken into custody may exceed 1,000 officials said, since the lower military and police ranks have not yet come under extensive investigation. The purge also is being extended to civil branches of the government.

Intelligence officers said the ring using algebraic equations as codes, slipped the Reds not only Iranian secrets but detailed information on "every tank, gun and uniform" the United States has been supplying Iran.

Army informants said Gen. Alexander Rodionov, military attache in the Russian Embassy, played a key role in the vast spy system.

City Officials From 25 Towns In Session

Mayors, council members and other city officials from more than 25 municipalities in the fifth congressional district heard the state president of the Louisiana Municipal Association discuss laws passed during the recent session of the state legislature that directly affect operation of municipal governments.

The annual meeting of the fifth district group, headed by Monroe Mayor John Coon as vice-president, was held today at the Bayou DeSiard country club.

Mayor Armand Viator, of New Iberia, president of the state municipal group, called to the attention of the city officials certain laws that are in effect at the present time and others that will go into effect in the new future.

Discussion by Viator centered around classification of towns into cities, selection of municipal executive committees, slum clearance for large cities, acquisition of sites for construction of libraries, advertisement of bids, federal grants, amendments to the home stead exemption laws, retirements of policemen, firemen and other city employees, amendment to tobacco tax funds, audit requirements and other major items.

Also attending the meeting were Senator Allen Haley of the 29th judicial district, and the following state representatives: Woodrow Wilson, Morehouse; Lonnie Richmond, West Carroll and I. J. Allen, Jackson. The executive-vice-president of the municipal association, Mayor Frank Kees, of Natchitoches, was also present.

Following the discussion of legislative acts an open discussion was held and the meeting was adjourned.

Miss. Legislature Gives Green Light To Standby Power

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's Senate today gave final legislative approval to an amendment to the state constitution allowing the lawmakers to abolish public schools.

The amendment goes to a vote of the people on Dec. 21.

Sponsors said the amendment is necessary in Mississippi's fight to keep segregated schools despite the U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public education.

They insist the standby power would be used only as a "last resort" after other methods failed.

The abolition amendment zipped through the Senate on three required readings with only two dissenting votes, Sens. George Owens of Pontotoc and Howard McDonnell of Biloxi.

The House of Representatives passed the amendment almost as easily last week.

If the people ratify the amendment, it will be inserted in the state constitution at the next Legislature.

Under the amendment, the Legislature could:

1. Abolish schools throughout Mississippi by a two-thirds vote.

2. By a majority vote, set up a local option plan whereby individual counties and school districts could abolish their schools.

3. Sell, lease or rent state-owned school property to private individuals or corporations.

4. Pay tuition for students to attend private schools.

Members of the Legal Educational Advisory Committee (LEAC) who wrote the amendment, promised to support a public schools building program if the people ratify the amendment.

Remorseful Young Man Charged In Attack On Child

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — An ashamed and remorseful young service station attendant, who begged that his name be kept out of the papers, has been charged with three felonies here involving a sexual attack on a nine-month-old baby boy.

Bob Spencer, 21, has been accused of kidnaping, sodomy and aggravated assault in the complaint, filed by Pinal County Atty. Timothy J. Mahoney.

Mahoney said Spencer had signed a confession admitting that he took the baby, Daniel Ernest Stephens, from his crib in his home at Stanfield and molested him.

Stanfield is a farming center 40 miles west of Florence.

The baby was abducted about 12:45 a.m. yesterday by an intruder who tore open a screen in the

200 Here At State Meet Of Firemen

The 42th annual conference of the Louisiana State Firemen's Association officially opened at the Virginia Hotel here Thursday morning, with some 200 or more firemen and ladies' auxiliary members present.

Business during the morning session of the conference included the invocation, a welcoming address by Mayor John E. Coon and Fire Chief H. L. Hales, a memorial service for firemen who have died during the past year, and addresses by members of the state fire marshal's office.

Irby Gascon, of Plaquemine, president of the association, opened the conference.

Principal speaker during the morning session was Marcel H. Bacot, assistant state fire marshal department from New Orleans, who discussed the subject of "suspicion fire" with the assembled group of firemen.

In his talk Bacot pointed out what constitutes a "suspicion fire" or one in which arson is suspected, and what the firemen should do in such circumstances.

Earlier, a roll call of association members who died during the

French Premier, Eden Satisfied With Confab

No Agreement Reached Yet On German Arms

PARIS (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Eden announced today he and French Premier Mendes-France are "well satisfied" with their talks on rearming West Germany.

He would not say, however, that agreement had been reached. Eden asked reporters to wait until an official statement is issued, which he said would be at 6 p.m.

"I think that this communique will express our satisfaction," the foreign secretary said.

Eden and Mendes-France came out of a 2½ hour conference at the French Foreign Ministry.

BONN, Germany (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles declared here today "an alternative must be found" to bring West Germany as an equal partner into the Western alliance.

Arriving by plane for emergency consultations in Germany and Britain, the American diplomatic chief was greeted by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Adenauer arranged for almost immediate private discussions with him in search of a substitute for the dead European Defense Community treaty.

The talks with Dulles will be decisive for Germany's fate, the 78-year-old chancellor had told deputies before departing for the airport from a parliamentary debate. In the debate, Socialists were attacking his government for what they called its "system of secret decisions."

Dulles made it clear in a statement at the airport that he was interested perhaps more in what Adenauer has to say than in any idea he may be bringing with him.

Fudickar Warns Against Passing School Buses

A warning to all motorists not to pass school buses which have stopped for children was issued Thursday morning by District Attorney Fred Fudickar, Jr.

In warning all drivers, Fudickar pointed out that the state law specifically provides that no vehicle shall pass the buses when they are stopped either to load or unload children. This applies to vehicles approaching the buses from both directions.

Fudickar said he had received several complaints during the final weeks of last year's school term, but that none of the vehicles drivers had been identified. Then, a few today another complaint of similar nature had been brought to his attention. The driver of this vehicle had been tentatively identified, he said.

While most motorists observe the rule, which was written specifically to protect the lives of small school children, Fudickar said occasionally a violation is committed. "For safety sake to us—and especially for the children—there have been no 'buts' in obeying school buses on the school buses," Fudickar stated.

The district attorney warned that any persons caught violating the state statute will be handled according to the law. "I urged everyone to drive carefully and avoid this."

'Thanks, Fellows' Groans Asylum Escapee As Hail Of Bullets Nails Him

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Shouting "come and get me, I want to die," a crazed carpenter pushed a woman hostage at gun point onto her front porch then stepped through the door to his death in a hail of bullets from an off-duty policeman's gun.

H. B. Long, 42, an escapee from the Arkansas State Mental Hospital yesterday held Mrs. A. D. Lynn captive in her home while he deliberated his next move and repeatedly shouted to police: "You'll have to come get me, I want to die. I dont want to go back to that lie-place."

Mrs. Lynn said, "I felt sorry for him and tried to talk him into giving up his gun. I told him that was better than death, but he wouldn't listen."

Long was on his way from his ward to the barber shop when he bolted the line and escaped. During his shortlived freedom he terrorized persons in West Little Rock by brandishing a .22 caliber rifle.

Entering the home of Mrs. Effie Callihan, he said:

"I won't hurt you, I just can't go back to that lie-place."

He left after Mrs. Callihan gave him a bottle of water.

Long found Mrs. Lynn in her backyard and ordered her into the house. He asked if she knew anyone who owned a car. "I need a car to get away," he said.

Mrs. Lynn said she began dialing the telephone but Long suddenly jerked the receiver from her hand. "I've changed my mind," he told

Take Precaution Against 'Toxic Agents'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is taking special steps to warn citizens if deadly gas, radiological or germ warfare materials escape during shipment.

A new regulation requires public announcement "in event that toxic agents are released through accident in a populous area which make immediate warning and evacuation necessary."

A spokesman said today the regulation was issued as a "precautionary" step, and that there had been no accidents involving CBR (chemical, biological, radiological) material.

Army specialists who escort each shipment of CBR material from depots or production installations are directed to "request the assistance of newspaper, radio stations, local police, etc" if an accident makes imperative the prompt warning of persons living in the area.

The regulation says that "if the technical escort personnel . . . are killed or seriously injured and cannot issue" a warning announcement, the military shipping agency chemical officer of the nearest military installation or a similar agency should sound the alarm and send a representative to the scene of the accident immediately.

The wording of the regulation and of a blank form for use as a news release indicates that the precise nature of the material involved might not be disclosed.

The proposed announcement would say only that an accident had occurred on a certain rail, truck, maritime or aircraft line at a named town or at a specified point on a highway route and "may have resulted in the escape of hazardous material which was being transported for the United States Army."

The announcement also could say, depending on the circumstances, that guards had been posted to prevent entry into the danger area, or that "evacuation of this area was necessary to the welfare of the community because of wind and weather conditions; and that a further announcement would be made when the area was safe.

Presumably, the most lethal of the CBR materials which might be spread by such an accident is the "G" or nerve gas.

Exposure to nerve gas causes strangulation and death within minutes. Like other war gases, G-gas clings close to the ground, drifting with light wind. Detection and treatment must come swiftly.

Radiological material — the by-product of nuclear fission which produces poisonous contamination —acts much slower, requiring hours, days or weeks for effect. Thus, there is more time for preventive measures.

The accidental release of germ warfare material probably would be the easiest with which to cope, since the onset of disease takes a comparatively long time.

JOHN W. SQUIRES, Forester of Mississippi Products, Inc., Jackson, Miss., will discuss ways and means of licking the fire problem in the South at the annual meeting of the Louisiana Forestry Association in Alexandria, Friday. Squires is also president of the L. S. U. Forestry Alumni Association, president of the Mississippi Chapter of the L. S. U. Alumni Association, and president of the Mississippi Forestry Association. Fire is the greatest remaining problem to development of Louisiana's forests, J. H. Kitchens, Jr., executive secretary of the Louisiana Forestry Association said, and the problem will get the spotlight at the annual meeting Friday.

THURMAN SENSING, executive vice-president of the Southern States Industrial Council, will be one of the principal speakers at the annual meeting of the Louisiana Forestry Association September 17 in Alexandria. Sensing is nationally known for his spirited views on freedom, having made a first-hand study in Great Britain of what happens to people's freedom and economy under a socialistic government. The Louisiana Forestry Association is composed of men and women of all walks of life who work to develop Louisiana's forest resource through free enterprise.

Big Attendance Is Expected At Forestry Meet

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 16 (Special) — "A record attendance is expected at the annual meeting of the Louisiana Forestry Association Friday in Alexandria," J. H. Kitchens, Jr., executive secretary of the group said today. A slate of nationally - known speakers will highlight the day's program, drawing members from Louisiana and surrounding states to the hub-city, Kitchens said.

Thurman Sensing, executive vice-president of Southern States Industrial Council, Nashville, Tenn. will be on hand to discuss "Freedom with a Southern Accent." Sensing in the past few years has made more than 500 addresses in 24 different states, the District of Columbia, Canada and England. He is particularly noted as a keen analyst of the political and economic scene and his views on American freedom. He made a first-hand study in Great Britain on what happens to a people's freedom and a people's economy under a socialist government.

John W. Squires, forester for Mississippi Products, Inc., Jackson, Miss. will tell how he thinks the forest fire problem can be licked. Fire is the greatest remaining hurdle in the development of Louisiana's forests, Kitchens said, and association members are keenly interested in coming to grips with all phases of the problem.

Carroll J. Perkins, biologist, Pittman-Robertson Division, Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, Baton Rouge, will discuss "Coordinating Forest and Game Management Practices."

Of interest to Louisiana citizens, who are determined to bring the state into full forest production, will be the talk by Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia. The magnitude of forest production in Georgia and the record expansion in activities of forestry groups under Talmadge's leadership there has focused regional and national attention upon the state.

"The annual meeting will be climaxed by a social hour and dinner at the Hotel Bentley for members and their wives," Kitchens said. "We urge every member of the association to take advantage of this fine program."

The Bentley Hotel will be forestry headquarters in Alexandria Friday.

Two Americans Stopped By Reds, But Not Arrested

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. headquarters here said today an American doctor and his woman companion were stopped briefly for questioning by Communist police Saturday, but were not arrested.

American officials described as a mistake the report of a West German customs guard that the pair had been seized near the Dreilinden checkpoint in the Russian zone on the autobahn just outside of Berlin.

They identified the American as Dr. Curt Springer, a Vienna-born eye specialist from Kankakee, Ill., and his companion as Irmgard Leuteritz of West Berlin, the daughter of a professor under whom Springer had studied in Vienna.

American officials said the customs guard assumed the two had been arrested when he saw East German police questioning them and then saw their car drive off. Investigation showed they had been stopped only for a check of their identification and had returned to West Berlin.

Investigators said that part of the apprehension over Springer's whereabouts stemmed from the fact he left Berlin late Saturday, a few hours after the incident was reported.

"Run scared," he said, because, "the battles we lose, generally we were too sure of winning."

The speech kicked off a 31-state barnstorming tour in the next 45 days by Nixon in behalf of President Eisenhower to help elect a working Republican majority in Congress this November.

Nixon said a large turnout of voters would assure a Republican victory.

It's "the pressure groups" that will vote Democratic, the Vice President averred. If there is a small vote, he continued, those "pressure groups" will carry the election.

Though Nixon made no reference to it, the memory of a bitter primary campaign was fresh in the minds of his Ohio Republican listeners. Rep. George Bender, who shared the platform with Nixon and Ohio Sen. John W. Bricker, defeated William Saxbe, speaker of the Ohio House, in a hard-fought battle for the Republican Senate nomination.

Saxbe called Bender "a buffoon" during that campaign but recently threw his support behind him.

Bender is opposed by Thomas A. Burke, Cleveland mayor appointed by Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche to the interim vacancy created by the death of Robert A. Taft.

La. Preparing For Possible Enemy Attack

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 16 (Special)— Reports from the office of Louisiana Civil Defense indicate that Louisiana is preparing with the rest of the nation to meet the threat of possible enemy attack.

It is preparation, for the most part, to meet emergencies which would result from an enemy attack using such weapons as the hydrogen bomb, but also included in the plans are methods of alleviating damages which could be caused by chemical warfare, guided missles, supersonic warplanes and like attacks.

Under law the development of Civil Defense is a responsibility shared by federal, state and local government. Act 30 of the 1950 session of the Legislature authorized Civil Defense in Louisiana on state, parish and municipal levels.

Subsequently, the Louisiana Civil Defense Agency was organized as a component of the state department of military affiars. It is charged with the education of the public relative to Civil Defense, preparation to minimize the effects of enemy attack and to direct all resources of the state and its political subdivisions in both pre - attack and post - attack operations.

As a co-ordinating, informational and planning group the state Civil Defense agency carries out its mission by the instruction of citizens in self-protection of basic planning and assistance to parish and municipal Civil Defense organizations.

Typifying the role the small state agency must play in organizing state facilities for the vital post-attack rehabilitation is the agreement signed recently by Louisiana Civil Defense and the Employment Security division. The agreement provides that the division will serve as an emergency manpower recruitment agency.

Cooperative efforts of the State Department of Education, Louisiana Civil Defense and other groups resulted in a School Civil Defense Guide. The Guide spells out how schools may prepare to protect the students in event of attack.

Civil Defense co-ordination between various agencies and state, federal and local government is demonstrated by the attack warning system. The warning signal is transmitted to Louisiana from the Air Defense command and relayed to every section of the state within less than three minutes by a state police network. The political subdivisions are responsible for sounding the alert locally.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration is responsible for the establishment of a national Civil Defense plan and the issuance of informational and educational data. Last year some $186,000 was allocated by FCDA to Louisiana for municipalities and parishes to use in the matching funds purchase of communications and other Civil Defense equipment and materials.

The knowledge and the materials needed to survive the hydrogen age are available in our state. To harness them, every Louisiana citizen should volunteer his or her assistance to local Civil Defense program directors.

The Ouachita National bank last April purchased from Antonina R. Ladart and Ross Ladart the house and lot that is immediately east of the bank's branch bank. The Ladart house is to be demolished.

At Pine and North Fifth streets, L. A. West, owner, has removed a two-story apartment house on the lot to the lot adjacent. On the site thus vacated, a one-story office building, reportedly leased to a large national auto finance company, is being erected.

A neighbor, A. Lewis, had heard the commotion in the yard and called police.

A dozen officers surrounded the house and called to the man to surrender. When Long refused a policeman asked if he would free Mrs. Lynn.

Long then began marching Mrs. Lynn through the house and onto the front porch. Mrs. Lynn walked calmly — "as if she were on her way shopping," one officer said — although Long was behind her with a gun at her back.

Mrs. Lynn said as she walked into the yard, "not daring to think," she sensed a swift movement behind her and fell to the ground. She fell only a few feet in front of Long as Gene Smith, an off-duty policeman, opened fire.

Long fell under a fusilade of six shots—only one missed the target.

As he rolled to the ground, he groaned:

"Thanks fellows. That's good enough, it's just what I wanted."

A moment later he was dead.

"And I hope that hard-headed businessmen will take some hard looks at the record at those old slogans about Democratic left-wingers," he remarked. "Maybe the term 'left' refers to the asset side of the balance sheet."

While the Democrats favor business, he said, the party regrets the present prevailing theory of the Republicans that the way to help 165,000,000 people is by "granting special favors and advantages to a few, whether by tax laws, smothering public power development, or giving away our natural resources."

The most important thing to any business—a corner drug store or a factory—is "customers with money in their pocketbooks," said the former governor of Illinois.

"Four or five million unemployed men and women means that eight or 10 million American consumers have become poor customers," Stevenson told the 1,500 diners, who paid $10 a plate to hear him speak. "It is essential that this buying power be restored."

He called for an expanded world trade and an expanded national economy.

He said the country needs more power, more steel, more machine tools.

"America is busting its seams," he declared. "We'll have to hustle to keep up with ourselves."

But he cautioned that government, business, labor and agriculture must adopt policies promoting full employment without inflation.

Stevenson also discussed foreign policy.

"The folly of attempting to conduct foreign policy by slogans and bluff has produced a bitter harvest," Stevenson said. "I pray that the Republicans have at least learned a lesson from it. Perhaps they will cease to look for an explanation of losses abroad to treachery at home now that have suffered reverses."

He listed as setbacks what he called a Communist victory in Indochina, the evaporation of American influence in the world, and the disintegration of alliances.

The conference recessed at noon until 2 p.m., when the afternoon session will get underway with an address by Parker Wiggins, New Orleans, manager of the Louisiana Rating and Fire Prevention Bureau.

Other speakers scheduled for the afternoon session are Foster McMichael, Shreveport, president of the State Fire Fighters Association of Louisiana; Rudolph McBride, Port Sulphur, president of the Port Sulphur Volunteer Fire Department, and Brig. Gen. F. A. Woolfley, Baton Rouge, state director of the Louisiana Civil Defense Agency.

The principal business session of the conference is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday in the Crystal Ball Room. The three-day conference will be highlighted by the annual banquet at 8 p.m. Thursday on the Virginia Hotel roof.

Last night delegates were entertained at a barbecue at J. O. (Red) Willett's farm on Millhaven road.

Goldsmith said the baby is suffering from anoxemia, a lack of oxygen in her blood, "caused by the unusual circumstances of her birth." He said she "may die if not properly cared for."

Patino's lawyers said Goldsmith and Mrs. Patino had quarreled on what sort of medical treatment she should be given.

Asks Cigarette Firms To Halt Ad Health Claims

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission today asked the cigarette industry to consider abandoning references to health in its advertising and to limit cigarette sales appeals generally to quality, taste, flavor and enjoyment.

The proposals were made in a letter sent to all cigarette manufacturers by Charles E. Grandey. He is director of the FTC' new Bureau of Consultation, set up to foster agreements between FTC and industry without litigation.

By implication, the proposal put cigarette makers on notice that FTC might soon apply blanket disapproval against all advertising appeals, direct or indirect, "which are questionable in light of present day scientific knowledge."

The FTC letter made no specific mention of the current controversy over whether cigarette smoking can be linked to a rise in lung cancer, but said:

"The spirit in which the industry has entered into the effort to resolve the scientific questions currently presented leads us to the belief that the industry . . . will consider this an especially propitious time to effect voluntary cessation of every questionable claim and implication in its advertising."

The offer to agree, industry wide, on advertising standards that would be acceptable to FTC was the latest move in a long series of skirmishes between FTC and cigarette makers. Over the last 12 years the FTC has brought complaints against some aspect of the advertising of every major cigarette manufacturer. Many complaints covered claims of the kind that FTC suggested today the industry avoid. FTC polices cigarette and other advertising under its mandate from Congress to guard against "false and misleading advertising."

Grandey asked for comments from the industry on the feasibility of establishing the standards, and suggestions on the standards themselves.

Claims that one cigarette is preferable to another, he said, should be "generally limited to subjects of quality, taste, flavor, enjoyment and other similar matters of opinion."

E. A. Darr, president of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., said at Winston-Salem, N. C., today that advertising that intimates there is anything harmful in smoking cigarettes is "not constructive advertising."

Wife Bequeathed All Possessions To Dr. Sheppard

CLEVELAND (AP)—Marilyn Sheppard bequeathed all of her possessions to her husband, the handsome Bay Village osteopath who is charged with murdering her.

This was disclosed yesterday when her father-in-law, Dr. Richard A. Sheppard, filed her will in probate court. The will was dated last Feb. 28, which was 132 days before she was bludgeoned to death in her bed the morning of July 4

Her husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, is in jail awaiting trial on a first degree murder charge. He has insisted his wife was killed by an intruder. A hearing on whether he should be released on bail has been continued to Friday.

Mrs. Sheppard named her husband as executor, but he declined to serve in a paper filed with the will. His father subsequently was named executor.

Papers filed with the will estimated the value of her estate at $9,100.

Junior Anglers To Fish In Pool On September 25

Commissioner of Streets and Parks Wayne Huckaby announced Thursday the municipal swimming pool, now being stocked with fish, will be open to junior anglers on September 25.

As has been done previously, Huckaby said, the State Department of Wildlife and Fisheries is stocking the pool with bass, bream, white perch and some bar fish, for small children of this area to catch.

The pool, he continued, will be open week days from 2:30 to 6 p.m., and on Saturdays and Sundays from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. To be eligible to angle at the pool a child must not be over 12 years old. He, or she, must also bring bait, fishing tackle and container for carrying home his catch.

An attendant will be on hand at all times.

The conversion of the swimming pool to a fish pond when it was closed to swimming was first tried here last year. It proved so successful that it is being initiated again this year, the Commissioner explained. He also said tentative plans call for a fishing rodeo and other special events.

Passman Urges Work To Halt River Vagaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Passman (D-La.) asked the administration today to back appropriations for an early start on a project aimed at halting the Mississippi River's threat to change its course in southern Louisiana.

He urged Budget Bureau officials to recommend to Congress an appropriation of six million dollars next year to start the project, which is known as the Old River closure project.

The work, cost of which is estimated at 47 million dollars, was authorized by Congress this year. Army engineers and a Louisiana delegation warned that heavy damage would be done if the river were allowed to change its course to the Gulf of Mexico.

Army engineers have said if preventive steps are not taken the river could change its course in about 10 years.

Passman called attention of Budget Bureau officials to the time factor involved.

"I told them it is imperative that the work be started at once if we are to meet the deadline," he said.

The work involves a structure to control flow of the Mississippi River into the Atchafalaya through a seven-mile connecting link known as Old River and thence to the Gulf. The route to the Gulf via the Atchafalaya route is much shorter than the present route past Baton Rouge and New Orleans.

Passman, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said that while the bureau probably will be "tight" in its recommendations for such projects he is hopeful of getting money for a start on the job in the year starting next July 1.

Lively Fight Expected In California Exchange Clubs

By LAWRENCE MALKIN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A group of civic-minded California businessmen has joined the fight to let down the color bars in American society—and posed a perplexing question:

Should private organizations—which are not governed by anti-segregation laws—admit nonwhites to membership?

Yes, say dissident members of a number of Exchange Clubs around the San Francisco Bay area, who feel it is up to them to admit whom they want, regardless of race.

No, says Herold Harter of Toledo, Ohio, founder and national secretary of the Exchange Clubs, who stands behind his organization's constitution.

By-laws of the organization—with a national membership of about 100,000—contain a clause restricting membership to "white, male business and professional men."

The controversy came to light last June after the Exchange Club in suburban Menlo Park unanimously voted to disband because a national representative told them to get rid of Robert U. M. Ting, a Chinese-born business executive who was a charter member of the local club.

The Stockton club soon found itself in the same fix when the national exchange asked Richard Wong, a merchant of Chinese descent, to step out as president, a job he had held for six months.

Within a month, clubs in six other California towns either quit or were suspended for backing the Stockton and Menlo Park clubs.

Some had no Orientals on their roster, but sided with Menlo Park Vice President Val Peterson, who says:

"A man has a right to pick his own friends. If you want to discriminate, you can do it in voting."

Matters came to a head in July when 15 Northern California clubs met in Oakland to plan ways of leading a possible secession from the national group.

They met again last month and eased their stand to the point where they indicated they would merely attempt to bring what they called the "exclusion policy" of the Exchange Clubs to debate at the national convention. No new organization was formed.

None of this went unnoticed by Harter, a cheerful, balding man who started the Exchange Clubs in 1911. He saw them merged with the National Progressive Clubs in 1922 and has been national secretary of the combined group since then.

The Exchanges are basically service clubs, with about 50 members in each community. Like Rotarians, Lions and Kiwanis, they invite outstanding members of their communities to meet at weekly informal luncheons and plan civic projects and discuss contemporary affairs.

President Calvin Coolidge was a member of the Rutland, Vt., club and Earl Warren, U.S. chief justice who wrote the historic school segregation opinion this year, is still a member of the Oakland club, which has been suspended in the current controversy.

Harter arrived in the San Francisco Bay area the Sunday following the protest meeting with some sobering thoughts for the rebellious clubs.

In a news conference following a long speech before a secret meeting of representatives of California clubs, Harter made it clear the national board of control, which runs the clubs as an incorporated, private enterprise, had no intention of bowing to the locals.

"We are a private club, and members are selected solely on an invitational basis. So there's no discrimination. Each loyal club can invite whomever it pleases—but they must be white men," he told reporters.

News-Star Editorials

'God Save The King!' (Never Mind The U. S.)

A News-Star subscriber in DeRidder La., wrote in concerning the present attitude of some of the Canadian friends towards the United States. The comments are so "enlightening" in the article published in the Vancouver Sun and the Ottawa Journal, that the News-Star feels it of the utmost importance to publish them so that the people of this area can see for themselves, at least one Canadian "attitude."

It is well to remember that this is merely one Canadian journalist who might have thoughts "in common" with American journalists peddling the "fear" line. Another consideration is the knowledge that nothing would please the International Marxist Conspiracy more than to see a split develop between the U. S. and Canada.

In any case, here is the opinion of at least one Canadian concerning the United States:

Blind Fury And Folly Twist American Policy

I. NORMAN SMITH
Ottawa Journal

I went to Washington and New York hoping to find cheer, to find the American side of the story, to assure readers that the United States is, like the Mississippi, rolling along all right.

It isn't true.

There is confusion in aim, dissension in method, mistrust in friend as well as foe, arrogance in manner, impetuous action and a seeming inability to think before judgment.

Against this, on the credit side, is a genuine desire to do good, to not compromise with the devil.

They put immense stock in their motto: "In God We Trust."

But they don't pause to consider the possibility that their policies may be wrong, unless to thrust out their stomach and roar another American motto: "My country, right or wrong."

United Nations observers are aghast at what the United States did last week to the fundamental UN principle that UN must at least hear or consider any appeal against aggression.

Nobody here like the Communist government in Guatemala that made the application and which now has fallen.

But thanks to American action in whipping its friends on the Security Council into refusing to hear the plea we have now a nice fat precedent which the Russians will not fail to remember and use.

New Zealand stood up boldly and voted "No" against the United States; and Britain and France abstained.

So pretty a pass have things come to that the New York Times took editorial exception to the fact that "our friends" had failed to stand with the U. S.

The wrongness, the clear charter-breaking nature of American policy, is irrevelant.

The Times simply scolds Britain and France for parting company.

The tragedy is that the Guatemala Communists would have fallen anyway and UN's prestige has been quite unnecessarily damaged.

I mention the New York Times because it is a great newspaper of broad horizons and has greatly served UN and international peace.

Sometimes you have to rub your eyes. But this morning, for instance, the Times printed on page one a story regretting that Sir Winston Churchill had not given a press conference as he sailed on the Queen Elizabeth and deducing from this that "there had been more disappointment over conference results than public statements could admit."

This, despite the fact Sir Winston had held massive press conferences in Washington and Ottawa and had made half a dozen other statements at odd times in roughly six days.

But we are not obliged to insist American foreign policy be what a newspaper says.

It was the U. S. government that threw UN's principles out of the window over Guatemala. Just as it was the U. S. government that alone forced on the fatal decision to keep India from the Geneva meeting.

And you know what happened at Geneva, and you also know who visited India recently—Mr. Chou-En-Lai.

And it was the U. S. Congress the other day which voted unanimously with shouts of approval that no foreign aid would be sent to any Asian country that might make a non-aggression pact with Communist China.

Since that is likely to mean virtually every Asian country, the blind fury and folly of the move can be quickly seen.

U. S. Aid Now Political Weapon

And it was the U. S. Congress which voted the other day to cut off all American aid to France and Italy hereafter unless they sign the European Defense Treaty.

In short—all who disagree with American foreign policy are fools and knaves and probably Communists.

And American aid is taking on with complete frankness the aspect of a weapon to buy votes and friends.

If India and Burma and their fellow-travelling friends, and Italy and France, will not sing for their supper—then no supper.

Once upon a time American aid was sent out of humanitarian motives, plus some belief that if the wealth was shared all would prosper and Communism would wither.

The idealism and philosophy of this splendid concept are now being changed to a cross and enemy-making policy of "your lives or no money."

It may be Congress will have second thoughts on the restrictions placed on their aid—but don't be too hopeful.

And don't overlook that statement of the Republican floor leader in the Senate, William F. Knowland, that if the United Nations recognizes Red China he will resign his post.

Note the big threat is not at U. S. action but UN action. What a sweep!

If the fighting stops in Indo-China and agreement is reached the odds are that a majority of UN countries are going to want to recognize Communist China — including Canada.

The U. S. is building up such a head of steam on this that if UN does admit China American help to UN will be greatly reduced and perhaps stopped altogether.

Many voices are already raised for American withdrawal from UN the minute China comes in.

Possibly a good number of readers will not believe the next paragraph but I can't help that.

Noisy, Nauseating And Nonsense

On the train from Washington to New York (the train was called "the Senator" and the buffet car, "The Lawyers' Club") one man at luncheon mentioned Churchill as "the greatest living statesman" and his companion a great fat wealthy fellow who had three Old Fashioneds shortly after, said —"call him what you like, I say's he's a Communist."

He said this is noisy sincerity and after unfolding a most nauseating set of views on American politics wound up by wagging a fat finger at me to say "as Jesus Christ said, let him who is without guilt throw the first stone."

At the man who had been hurling stones for the last 60 miles I nearly threw up.

It is perhaps absurd to cite such a conversation. But the woods are full of them.

In the last six days I've heard more talk with less think than ever I thought possible.

Vicious talk, corkscrew talk, prejudiced talk.

Everything is good or evil. The American senator or the American you meet in a private home, the taxi driver or the man in the State Department; they all are more sure about everything than I am about anything.

And we're seeing it in foreign policy and that's where it's going to hurt. They seem uninterested in negotiating.

They have an evangelical fervor to "do right" and suspect any disposition to compromise as a lure from the devil.

Christian values versus expediency, the fellow says. And that's the end of it.

They are convinced they are being hard-headed and practical, but in fact they are emotional and impractical.

To parley or be unsure is to reveal weakness. America must take the initiative. "Get a policy and merchandise the hell out of it."

Where it will lead in the end they're not sure but "we'll meet that when we come to it, but make no mistake, we aren't scared of them Russians."

That's where they have a great advantage over me. I am not only scared of the Russians, but I'm a bit scared of the Americans too.

And I don't say that to be flip or without realizing that they are the best friends the British and Canadians have and without them we are lost.

TOO BUSY GROWLING TO HUNT

FULTON LEWIS

The Senate Race In Ohio

WASHINGTON—Anyone capable of foretelling the outcome of this fall's senatorial race in Ohio probably could predict also which political party will control the United States Senate during the next two years.

That is why the national organizations of both major parties are concentrating important time, attention and money on trying to elect their respective senatorial candidates in the Buckeye State—incumbent Democratic Senator Thomas A. Burke and GOP Rep. George H. Bender.

To the Republicans, Ohio not only is a traditional stronghold but a key spot where they virtually must oust a sitting Democrat to maintain any hope of exercising organizational control when the Senate meets in January.

It is equally important to the Democrats to return Burke because of maintaining prestige and the fact that they hardly can hope to control the Senate if they lose any seats presently held by Democrats.

This early in the campaign, the race looks to be so close it could be decided by whatever events intervene between now and election day. Burke and Bender both have important factors working to their advantage, others of equal importance to their disadvantage.

Bender is a bushy-haired, chunky extrovert known to millions of television viewers throughout the land as the tireless bell-ringer who led the Taft demonstrations in both the 1948 and 1952 GOP National conventions.

Within the state, he is known also as a shrewd, hard-hitting and capable veteran political leader who five times won state-wide elections as representative-at-large, as well as two other terms in the House from his own district embracing a suburban Cleveland area.

Bender was one of the staunchest followers and supporters of the late and great Sen. Robert A. Taft until his death last year. He followed the lead of "Mr. Republican" in swinging over to support of the Eisenhower administration, however, then continued the process at the point where he now is campaigning on a platform of all-out support for the Eisenhower program. In return, he has the full blessings of the President and of the National Citizens for Eisenhower organization.

However, Bender won the senatorial nomination only after a bitter spring primary battle with youthful William B. Saxbe, speaker of the state House of Representatives. As sometimes happens in primary fights, the feeling reached the point of deep-searing personal recriminations and intra-party scars.

The Republican National Committee has been doing all in its power to heal these still-open wounds and re-establish unity within the Buckeye State's GOP. Only last week, Saxbe made a special hatchet-burying trip to Washington during which several sweetness-and-light pictures were made of Saxbe, Bender, GOP state Chairman Ray Bliss, and several others originally involved in the primary feud. The peace-making efforts are continuing.

As would be expected, Burke has strong support among organized labor, which will count heavily in his favor in the state's several industrial centers. Further, he has the wholehearted endorsement of Gov. Frank Lausche, who appointed Burke to the Senate last year to succeed Taft and who himself has an uncanny ability to attract conservative votes. The latter is proved by the fact that Lausche, as a Democrat, has been elected governor four times already whereas it has been 20 years since the state elected a Democratic senator.

During his year in the Senate, however, Burke's record has been far to the left of Lausche's and there is grave question therefore whether Ohio Republicans who vote for Lausche himself will follow his recommendation as regards the Senate.

Furthermore, although Burke was mayor of Cleveland longer than any of his predecessors, including Lausche, this is his first state-wide race and his vote-pulling ability is yet to be demonstrated.

The general consensus of observers within the state is that brarring a nationwide swing away from the President which thus far has not become evident, Bender should graduate to the Senate after 14 years of training in the House.

Republican New Dealers Killing Party

WASHINGTON — Maine's election results tend to show that the Republican party may be in for one of the worst beatings it has ever gotten and that it surely will lose control of the House of Representatives by a wide margin.

The handwriting on the wall is plain. The figures in Monday's election, when compared with percentages in previous elections, show that the drop-off from the Republican party vote is very substantial.

The reasons are clear also after one talks with the insiders in Maine. They are as follows:

1. The Republican organization in Maine was shot to pieces, and only in the last two weeks of the campaign was a desperate attempt made to win back disaffected Republicans, particularly from the Taft wing of the party. Many of them undoubtedly voted the Democratic ticket or stayed away from the polls out of resentment and because they felt that it would be better to have Democratic New Dealers in Congress than Republican New Dealers, as this might teach a lesson to the left-wing elements which have been fighting the conservative wing of the party instead of fighting Democrats.

2. Unemployment was a real issue and cost the Republicans many votes in the areas where the textile mills have been shut down.

3. The Republican governor was weak and failed to get the endorsement of U. S. Senator Payne, Republican incumbent, and his statewide organization.

It is significant that Senator Margaret Chase Smith was re-elected this time by a majority of only about 42,000 as against her 95,000 majority six years ago. But what is more important is that, while her percentage of the total vote in 1948 was 71.3 per cent, it is only 58.4 per cent this time. This is a tremendous drop-off in percentage points.

Also significant is the drop-off of the Republican vote for the three Republican members of Congress who were re-elected. In the first district, the Republican percentage in 1948 was 62.5 and in 1950 it was 54, while in 1952 it went up to 61.6. But this week it came down to 52 per cent, which is the lowest it has been in that district for many years.

In the second congressional district, the Republican percentage was 67.2 in 1948 and 57.7 in 1950 and 66.8 in 1952. Now it is down to 53.7, which again is the lowest for many years.

In the third congressional district, the Republican percentage was 70.9 in 1948 and 62.9 in 1950 and 76 in 1952. But this time it is down to 60.3, which also is the lowest for a long time in this district.

This correspondent, in analyzing the Maine results after the September 1948 congressional election, said that Dewey would have to get at least 60 per cent of Maine's vote in November in order to get the 51 per cent vote throughout the country needed to win. Actually, Dewey got only 56.9 per cent when he carried Maine, and he lost the national election. Eisenhower got 66.2 per cent of Maine's vote in 1952 and 55.4 per cent of the national vote.

If the vote given this year to Senator Margaret Chase Smith, who is extremely popular in Maine, is to be taken as the equivalent of a national Republican presidential nominee's percentage, it would not be enough to insure a Republican victory throughout the nation in a presidential election held now.

For Mrs. Smith's vote has dropped from 71.3 per cent in 1948 to 58.4 in 1954, and the Republican senatorial vote in Maine has dropped from 62.7 per cent in 1952—when Senator Payne was successful—to 58.4 per cent this week.

Whichever way one looks at it, the Republican tide is lower in Maine than it had been in many years. If the saying, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation," is construed to mean that the Republic percentage in a rock-ribbed Republican state applies to other northern states where Republicans were elected to the House of Representatives in 1952, it will be a sad November for the Republicans.

There were unquestionably many stay-at-homes in Maine due to hurricane conditions but in the cities, where this factor would not be influential, there was nevertheless a big switch of voting, too.

Unquestionably there is a negative tide running against the Republicans, and they can hardly afford to alienate any elements in their party if they expect to win in November. The White House might well be worried about what the Maine election means and especially about the failure of regular Republicans to be called in early enough to help keep the party together.

The Nation's largest post office serves only two of New York's five boroughs — Manhattan and the Bronx, says the National Geographic Society. Yet it earns a tenth of United States postal revenue and every day dispatches an average 17 million pieces of mail.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Anti-Nazi League

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. — I have just had an interesting, if painfully expensive interview, per long distance telephone, with Daniel Duke, attorney at law, in Atlanta, where he officiated as assistant attorney general in the case of a small-time group of high-binders called the Columbians, who were 100 per cent patriots all right but took it upon themselves to Jim Crow the Negroes thereabouts by threats, explosions and blows.

In his inquiry, Mr. Duke permitted an equally pernicious New York letterhead group called the non-sectarian anti-Nazi league to lend a hand and make capital for itself.

The Anti-Nazi league, as I have said before, employs thieves, infidel fiduciaries, liars and sneaks to promote its end which is, in a word, to arouse fear and hatred by whooping up reports of racial and religious persecution. Having exploited incidents of no significance, it then appeals for contributions to carry on its work of arousing the same fears and suspicions all over again.

In this case, back in 1946, the league sent a young woman to Atlanta who ingratiated herself with some of the Columbians, who were awful chumps, anyway, and then claimed great credit for a job which Mr. Duke, himself, and E. E. Andrews, the county prosecutor, performed with the regular apparatus for such work by law provided.

At the time, Mr. Andrews had a falling out with Mr. Duke and wrote that "these indictments were the result of a grand jury investigation in which the anti-Nazi league in no wise participated. They were returned after serious deliberation, without fanfare newspaper publicity. At that time, I did not know that this league was conducting an investigation in this state.

"The Columbians were committing criminal acts, patrolling the streets armed, arresting Negroes without authority and committing acts of violence. They were deliberately causing turmoil, strife, hatred and prejudice between the Negroes and the whites for the purpose of gaining new members through this dissatisfaction.

"On Dec. 10, (1946) I was requested by Daniel L. Duke, assistant attorney general, to meet him in the office of the attorney general for the purpose of delivering to me certain evidence which disclosed other criminal acts by the leaders of the Columbians. I went to that office and there, for the first time, came in contact with the league. I am informed that Mr. Duke requested this league to send two of their undercover agents into Georgia to investigate. At this meeting a press conference had been arranged of which I was not notified."

Duke gave him "certain affidavits and the names of certain witnesses" and this material "together with other evidence which I had previously acquired, was presented to the grand jury and two additional indictments were returned."

Well, that is water over the dam, but since then Mario Buzzi, one of the professional sneaks, who says he is such a liar that he can't trust himself, got sore at Isadore Lipschutz, the head man, a rich refugee diamond dealer, and James H. Sheldon, who calls himself professor on the basis of a short hitch as a prof in the minimum category at Boston University.

Lipschutz and Sheldon should have anticipated this because they used him for the very attributes which caused him to turn against them, although he seems to have had better reason to betray them than some of their victims. He says that after he had a cerebral stroke they put him on relief.

Accordingly, Mario brought me, on his own initiative, a batch of correspondence, including a letter from Daniel Duke to Sheldon in August, 1952, six years later, thanking Sheldon for his hospitality on a recent visit in New York, including an evening with certain eminent social and political figures of the Harlem colony which included Negro judges and a colored woman who is a college professor.

My call to Mr. Duke elicited remarks which seem to me rather jumbled.

"I am a man from the south," he said, "a Georgia boy. I left before it was over because I had a plane reservation. I am a southern lawyer and I have a lot of the same ideas that my southern compatriots have. I do not want to embarrass or hurt any person."

I can't imagine what he means to convey but shudder at the merest flicker of a thought that he was embarrassed about anything.

One of the letters dealt with a proposal that Sheldon should sue the Armstrong Foundation in Mississippi operated by an elderly planter, apparently a rich man, who published uncomplimentary thoughts about Sheldon. Duke gave his professional opinion and set forth the costs of certain activities, including his personal expenses for a trip to Dallas and Austin, Tex.

A few weeks later, Sheldon wrote Duke that he was calling a meeting of the "executive committee" to get a formal decision on the Armstrong matter.

The suit was not filed, however, and the decision to forego it may have been caused by Buzzi's report to me that he was starting south to do some dirty work on Armstrong and, in passing, on Edgar Waybright, of Jacksonville, Fla., an attorney who is chairman of the Duval county Democratic committee and a Jeffersonian Democrat.

I passed the word to Armstrong and Waybright, and a few weeks later Buzzi was around again reporting that the league had stranded him in Jacksonville, without expense money or transportation. He claims he hitched back.

Mr. Duke still thinks Sheldon is a very decent fellow and says he was well recommended by officials of the state of New York whom he will not name.

But he agrees with Mr. Andrews that the state's own machinery did the job on the Columbians. Buzzi had balled up the detail in Atlanta and, after the expose, the league brought a batch of witnesses to New York where, Duke says, they reneged.

Buzzi says the league entertained them and bought some of them booze and one of them a cheap fur coat. The internal revenue permits donors to deduct from taxable income contributions which the league spends for such purposes.

"Most of the stuff was got by my detectives, paid by the state," Mr. Duke says today. "The state authorities had to use their own facilities. They brought in the dope."

This will place in correct perspective the great feat of espionage which the anti-Nazi league has been hallyhooing for years to persuade "minority groups" to write checks to promote its work of arousing fear and distrust, even as the Columbians themselves.

HAL BOYLE

A Communist Spy

NEW YORK, AP— One of those quiet-spoken intelligence agents came in the other day to ask me some questions about an old friend. Ever hear the name, Richard Sorge?

Richard Sorge was a spy, a Communist spy, a true genius in that desperate trade.

For my money, he was the greatest of them all, a man who made Mata Hari look like a little girl playing cops-and-robbers. He got his hands on two of the most vital gems of information in the history of our time, and succeeded in transmitting them to the Kremlin.

One was Hitler's intention to tear up the nonaggression treaty with Russia and launch his attack in June, 1940. Sorge had the correct date and some of the troop dispositions.

The other was Japan's timetable. He seems to have had advance information about Pearl Harbor.

He had previously organized, and was directing, an espionage network operating all through the Far East. It may still be operating there and here. Some U. S. top intelligence people fear so.

Through his agents, many of them in very high places, Sorge reached into every chancellery from Japan to Java. He knew some of the deepest secrets of the great powers.

Nobody ever served the Reds better—even against his own country. Richard Sorge was a German.

I knew him in Tokyo as a fellow correspondent. That was merely part of his "cover," of course, although he actually worked at the job. He never let on the extent of his information, but he must have had many a lusty laugh at the rest of us.

He made a wonderful companion, gay, amusing, a fascinating talker. He liked food, liquor, late hours and the ladies. In fact, the story is that it was a girl who brought him to destruction, but I am not too sure about that.

He had a perfect facade for his job.

As a newspaperman, and a very presentable one, he had entree everywhere. As a German, he was highly persona grata with Japanese officials.

More important, he had become a pet of the German Embassy. In part, this was because of his brilliant record in World War I. He came through covered with medals, and the old German army was something less than lavish with them. He became a close confidante of the German ambassador in Tokyo—so much so that when World War II started, the ambassador made him the Embassy press officer!

In that post, he had access to the Nazis' top secrets.

Suspect Held In Franklin Parish For Tex. Officers

WINNSBORO, Sept. 16 (Special) —The Franklin parish sheriff's department was notified late yesterday by the chief inspector of Houston, Tex., that Gene Spencer Smith, 34, of Houston, now housed in the Franklin jail, is wanted by authorities of that city on three counts of forgery, Sheriff Hiram B. Waller said.

Smith is being held by Franklin Parish authorities on charges of careless and reckless driving resulting in an accident, fleeing the scene of an accident and not having a driver's license.

After a 24-hour search, by both Franklin and Richland officers following a traffic accident in Gilbert, La., Smith was apprehended at Tourist Court in Delhi Saturday about 3 p.m.

Smith signed a waiver of extradiction and was released to Texas authorities today.

Newsmen Spend Night Quietly In Asian Hotel

HONG KONG (AP)—Newsmen Richard Applegate and Donald Dixon and Ship captain Benjamin Krasner spent their first night of freedom quietly last night at their hotel in Kowloon.

The trio were released yesterday by the Chinese Communists after 18 months of solitary confinement, brainwashing and Communist interrogation. They had been nabbed by a Red gunboat while cruising in Applegate's yawl near here.

Although they had eaten only broken rice with scraps of fish, meat and vegetables for a year and a half, they did not overeat last night.

Wary lest their shrunken stomaches "backfire," each had only a fruit cocktail and a steak in their hotel room.

They visited with a few newspaper and radio friends and went to bed well before midnight.

Applegate and Krasner expect to remain here indefinitely but Dixon said he planned to return to the United States in a few days.

Squally Weather Moves Northwest In Gulf Of Mex.

By UNITED PRESS

Blustery winds and showers swept over most of south Louisiana today as an area of squally weather moved northwest in the Gulf of Mexico.

The forecast was mostly cloudy with occasional showers in the south portion and scattered squalls along the coast. Tomorrow Louisianians can expect mostly cloudy with scattered showers and thundershowers.

The showers caused thermometers to dip slightly. The north portion of the state looked for highs tomorrow of 90 to 94 and the south to 86 to 90. That was some relief from the high of 98 registered at Shreveport, Monroe and Alexandria yesterday.

The squally weather drenched downtown New Orleans with 2.81 inches yesterday and Moisant Airport reported 1.77. Wind gusts as high as 32 miles an hour caused at least 15 power failures throughout the city.

Three Arraigned On Tax Charges In Federal Court

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Two Louisiana residents and a Mississippi man were arraigned in federal court yesterday on charges of concealing $85,800 income and trying to evade taxes.

J. Louis Jones of Bossier Parish, La., pleaded nolo contendere (no contention of guilt or innocence) before Judge Herbert W. Christenberry.

Two other defendants facing the charges that grew out of a Phenix City, Ala., partnership pleaded innocent. They were Bruce Cartwright, also of Bossier Parish, and Irby E. Norris, Cleveland, Miss.

Asst. U.S. Attorney M. Hepburn Many said a fourth defendant, John J. Waggoner, did not appear in court because of illness.

The four men were indicted March 13 for concealing their partnership income in 1948. The indictment also said they filed false income tax returns in 1947.

The partners operated the Russell County Products Co., which manufactured soap and soap products in Phenix City.

Judge Christenberry did not set a trial date for Cartwright and Norris. He said he would take up the matter of Jones' sentence after disposition of the charges against the other men.

Arraignment of Waggoner was postponed indefinitely because of his illness.

Answer 'Routine' Call, Get Best Photo Of 'Lives'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Two TV movie cameramen from television station KARK-TV here yesterday answered what they thought to be a routine police call and got "the pictures of our lives."

The call from a Little Rock residential section said an escapee from the Arkansas State Mental Hospital, "believed to be armed," was roaming the neighborhood.

As cameramen Cris Button and Louis Oberste parked their car—arriving just behind police chief Marvin Potts—a radio report said the man had been cornered a block away.

Disregarding shouted warnings from Chief Potts, Button and Oberste dashed toward the scene—Oberste on one side of the street, Button on the other. They sprinted across front yards and stopped 150 feet from the doorway where J. B. Long was herding Mrs. A. D. Lynn at gun point onto the porch. He was shot down by off-duty policeman Gene Smith.

Using telephoto lenses, Oberste and Button captured the entire drama on 70 feet of movie film.

It all happened in less than 30 seconds.

Bridge To Close Over River Near Madisonville

The Madisonville bridge which crosses the Tchefuncta river on U. S. 190 will be closed for approximately two months for alterations, Louisiana Highway Director George S. Covert announces.

Covert said the bridge will be closed to traffic beginning at 7 a.m. September 27. All traffic will be detoured from Madisonville via State Route 122 to Covington then to Route 34 to Mandeville, Covert said.

The director said that the bridge will be altered to provide a wider horizontal clearance for navigation. Estimated cost of the project is $58,669.

Electric Rates In Monroe Are Above Average

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (Special)—Residents of Monroe pay more for electricity than do consumers in most other cities, according to a comparative survey just released by the Federal Power Commission. Data is given for 4,528 communities with populations of 2,500 or more. They are served by some 1,250 utilities.

For each city there is shown the average monthly bills for residential users of electricity as of January 1, this year.

In Monroe, the typical monthly bill for 25 kilowatt hours of current, the usual amount for small-scale lighting purposes, was $1.59 as compared with the United States average of $1.33.

For 100 kilowatt hours, the amount generally used for lighting, small appliances and refrigeration, the monthly bill in Monroe was $5.25, as against an average of $3.81 for all the cities.

In the 250 kilowatt hour class, where cooking by electricity is involved in addition, the typical monthly bill locally was $9.75, contrasted with $7.10 nationally. The average in the state of Louisiana was $7.26. Among all the cities, the range was from a low of $3.20, in Tacoma, Wash., to a high of $13.05, in Etna, Pa.

The FPC notes that American householders are paying electric bills that show a continuation of the slight upward trend evidenced the previous year.

For the country as a whole, consumption of electricity in the past year averaged 196 kilowatt hours per home per month. This was more than double the amount consumed ten years ago.

The use of electricity in the United States has become almost universal, with only two per cent of all occupied dwellings doing without it.

In more than half the households getting service are found nine electrical appliances: radio, iron, refrigerator, clock, washer, toaster, vacuum cleaner, coffee maker and television set.

West Monroyan On Shreveport Parole Staff

Tom L. McKenzie has recently been added to the staff of the probation and parole offices for the Shreveport district, according to Edward P. Dameron, commissioner of the Louisiana department of public welfare.

Mr. McKenzie will serve as probation and parole officer I, states Curvey P. Landry, director of probation and parole in the state welfare department. The district in which he will work, served through the office in Shreveport, will include the parishes of Caddo, Bossier and Webster.

As a probation and parole officer, Mr. McKenzie's duties will be to serve as agent of the court in making pre-sentence surveys and reports, and he will also supervise persons placed on parole by district court. He will assist in making investigation into background history of persons who are granted a parole prior to actual release, and will closely supervise persons on parole within the Shreveport district.

In event of violation, his responsibility is to see that details of such violations are reported for attention to the parole board. If return to an institution is authorized, then it is his responsibility to see that the parolee is returned.

Another important duty of the probation and parole officer in which he will serve, in addition to regular supervision of probation cases, is the matter of non-support where there is criminal negligence in the family. He is responsible for collection of support payments to dependents in such event.

Native of West Monroe, Mr. McKenzie graduated from high school at Marion, then attended Northeastern Louisiana State College at Monroe where he received his BS degree. He was employed in Monroe for a brief time, then entered the armed forces, serving with the U. S. Army in Korea.

Employment Now In This Area Is Proceeding Up

Employment should continue upward for the next 60 days as it is forecast to increase in October to 23,570 in the Monroe labor market, states the September report just issued here, State of Louisiana Division of Employment Security, Department of Labor.

October increases are anticipated in the non-manufacturing industries, primarily in the service group, which is inclusive of the schools. Many of the workers are women.

In August the level of employment rose higher when it stood at 23,190 which is slightly higher than in August of a year ago. Gains were not confined to any one industrial sector, but were experienced by both manufacturing and non-manufacturing groups. Losses were offset by gains in other industries, resulting in reversal of the downward trend of employment experience some months ago.

Demo Primaries Not Yet Over In Some Tex. Towns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For some Texans the July 14 and Aug. 28 Democratic primaries still were not over Thursday.

In Lockhart, some 20 miles south of Austin, charges of fraud and intimidation in the July primary were hurled in 21st District Court Wednesday. Testimony began in a trial contesting the election of Caldwell County Sheriff Lonnie Dotson.

And in Houston, Dist. Atty. Ewing Werlein said "valuable" evidence had been uncovered in the probe of irregularities in the Aug. 28 runoff vote in a Harris County precinct.

At Lockhart, 283 absentee ballots were involved and at Houston some 324 votes for Ralph Yarborough, the defeated gubernatorial candidate, were in question.

Attorneys for Carl Roberts, who lost to Dotson by 44 votes in the Caldwell County sheriff's race, brought two witnesses to the stand to back up charges that irregularities occurred.

Roberts' attorneys are attempting to have the 283 absentee votes thrown out of the official tabulation because they were not accompanied by either a poll tax receipt, an exemption or an affidavit establishing eligibility to vote.

In the Harris County controversy, it is alleged that although the Barrett's Settlement precinct, predominately Negro, had an official 292 votes on its list, there were 324 votes cast for Yarborough and none for Gov. Allan Shivers.

A Houston supporter of Shivers, W. Gail Reeves, requested the investigation.

Liver Trouble May Be Diabetes Cause Claims Scientist

AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Diabetes may be due to some stranger liver trouble, says a new medical report described today to the American Chemical Society convention.

This means that the cure or control of diabetes could well involve the liver rather than daily or regular injections of insulin. Some 1,600,000 Americans have some degree of diabetes and most take insulin shots to control it.

Insulin is made by the pancreas gland in the body. You need insulin to control the use of body sugar. Too much sugar in the blood is a main symptom of diabetes.

Diabetes is generally thought to stem from failure to make enough insulin. Shots of insulin plus attention to diet permit most diabetics to lead normal lives.

New evidence that the cause or control can involve the liver was described by Arthur I. Mirsky, M.D., professor and chairman of clinical science, University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

He mixed insulin with extracts or slices of liver and with hamburgerized liver. He found that the insulinase in liver destroyed the insulin. Insulinase is an enzyme, a chemical which promotes certain bodily reactions.

The experiments used insulin "tagged" with radioactive iodine, which could be followed or traced to learn what happened to the insulin.

Anything which causes the liver to produce too much insulinase could result in a deficiency of insulin, and hence diabetes, said Mirsky and Gladys Perisutti, co-author of the report.

Admits Killing Husband, Gets Life Sentence

NEW AUGUSTA, Miss. (AP)—Mrs. Ruby Jordan, 42, was given life imprisonment after pleading guilty to murdering her husband.

The sentence came late yesterday in Perry County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Jordan admitted killing her husband, 38-year-old Lance Jordan, last May 16 and burning their house near Beaumont.

Judge Burkitt Collins also sentenced her to 20 years for arson.

When arrested, Mrs. Jordan told Perry County Sheriff Dee Hammett she placed a blanket over her husband's body, splashed kerosene on it and set it afire.

The fatal shooting followed a night of heavy drinking and violent arguments, she said.

A viewer at the desk of terminal superintendent G. J. Matt gives him a wide picture of car movement, make-up of trains and switching operations in the 40-track yard. At the press of a button he can get a closeup of operations 2,000 feet away.

The Truth About Hormones To Make Skin Look Young

As I write this article, I can look through the doorway and see a woman of 45 waiting in the outer office. The light is good. I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change? An estrogenic hormone cream.

Reams have been written about hormone creams. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not! Will they make women of 60 feel like they are 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain later.

To know the truth about hormone creams, you need to learn just two simple facts: 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin—less and less as you grow older. 2. Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a cream containing the hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results. Fifty women applied a hormone cream to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar cream containing no hormones was applied in the same way.

These are the reported results in simple words:

Skin lines or wrinkles quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blemishes and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck.

Skin was softer, smoother, seemed to lose its flabby oldness, and take on revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormone cream was used. Moreover, no changes occurred on the side where the same withered, lifeless condition.

Now, the chief scientist reports in effect, improvement in the skin of women part way was striking. Even women facing the years had been turned back toward their youthful "pre-courage appearance.

I have seen this myself. I have seen the before-and-after [illegible] that in [illegible] I have seen [illegible] What a gift for [illegible] Only one thing [illegible] were to [illegible] come back [illegible] with proof [illegible] return [illegible] et [illegible]

[illegible] a hormone [illegible] mended strength for the skin is 10,000 International Units per ounce. The cream base should be as rich in lanolin and vegetable oil as possible. You can tell a rich cream by its deep "coffee-cream" color, and by a sort of ropy consistency when you touch the surface with your fingertip, then raise your hand from the cream.

A good buy in hormone creams today is a cream called HORMONEX. Its maker is a discovered laboratory that has produced over 20 million packages of pure, fine cosmetics. It contains 30,000 I. U. of natural estrogenic hormones to the jar and 6 per cent pure lanolin. It says so right on the label. What is more, this potency is guaranteed. I consider it a bargain at $2.00. If you want to see whether your dreams of a younger looking skin—with wrinkles diminished, color and texture improved—can come true, I suggest you go right down and get a jar of Hormonex. If you're bad at remembering names as I am, clip this article as a reminder. Get Hormonex [illegible] it and look for amazing results quickly.

2 Demos Differ On Re-Convening Senate

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Democratic senators divided today on whether the Senate should be called back before the Nov. 2 congressional elections to act on censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said that if a special committee appointed to investigate the charges makes its report before or shortly after Oct. 1, "the Senate should promptly reconvene to consider whatever recommendations it may submit."

But in a separate interview Sen. McCarran (D-Nev), an avowed friend of McCarthy, said any such report should be put aside and no action taken on it until the next Congress meets in January.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) took the view that the nature of the committee's report would determine whether a Senate session should be called. He said there would be no reason for such a session if the committee recommended against censure.

The special bipartisan committee, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), completed nine days of public hearings on the case Monday and has indicated its report may be ready by Oct. 1 or earlier.

Once the report is completed, it will be up to the Senate's Republican and Democratic leaders, Knowland of California and Lyndon Johnson of Texas, to set a date for the Senate to return.

The censure resolution, introduced by Sen Flanders (R-Vt), asked the Senate to condemn McCarthy's conduct as unbecoming a senator and as tending to bring the Senate into disrepute.

Flanders and Sens. Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (Ind-Ore) filed 46 supporting charges. Thirteen of these, grouped into five general categories, are being considered by the special committee.

The charges under study range from McCarthy's alleged contempt of a Senate subcommittee that investigated his financial and other affairs in 1952 to claims that he has been abusive of Senate colleagues and that he illegally received and made use of material from a secret FBI memorandum. McCarthy entered a denial on all counts.

Gore said he would favor prompt Senate consideration of the special committee's report, provided it is submitted around Oct. 1.

However, he said, "I wouldn't think the senators should be called back during the last week or two weeks before the election. They owe a responsibility to themselves and to their people to present their cases."

McCarran said "the silliness connected with the McCarthy case has gone on far already and it should not be allowed to take up any more time of the Senate."

Business Firms Here To Employ College Pupils

Arrangements for the employment of Northeast Louisiana State College students in the Twin Cities will be handled through the employment office, W. L. Perkins, head of the commerce department, said Wednesday. All local businessmen who are interested in employing students are requested to call Perkins at 3-5121.

Increase of fall activity in stores and offices has, in previous years, made heavy demands for student work. This increase will probably be accelerated by vacancies created by persons resigning from jobs to begin or continue their college studies.

The employment program works to the advantage of both the employer and the student, Perkins, explained.

Applications for work to help defray college expenses have already been filed by a large number of Northeast students. Some of them will be given campus jobs. Requests for employment cannot be filled, however, unless workers are in the business areas of the Twin Cities.

Previously students have accepted various types of employment in grocery stores, men's and women's dress shops, shoe shops, paper mills, filling stations and others calling for secretarial work.

Night and day jobs have been included in the list of part time employment in previous years. Business men desiring to discuss employment problems are asked to confer with Perkins regarding recommendations of students for particular types of work.

Here's A Fine Kettle Of Fish

Ever tasted a really good fish-and-potato stew? One made with onions and tomatoes? Know what a perfect dish it is for Friday night supper?

You bring the stew, sending off puffs of fragrant steam, to the table and ladle out hearty helpings. You pass a crusty loaf of French or Italian bread, sliced and spread with butter, hot from the oven. Everyone sets to — lapping up the savory liquid and digging into the creamy fish and potatoes, and the onions.

You follow the stew with a tossed green salad. Then you end such simple but satisfactory eating pleasure with a substantial dessert —say deep - dish apple pie with a flaky top crust and squares of sharp cheddar cheese. Or maybe you offer an upsidedown cake with a fine showing of glazed fruit.

The seasonings called for in the following recipe for fish stew are basic ones. But if you like adding your own particular creative touch to a dish, don't hesitaet to improvise.

Go Portugese and add a pinch of ground cumin seed.

Take a hint from the French Bouillabaisse and throw in a leek, some parsley, maybe a pinch of fennel.

Want a Far Eastern touch? Then a little curry powder added will just suit you.

A rib or two of celery, a few carrots in the refrigerator: Slice them and add.

You favor basil in a dish with tomatoes? Go ahead and add it—with discretion.

French chives available? Mince them and sprinkle them over the stew just before serving. Or pass a small bowl of them so chive-ad diets can help themselves.

Any firm white - meated fish available at your market is suitable for the stew. I like to make it with a fine fresh sea bass.

Fisherman's Stew

Ingredients: One whole fish (about 2 pounds), 2 cups water, 1 pound potatoes (about 4 medium-size), 2 medium size onions (peeled and quartered), one No. 2 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) tomatoes, 1 ½ to 2 teaspoons salt, pepper, ¼ teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon ground thyme 1 bay leaf, 2 large cloves garlic, dried mixed herbs or ketchup spice chili powder or cayenne pepper.

Method: Have fish dealer scale fish and cut away fins; then remove head and tail and cut fish in 4 pieces. Bring head home; do not have fish boned. Put head and water in saucepan; bring to a boil; let bubble gently for 20 minutes. Discard head and strain off liquid; there should be about 1 ½ cups. Put liquid, peeled potatoes, onions, tomatoes (including juice from can), salt, pepper to taste, sugar, paprika, thyme and bay leaf in kettle. Crush garlic and add. Cook gently until potatoes are almost tender — 30 to 40 minutes. Taste liquid in kettle and add herbs or ketchup spice and chili powder or cayenne to taste. Add fish and simmer until fish is opaque and cooked through — 10 minutes or longer. Serve in soup plates. Makes 4 servings.

Jackson Hits Out At Republicans For 'Tough Talk'

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) says the Republican administration "talks tough and carries a golf putter" and has failed to come up with any ideas to "stop the onward march of communism."

Speaking last night at a rally for Rep. Charles R. Howell, the Democratic candidate for U.S. senator from New Jersey, Jackson said Communist aggression in Greece and Turkey was halted by previous Democratic administrations.

Since that time, Jackson declared, the Republicans haven't done anything towards stopping communism.

Jackson told the rally that unlike President Theodore Roosevelt "who said 'talk softly and carry a big stick' . . . this administration talks tough and carries a golf putter."

"I wish this administration would follow the sound policy of a great president, a Republican president, if you please, Teddy Roosevelt," Jackson remarked.

Jackson said the Republican program "reminds me of an iceberg. It is cold, it is slow moving. We are told that it is big and dynamic, but so little of it shows.

"Like its Arctic counterparts, the Republican iceberg program is 10 per cent visible, 90 per cent submerged and 100 per cent at sea."

Actress Receives Dollar In Will

DENVER (AP)—Actress Paulette Goddard inherited one dollar from the estate of her late father, under terms of a will filed for probate here yesterday.

Miss Goddard's father, Joseph Russell LeVee, died here Aug. 31. He was a film distribution agent for Warner Bros. Studios.

LeVee's will directed that the remainder of his estate, valued at about $3,000, go to his wife, Mrs. Hildred F. LeVee. It added that the one dollar inheritance left to Miss Goddard must revert to the estate should the actress contest the will.

Flank Steak Makes Tasty Sunday Dish

Californians have the knack of adapting foreign flavorings for dishes Americans enjoy. Even so inexpensive a cut of meat as flank steak takes on special taste appeal when they use subtle seasonings.

Emily Chase Leistner of San Francisco has given us her own recipe. It used California wine, but water can be substituted for the wine if desired.

Flank Steak Italian

(Serves 5 or 6)

One flank steak (1½ to 2 pounds) 3 cups grated soft bread crumbs, ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese, ½ cup minced parsley, 1 clove garlic, minced, or dash of garlic powder, 6 tablespoons olive oil, salt and pepper to taste, flour, 3 tablespoons bacon drippings or other fat, 2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce, ½ cup Burgundy wine, or ½ cup water.

Have meat dealer score flank steak. Mix bread crumbs, cheese, parsley, garlic, olive oil, salt and pepper; spread mixture evenly over steak. Roll steak as you would a jelly roll (from one wide side to the other), tucking in ends as you roll. Fasten with skewers or string.

Roll in flour. Heat bacon drippings in a large, heavy skillet or a roasting pan; brown steak nicely on all sides. Add tomato sauce, wine or water, and salt and pepper to taste.

Cover and simmer gently for about 1½ hours, or until meat is very tender, turning and basting steak frequently. Remove skewers or string and place steak on heated platter. Pour a little gravy over the steak and serve remainder separately.

FOR SCHOOL LUNCH

A few prunes or raisins, straight from their packages, are excellent fruits to send along in a school lunch. Both fruits are highly nutritious and are excellent sources of quick energy.

ONE WHO LOVES HIS OWN OPINIONS OR OPINION

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

CHATTON
1. WHO IS THE MOST DANGEROUS GIRL IN THE COMMUNITY? YOUR OPINION ____
9-16
2. SHOULD PEOPLE MARRY YOUNG? YES ☐ NO ☐
3. SHOULD THE DEGREE OF "DOCTOR" BE ASSURANCE OF ABILITY AND SCHOLARSHIP? YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer to Question No. 1

1. The pretty, high-grade moron. Like other girls, she wants clothes, jewelry, and to win boys, but she lacks intelligence and foresight to control her passions. Some intelligent girls lack self-control also, but this is usually due to bad home surroundings, and it can be cured. With the moron, it's largely inborn and much harder to guide.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Depends on the individual and other factors, but generally not a good idea. A leading magazine reports studies of 2,800 marriages of women under 18 and men under 20, which revealed twice the average percentage of failures. Our booklet, How To Pick A Mate," by a noted marriage counselor, will show you how to tell your best marriage age. Non-profit, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. But a survey shows some colleges grant "doctors' degrees" for dishwashing, freezing ice cream, being school janitor, etc. Mail order "colleges" grant "doctors' degrees" for merely being able to raise $50 for the diploma. This destroys respect for what should be a mark of scholarly distinction. A doctorate should at least state whether it is for basket-weaving or mastery of some important subject.

CORN CHOWDER

For those chilly fall evenings ahead we suggest steaming hot bowls of lima bean and corn chowder. Use California dry limas and either fresh or frozen corn. Saute a chopped onion in butter, add the cooked corn and limas and combine with milk. Heat. Then thicken with a little flour and season to taste with salt and freshly ground pepper.

'Oklahoma' Being Filmed; Writer Looks It Over

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Time for a checkup on "Oklahoma!"

Filming of the great Rodgers and Hammerstein musical has resumed in Hollywood after a lengthy location in Arizona. So I thought I had better pay a call on the film, which is being made in the new Todd-AO process.

On the set there was a ranch, complete with water tank and windmill. And at the other end of the stage, a farmhouse, with a backdrop that looked like a huge Grant Wood landscape. That's where all the activity was taking place.

Director Fred Zinneman was in the center of the cast, directing the wedding of Curley and Laurie. This was strictly a rehearsal and the many young dancers were decked out in some of the wildest get-ups imaginable.

"Now this is a movie," Zinneman was instructing the largely Broadway-trained group. "You will have to unlearn some of the things you have learned on the stage. Broad gestures will be out."

He rehearsed the scene with the chorus and the principals, including Gordon Macrae, Shirley Jones, J. C. Flippen, Gloria Grahame, Charlotte Greenwood, Gene Nelson, James Whitmore. The wedding party streamed out of the house and went into a rousing chorus of "Oklahoma!"

Oscar Hammerstein II is the film's overseer, Rodgers having left for New York and his revival of "On Your Toes."

"Yes, I have learned much from the picture," he commented. "This is the first time I have ever followed a picture through. I used to write them and let others carry the ball.

"I've been on the set for almost every scene. One of the eyeopeners for me is the manpower involved in a picture. We might have a simple scene of a girl swimming in a lake. That would require 150 men behind the camera, and all of them necessary.'

He said the experience has whetted his appetite for more films, and he and Rodgers will probably do "South Pacific" and "Carousel." But not for some time, because of stage commitments.

The Todd-AO process is a new one developed by producer Michael Todd and the American Optical Co. It uses 65 mm. film instead of ordinary 35 mm. The wider film plus a wide-angle lens gives an extraordinarily clear picture on a wide screen.

Arizona rains added 11 days and much money to the picture, Hammerstein reported, but he felt the locations were worth it. There will be no locations in Oklahoma, as originally planned. Why?

"Because Arizona looks more like the Oklahoma of 1907," he replied. "I don't think Oklahomans should be unhappy, because the show should do them good. And look at John Huston. He went to an Irish village to shoot New Bedford of the 1800s for 'Moby Dick.' Nobody's complaining about that."

Meat-Stuffed Zucchini Squash

Ingredients: 2 zucchini squash (about 8 inches long), 1 teaspoon shortening, 2 tablespoons minced onion, ½ pound ground beef, ¾ cup soft bread crumbs, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine 2-3 cup soft bread crumbs, ½ cup grated sharp American cheese.

Method: Wash squash; leave whole and do not pare. Cook until almost tender in 1-inch boiling water in a covered saucepan — 5 to 7 minutes. Cut squash in half lengthwise; carefully remove squash from shell with tip of a spoon and set aside. Melt shortening in skillet; add onion and beef; mash with a fork so beef crumbles; cook until beef loses its red color. Mix in ¾ cup soft bread crumbs, salt, pepper and parsley. Cut scooped out squash in small pieces and mix with meat. Pile mixture into squash shells. Melt butter and mix in 2-3 cup soft bread crumbs and cheese. Sprinkle over squash. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until browned — 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Savory Broiled Lobster Tails

Ingredients: 2 rock lobster tails (about 6 ounces each), 3 tablespoons butter, 1 clove garlic, paprika.

Method: Thaw lobster tails if frozen. Cut away thin undershell with kitchen scissors. Crack hard shell in middle back so lobster tails will lie flat and not curl in broiling. Melt butter; crush garlic and add. Place lobster tails, hard shell side up, about 3 or 4 inches from source of heat in preheated broiler; broil about 3 minutes. Turn lobster tails and dribble a little of the garlic butter over the lobster meat. Dust with paprika. Broil about 5 minutes longer or until lobster meat is opaque, cooked through and golden brown. Serve at once with rest of garlic butter.

Antibiotic Being Used On Cancers

Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) — A new antibiotic, Puromycin, shows some promise of controlling some infections and certain types of cancer, the American Chemical Society was told today.

The drug may be the first in a new line of antibiotics, by changing the original formula to "tailor-made" new ones against specific germs, viruses or cancer cells, said scientists of Lederle laboratories division, American Cyanamid Co.

Puromycin has knocked out transplanted breast cancers in mice, and now is being tested experimentally on human cancers.

It shows greatest promise so far against African sleeping sickness, caused by a parasite, and is undergoing trials on humans and animals having this disease.

The drug was first obtained from a mold found in an old Indian mound in Wisconsin. Now it and a number of relatives have been made synthetically.

The drug apparently blocks some step in the life-processes of living cells, Lederle scientists said. In theory it may be possible to design drugs which viruses, germs or cancer cells would take in, in place of some essential chemical they need. The drug would become a monkey wrench tossed into the machinery of the cell or virus.

Puromycin was described by Dr. J. H. Williaks, Dr. B. R. Baker, Dr. B. L. Hutchings, Dr. C. W. Waller, P. W Fryth, J P. Joseph and R. E. Schaub.

Babies a year to two years old, especially those with poor appetites, grow faster when a protein element, Lysine, is added to their diet, said Dr. Anthony A. Albanese, nutritional expert of St. Luke's Hospital, Greenwich, Conn.

Lysine is one of the amino acids, or building blocks of proteins. Dr. Albanese said infants need twice as much Lysine as normal young adults, and may be failing to get enough of it.

Chemists were also shown the first public display of a chemical element which glows in the dark and has 5,000 times the radio-activity of pure radium. There is only a speck of it, as much as one grain of salt.

The element is Polonium, discovered by Marie and Pierre Curie, and occurs in radium ore. But this is the first time scientists have ever had a measurable amount of the pure stuff, said E. Frances Joy, Mound laboratory, Monsanto Chemical Co., Miamisburg, Ohio.

Polonium gives off 5,000 times more alpha rays, or cores of helium atoms, than pure radium does, but does not emit X-rays. Study of Polonium can add to knowledge about reactions of radioactive elements.

Cherokee Strip Pioneers Hold Big Celebration

ENID, Okla. Sept. 16 —UP—Pioneers who made the Cherokee Strip run Sept. 16, 1893 are holding their 61st annual celebration here.

The ranks of pioneers who made the run in an area touching on parts of Ponca City, Perry and Enid, are thinning fast.

The Cherokee Strip Association sponsored a downtown parade Wednesday. Seven covered wagons from the Pioneer Club of Fayetteville, Ark., riders from an area roundup club and several floats reflecting pioneer days were in the parade.

Acorn Squash Can Be Versatile

There's something just right about sturdy acorn squash for fall meals. It's a vegetable that has gained in popularity during the past years — and no wonder. Economical and substantial, it adds variety because it can be offered so many ways.

After baking the squash halves according to our directions remove the pulp with a teaspoon. Mash the pulp and beat in salt, pepper and brown sugar to taste along with butter or margarine. Two tablespoons of butter or four acorn-squash halves will be about right. Pile the squash into a shallow baking dish or pie plate. Or pile it back into the scooped-out shells; you will probably need the pulp from a whole acorn squash to fill one half - shell. Now reheat in the oven or under the broiler and garnish with parsley sprigs before serving.

For extra flavor as you mash the baked squash with the salt, pepper, sugar and butter suggested, try one of the following ideas.

1. Add a little grated lemon rind or lemon juice, or both. Points up flavor!

2. Add a dash of ground nutmeg — with or without the lemon.

ACORN SQUASH teams well with creamed ham for a luncheon or supper dish.

If you have a nutmeg grater, be sure to use the freshly grated spice because it really imparts extra fragrance.

3. Omit the butter and add a little heavy cream instead, along with a dash of cinnamon

5. Omit the brown sugar and add honey instead.

5. Beat in drained crushed pineapple.

6. Add grated orange rind and some membrane - free orange sections. Or use drained canned mandarin oranges with the fresh orange rind.

7. Omit the sugar and sweeten with a little maple or maple-blended syrup.

Sometimes leave the pulp in the squash halves unmashed. Fill the cavities one of these ways.

8. Fill with green peas in a cream sauce. Or with a combination of the peas and tiny boiled white onions. A buffet-size can of the onions is fine to use.

9. Fill with a well - seasoned cream sauce and finely diced raw celery. The crunchy celery gives texture contrast.

10. Fill with succotash. Or add bits of crisply cooked bacon to the vegetables.

11. Fill with stewed tomatoes. You can buy the stewed tomatoes canned; they have excellent flavor and will only need to be heated in a saucepan before they are added to the squash.

12. Fill with creamed ham made according to the following recipe and serve as a luncheon or supper main dish.

Baked Squash

Wash acorn squash; cut in half lengthwise. Remove seeds and stringy portion; place squash halves, cut side down, in a baking pan. Pour in boiling water to ¼-inch depth. (For 2 acorn-squash halves use a 9 by 9 by 1¾ inch pan with ½ cup water.) Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven until tender—30 minutes or longer. Remove squash from pan. Turn right side up and mash and season pulp; or leave unmashed and fill cavities as desired. Makes 4 servings.

Acorn Squash with Creamed Ham

Ingredients: 1½ tablespoons butter or margarine, 1½ tablespoons flour, ½ cup chicken broth or bouillon, ½ cup milk, 1 cup diced cooked ham, salt and pepper, 4 baked acorn - squash halves, parsley or water cress.

Martin Calls For Election Of More Of His Colleagues

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin Jr. last night said election of a Republican Congress in November is necessary to continue the job "of restoring our country to solvency."

Americans are faced with important decisions which will determine whether they step over "the threshold of a new era full of promise and abundance," Martin said, and added:

"One of those decisions will confront us with stark urgency in the 1954 election for Congress. At that time, the American people will be called upon to pass judgment on the historic Republican accomplishments of the past two years."

Martin, launching a nationwide speaking tour to boost the Republican party, pictured the forthcoming elections as "the most crucial non-presidential balloting of our times."

He told a $50-a-plate dinner of the Finance Committee of the GOP organization of Middlesex County that Americans "will decide whether they want that dynamic, far-sighted program to go forward to completion—or whether they want it to be sabotaged and ripped to shreds by a Congress hostile to President Eisenhower . . ."

Martin's appearance in New Jersey was the first stop on a 16-city tour. The contest in New Jersey for a U.S. Senate seat between Republican Clifford P. Case and the Democratic candidate, Rep. Charles R. Howell (D-NJ), has been described by GOP leaders as a test of the Eisenhower administration.

Ike 'Vacationing Hard' In Mountains

The small White House staff which accompanied the President from Denver yesterday was attempting to keep all but the most pressing official business from interrupting the chief executive's rest.

The President waded into St. Louis creek shortly after arriving at the Byers Peak Ranch of an old friend, Aksel Nielsen, and—with a brief break for lunch—still was casting for trout at dusk. There was no word on what luck he had.

"He is vacationing hard and we are going to try to keep it that way for a few days," James C. Hagerty, told newsmen.

Eisenhower plans to return to Denver Sunday or Monday.

Find No Foul Play In Death Of Divorcee

NEW ORLEANS — UP — Police today found no indication of foul play in the death of a wealthy woman realtor whose body was found sprawled in a corridor on the eleventh floor of the Roosevelt Hotel a few hours after she had visited former New Orleans mayor Robert S. Maestri.

The coroner's office ruled that the woman, Mrs. Helen Rizan, 47, died of heart disease. However, the case was not completely closed.

Maestri, one-time lieutenant of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, told police Mrs. Rizan had visited his apartment on a business call a few hours before her body was found in a corridor on the same floor at 3 a.m. yesterday.

"We haven't come up with anything yet to indicate foul play, and the case just seems to be dying out," said detective Capt. William Dowie. However, he added that "while the coroner's office has classified the death as natural, we want to find out what happened, how it happened and who saw it happen."

The short, plump woman was found, her dress rumpled around her waist, by R. D. McDonald of Lubbock, Tex., when he returned to his room from eating. A preliminary coroner's report said it was believed the body had been dragged, feet first, into the hall after her death.

Dowie said, however, "We're not sure she didn't die where her body was found. We haven't got any evidence to show the body was dragged into the hall. We worked on the case until late last night and didn't turn up a thing.

Maestri, whose apartment was near where Mrs. Rizan's body was found, said she visited him about midnight to discuss some mortgage loans she wanted to sell since both were in the real estate business.

He said he earlier had watched a television fight with federal Judge Herbert W. Christenberry, civil district Judge Walter Hamlin and William G. Helis.

"After I discussed business with her she left. That's all I know about it," Maestri said.

Mrs. Rizan, twice married and twice divorced, was reputedly quite wealthy from her real estate business. She made a practice of buying and renovating apartment houses, and formerly owned a hotel at Mandeville, La., and at one time operated a restaurant at the New Orleans airport.

Her income from rentals was estimated at $1,000 a month.

National Deficit Boosted $4.75 Million By GOP

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has boosted the deficit it foresees for this fiscal year to nearly 4½ billion dollars even while slashing a new 3 billion from major security programs.

But it has upped planned outlays in a dozen civilian fields where they could be a spur to production and employment.

The annual revision of spending and income estimates for the current fiscal year, which began July 1, was made public last night, indicating these over-all changes:

Total spending was reduced from the $65,600,000,000 planned when President Eisenhower submitted the fiscal 1955 budget to Congress last January to a new estimate of 64 billions. This compares with spending of $67,600,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The estimate of net budget receipts was cut from $62,700,000,000 in January to $59,300,000,000. Principle factors contributing to the reduction were congressional tax cuts, bigger-than expected refunds, and a sharp drop in corporation tax payments. Collections last fiscal year came to $64,600,000,000.

Since the $3,400,000,000 dip in expected revenues outweighed the $1,600,000,000 cut in spending, the administration's estimate of its probable deficit at the end of the fiscal year rose from $2,900,000,000 predicted in January to $4,700,000,000. In fiscal 1954, red ink spending came to 3 billions.

However, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told a news conference the administration would try "every day, every week and every month" to chop spending where it would hurt neither defense nor the economy.

And W. J. McNeil, assistant secretary of defense and chief fiscal officer of the Pentagon, told newsmen that despite the new reduction in defense spending, industry would get about twice the volume of defense contracts this year that it received last year. This action, by putting an increased flow of defense contracts in the pipeline, would tend to spur production and employment.

Secretary Humphrey said, "we are seeking more defense for less money, rather than changing the state of our defenses."

Eisenhower's January forecasts to Congress for security outlays this year were revised along these lines:

Total "major national security program" outlays — including direct military spending, military aid to Allies, atomic energy activities and stockpiling of strategic materials — will be $41,990,000,000 this year instead of $44,860,000,000 programmed last January, the new estimate represented a $1,300,000,000 drop from last fiscal year and a decline of $8,300,000,000 from peak defense outlays after the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Garland Shell Publicity Head In Chest Drive

Garland Shell, Monroe businessman, has been appointed director of publicity for the forthcoming Twin City Community Chest drive, according to a joint announcement from James L. Ewing, general campaign chairman, and Jack Howard, president of the Chest board.

Shell is well known in the Twin Cities, having made Monroe his home since 1934 except for the war period and four years immediately following when he was engaged in the advertising business in New York City and Baltimore, Md. He established his own business in Monroe five years ago.

Shell is married to the former Miss Ann Mims and is a member of the Presbyterian church, Lions club, Toastmaster club, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He served as president of the Jaycees in 1953 and was named Young Man of the Year by that organization in 1952.

Active in civic affairs, Shell is now serving the Ouachita Parish Safety Council as its president and is on the executive committee of the Ouachita Parish Industrial Development Committee. He was publicity chairman for the American Red Cross locally for a period of two years.

"I feel that we are indeed fortunate to have Garland working with us in this capacity on our drive," Ewing said, "and I know that he is going to do a creditable job for the Chest and its agencies. Much of the success of the drive depends on this phase of the campaign."

Small Craft Warnings Up On Coast

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15 —UP— The weather bureau in a special advisory at 6:30 a.m. (cst) warned small craft not to venture into the Gulf of Mexico along the coast from Mobile, Ala., to Lake Charles, La.

The bureau said that an area of squally weather in the middle Gulf is moving slowly west-northwest, accompanied by scattered squalls and easterly winds of 25 to 35 miles per hour.

The bureau said, however, that there is no evidence of circular movement which would indicate hurricane formation.

Former Bossier Cop Under Bond; Has Stolen Money

SHREVEPORT —UP— A former Bossier City policeman has been placed under $3,000 bond and charged with possession of money stolen from a Bossier City bank which he allegedly won in a dice game.

The ex-cop, James W. Walker, 26, was placed under bond yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Alfred W. Bullock.

FBI agents and Bossier City Police Chief James Cathey arrested Walker, who now operates a bar and grill in Bossier. Authorities said Walker would confer with his attorney before deciding whether to ask for a preliminary hearing.

Rigid Crop Production Plan Shelved By Benson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today abandoned a major portion of his rigid 1955 crop production control program that had aroused sharp grower complaints in politically important farm belt areas.

He dropped provisions which were designed to take about 40 million acres, or about 12 per cent, of the nation's crop land out of the production of cash crops of any kind.

The secretary announced his decision at a news conference. He said, in reply to a query, there had been no political pressure exerted on him by Republican congressional candidates to ease up on his control program. Benson did say, however, he had discussed the matter with some Republican congressmen and party candidates for congressional seats.

Farm leaders have reported that Benson's 1955 crop program—set up several months ago and designed to prevent the accumulation of surpluses of crops not now available in oversupply — had stirred up perhaps more criticism among farmers than the administration's new price support law.

At the behest of President Eisenhower, Congress passed farm legislation setting up flexible price supports to supplant war-born high rigid supports at 90 per cent of parity for major crops. The flexible floors range between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity next year and 75 to 90 thereafter. Parity is a price declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

Under the flexible system, government price guarantees will average less than under the wartime programs. Most Democratic candidates for Congress have been attacking the new support program and some have criticized Benson's production control program.

Under the control program as originally announced, farmers were required to abide by all acreage planting allotments assigned them in order to be eligible for price support aid on any crop. Allotments are planned for cotton, wheat, corn, peanuts, major types of tobacco and rice.

In addition, farmers who were asked to divert more than 10 acres from crops under planting allotments would not have been permitted to use such land to produce other cash crops. They would have been limited to grass, hay and soil conservation crops.

It was this latter provision—which made the 1955 program the strictest control program in history—that had encountered grower criticism. The complaints were particularly sharp in wide areas of the South, Southwest and lower midwestern areas seriously affected by drouth.

Benson said his action will permit farmers to use the diverted acres to grow any crops except those under allotment, potatoes and commercial vegetables. The department wishes to avoid overproduction of potatoes and vegetables because they are highly perishable.

He said relaxation of the controls—which he said he disliked in the beginning—were justified on several counts. He emphasized mainly shortages of livestock feeds in drought areas.

Benson said also that congressional action authorizing a shift from high rigid to flexible price supports next year made use of controls less necessary in efforts to curb surplus production. He said flexible supports will serve to help deter excessive production when surpluses exist.

On the drought problem, Benson announced his department has recommended that President Eisenhower add Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Tennessee and South Carolina to the list of drought disaster states. Under an emergency program, the department helps livestock farmers in drought designated areas obtain feed at reduced prices.

Benson also announced the first price support rate under the new flexible system—82½ per cent of parity, or the minimum, for next year's wheat crop. This means next year's wheat will be supported at not less than $2.06 a bushel, national farm average, compared with this year's rate of 90 per cent of parity or a national average of $2.21.

Beef, Chicken Best Buys In Food Market

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Soaring prices of pork turned housewives' attention to beef, poultry and seafood this week as among the best available buys for weekend feasting.

Still on the list of standout bargains as recently as a week ago, pork has since moved sharply higher in price, reflecting increased wholesale costs. Center cut pork chops are up as much as 16 cents a pound at retail in some cities.

Prices of veal, another recent favorite, are also moving up.

While beef prices in most areas are pretty much the same as last week, individual stores have singled out T-bone steak, rib roast and boneless chuck pot roast for promotion as week-end specials.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has designed beef as its food headliner of the week. Marketing specialists say beef is in more than plentiful supply. Per capita consumption last year was about 76.6 pounds, or about 1½ pounds per person per week, and this year we're going to eat even more beef, say the experts.

Frying chickens constitute a good buy, with prices down as much as six cents a pound from last week-end in some cities. Devotees of seafood can find occasional bargains in cod fillets, oysters, lobster and shrimp.

Egg prices are mostly lower. The downturn reflects a production spurt resulting from cooler weather.

There are still plenty of bargains around on the produce counter, although the season for some fruits and vegetables is drawing to a close.

Best buys in the vegetable department include eggplant, corn, sweet potatoes, cabbages and peppers. Peppers come in several distinct varieties, and all are plentiful right now. There are "California wonders," with thick skins, and "world beaters," which have think skins. Or you can buy italianelles, cubanelles, cheese, cherry, or "long-hot" peppers.

Seedless grapes, peaches and apples can still be had at reasonable prices; they're practically giving away apples and peaches in some Eastern areas where orchards have been damaged by hurricane winds.

The season for Florida citrus fruits is expected to arrive on schedule, with grapefruit shipments arriving in big city markets in heavy volume by mid-October. Florida limes are plentiful, but most other citrus categories now available were grown in California.

And a reminder of Thanksgiving: The first shipments of Cape Cod cranberries arrived in Metropolitan markets this week—marking the earliest such shipment on record.

Cabbage Aid To Heavy Drinkers

SAN FRANCISCO UP— If you must drink, here's some advice involving cabbage.

UCLA's Latin professor emeritus, Dr. Arthur Patch McKinlay, has found that the Greeks and Romans consumed entire cabbages and the seed to relieve pounding heads and fuzzy eyesight.

Aristotle counseled his readers to "dine well on cabbage just before starting out for a big evening," said Dr. McKinlay, while the Roman, Cato, evidently preferred a form of cole slaw.

"If you wish to drink much at a banquet, before dinner dip cabbage in vinegar and eat as much as you wish," Cato counseled. "When you have dined eat five leaves. The cabbage will make you as fit as if you had had nothing, and you can drink as much as you will."

Regrets Not Having Killed His Brother

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Killer Gerald Gallego said today his only regret at not making good his escape from the jail here was that he won't be able to reach California to kill his brother.

"He broke me up from the only girl I ever loved, and the only one who could have helped me to go straight," the husky desperado said.

Gallego talked freely to a group of newsmen and police officers.

Gallego denied he wanted to kill his mother and his sister, as had been reported.

Someone asked him if he believed in God.

"I read somewhere once that there is no God except the man himself," he answered.

His escape from the jail, where he fatally injured jailer J. C. Landrum and his flight through unknown territory, seemed to emphasize his creed about God and man.

Gallego said his only chance to go straight came when he got out of prison in California last October.

He met a girl named Charlotte. "She was everything I ever wanted, and we were to have been married in April," he said. "My brother turned me in for parole violation, trying to get me in trouble like always."

His mother, Mrs. Daisy Stoddard of Hawthorne, Calif., said, however, that she turned her son in, instead of the brother, hoping Gallego would go straight.

"Charlotte and her family came to see me in jail and tried to get me out," he said. "Finally my brother arranged for me to be released and got me a job out in the desert, and told me I couldn't see her (Charlotte) again.

"He broke us up and I'll kill him if I ever get the chance," he declared.

The chance seems unlikely. Gallego is sentenced to die in the electric chair for slaying a constable in Ocean Springs, Miss. last May. His case has been appealed to the state Supreme Court. The appeal automatically delayed his execution, scheduled for last July 15.

Gallego also said he killed a man in California several years ago.

The 26-year-old slayer said he met a man whose name he does not know in Inglewood, Calif., and killed him in Westchester after robbing him.

"I hit him with my fists and he fell against a car bumper. I put him in a trunk and carried him from Westchester to a ravine and threw him in, covering him with rocks and dirt," Gallego said without emotion.

In Los Angeles Gallego's mother, Mrs. Stoddard, expressed relief that her son had been captured without being shot. Gallego had threatened the lives of his mother and brother, Robert Gallego, 30, of Hawthorne, Calif.

"It was terrible," added Mrs. Stoddard, "to hear that that jailer died. But I guess there is nothing left to do but pray."

Mrs. Stoddard said she planned to write Gallego and tell him she is still behind him "no matter what happened," but added she has canceled plans to return to Mississippi to be with him when an appeal from his death sentence was scheduled late this month.

Mrs. Stoddard said she wished "That I could turn back the clock a year." She explained she meant that it was after Gallego ran away from a prison camp at Yermo, Calif., a year ago that he got into this trouble.

"I had hoped to get him into a hospital for psychiatric treatment," Mrs. Stoddard said. "But now I'll just have to think of my other children and my husband and forget Gerry—except to pray for him.

Free Junkets For Congressmen Hit By Rep. Burdick

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 —UP— What's new in Washington:

Rep. Usher L. Burdick, the Republican from North Dakota, always has been dead set against free junkets for congressmen.

However, he has just taken his first "trip" in 16 years with a congressional party. He went to the West Coast with the House Judiciary committee to smoke out facts about what Congress should do about claims by Japanese who were evicted from their homes during the war. This one, said Burdick, has not a so-called "junket."

In a letter to his voters, Burdick defined a congressional junket as "going around the world by land, sea and air to see what conditions in the other countries are. . .and then the observers fail to see them when they get there. Some member of the party usually writes up a report that purposely does not disclose a thing except a large expense account."

Burdick said there will be no padding of accounts and no wasting of words on the Judiciary committee's investigation. In fact, in the long letter he gave a preliminary analysis of his own on the situation.

Maj. James Campbell of the Army likes to tell about a little incident at the recent air show at Dayton, Ohio. The government provided helicopters to carry the press and the very important people from downtown to the airfield. One paid civilian guide spent an evening on the pubs with a nice looking gal. He had no business offering free lifts, but he did.

The girl asked him his name. "I'm a captain, baby," the guide said. Next morning the gal showed up, pressed and rouged and said she had been invited for a lift to the VIP section at Wright Field by her friend, "Captain Baby."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon lost his shaving kit on a plane while he was in Colorado. He came back but did not show up at his office unshorn.

He has other razors. .one at home and one at his office. The airplane company located his lost kit, including soap, razors and something for the bracer.

Nixon is on a campaign speaking tour. And as usual he is carrying in his kit the shoe buffers he has picked up in hotels around the world. He seldom carts more than a single pair of shoes. And if a shine lad isn't about, he knows what to do about it. Those buffers really do a good job of buffing.

One upholstery company in Washington is whooping up business by offering a "pedigreed, registered, talking parakeet free" if people will only call and ask for a free estimate on doing over an overstuffed sofa.

Gas Pedal Must Have Stuck Says Elderly Victim

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs. Clementine Fenn is 82 years old. She drives a four-cylinder coupe, vintage 1932. And normally she drives it with the skill and decorum befitting her age.

But yesterday, just at the rush hour, things got out of hand.

She started slowly out of a service station into a busy suburban intersection when suddenly the jalopy came alive.

With a jolt and a bump the car dashed rear-end first into the dual highway described a 340-foot arc and finally came to rest against the smashed windows of a rival service station across the street.

Score:

A grazed sign standard, a sideswiped parked auto, a score of badly frightened shoppers, and for Mrs. Fenn a fractured nose and minor chest injuries.

Comment from the lady:

"Gas pedal must have stuck."

Peter Lawford Has Different Role In Film 'Dear Phoebe'

By PETER LAWFORD
Written for United Press

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16 —UP— For roles in pictures, I've done just about everything conceivable.

I've worn armor, I've gone down in a diving bell, I've ridden on water skiis, I've wrestled with a bear and I've spent three hours in a barrel with the lid on.

But something new has been added since I started portraying an "advice to the lovelorn" editor in my new television series, "Dear Phoebe." I'm supposed to advise women on their love lives.

This Bill Hastings I play in the show writes an advice column in a Los Angeles newspaper, using the name "Phoebe Goodheart." Some of the situations are pretty farfetched, of course, but the writers have gone to a lot of trouble to make the show mostly authentic so we won't receive any letters from outraged newspapermen.

Because of my part, I've gotten into the habit of dictating a daily column into a dictaphone, and I'm afraid I'm going to greet my wife some morning with "Dear Anguished."

"It's no cinch writing answers to all those letters. I have a dread of putting the wrong letter in the wrong envelope. And when I drop each day's answers in the mail chute, I ask myself:

Did I tell the lady who wanted to know what to do with her short-tempered husband to try DDT? Did I tell the lady bothered by silverfish to try patience and kindness? Did I tell everyone that life is not all beer and skittles?

Another pitfall is that I'm beginning to fancy myself as an advice expert. Not infrequently have I employed soothing words to turn away an irate loan shark who is about to toss some helpless widow out of her cottage. It has tended to make me feel like a poor man's psychiatrist. I'm seized by the most insurmountable desire to say, "Now, sit down you poor, troubled soul and let Phoebe Goodheart fix things up for you.

It's somewhat nice to think that in my declining years, should show business wane; that I won't have to sell hot dogs in front of my Malibue Beach home. With all this advice to the lovelorn experience, I can always apply for a job on a newspaper.

Former POW Seeks Release From Service

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A former prisoner-of-war in Korea, whose Army file, his attorney says, contains information that he allegedly collaborated with the Communists, seeks his unconditional release from military service through a U. S. District Court order.

The soldier, Cpl. Ruben D. Cruz, 23, of Detroit, Mich., now a patient at Valley Forge General Hospital, appeared yesterday before Chief Judge William Kirkpatrick on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus brought by his civilian attorney, William J. Woolston.

The court took the case under advisement.

Col. Kenneth Brewer, commanding officer of the hospital, testified that he had been ordered by the Army to offer Cruz his separation and to release him from military service, but that Cruz had refused to be separated.

A letter submitted in evidence showed that Cruz refused because he would not receive an honorable discharge.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: "Will you please explain those words in the Bible which say, "Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of heaven"? W. F.

ANWER: The words occur in the fifteenth chapter of the first epistle to the Corinthians —the great Resurrection chapter of the Bible. That chapter begins by speaking of the resurrection of Christ, and it ends by speaking of the resurrection of those who belong to Christ.

In the passage in question, the Apostle is dealing with the nature of the resurrection body. This, he argues, will be radically different from our present "natural body" of flesh and blood, which is liable to corruption and decay. The new body will be a "spiritual body," like the glorified body of Christ when He rose from the dead, and will, like His, be free from corruption.

Now the world to come — the heavenly kingdom, as the Apostle designates it — is very different from this present world; and so in that world we shall need a different kind of body from the one we have here. God Himself will provide us with such a body — a heavenly body, perfectly adapted to life in that spiritual world, just as our present "flesh and blood" body is adapted to life in this material world. So "we shall all be changed."

This is what we mean when, as Christians, we say we believe in the resurrection of the body. What a magnificent hope it is! Christ has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel, and when He takes our redeemed spirits to Heaven He will clothe them with redeemed bodies.

I wouldn't be without that hope. Would you?

MRS. FRANK DOODY of Oak Park, Ill., serves her seven youngsters a bowl of pancakes.

Doody's Pancake Squares Are Tops With Youngsters

Give 'em pancakes — lots of them. That's what Mrs. Frank Frank Doody of Oak Park, Ill., does. She has seven hungry children and a hungry husband. "There are nine altogether and with the 'kids' bringing in neighborhood guests the table setting is frequently as high as 12 to 15," she said.

"What's the family's favorite dish? Why pancakes, of course, served to the crowd, our way. The serving method may be ingenious, but our family and guests say it makes the pancake meal seem like a party."

Mrs. Doody, who is chief pancake maker in the family, uses a prepared pancake ready-mix for her light and fluffy pancakes. Then, as the pancakes are baked, they go into a large warmed salad-type bowl to be cut into squares, buttered and syruped. Individual equal portions are served so everyone gets some pancakes right away and the process goes on till everyone's had all they can eat, spoonfuls of "squares" at a time. Here is how she makes her pancakes.

Doody's Pancake Squares

Three cups pancake ready-mix, 3 1-3 cups milk, syrup, butter or margarine. Measure the pancake ready-mix into a mixing bowl. Pour the milk into the bowl and stir just enough to mix the pancake mix and milk. A few little lumps in the batter will disappear as the pancakes bake. Bake the pancakes on a hot griddle that has been greased lightly with shortening.

As the pancakes are baked, place them in a large salad bowl. Cut them into squares and then cover with warm syrup and butter or margarine. Pass the bowl of pancake "squares" letting everyone serve himself to some pancake right away. In the meantime keep baking more pancakes until all appetites are satisfied.

"This amount usually makes enough to satisfy our hungry crew, but sometimes I find myself mixing another batch," Mrs. Doody added.

APPLE PIE

It's green apple pie season and we like to make it with a crisp walnut crumble topping. Sweeten and flavor the sliced apples and place in a pastry-lined pan. Crumble together ½ cup each brown sugar and flour, ½ teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ cup soft margarine. Mix in ½ cup chopped walnuts and pat gently over the top of the sliced apples. Bake as usual.

N. S. C. Students To Be Employed In Business Areas

Employment of Northeast State students in the business areas of the Twin Cities will function through the college employment office, according to W. L. Perkins, head of the commerce department.

Local business men who are interested in employing students are requested to telephone Perkins at 3-5121.

Increase of fall activity in stores and offices has, in previous years, made heavy demands for student work. This increase will probably be accelerated by vacancies caused by persons resigning from jobs to begin or continue their college studies.

The employment program works to the advantage of both the employer and the student, Perkins, explained.

Applications for work to help defray college expenses have already been filed by a large number of Northeast students. Some of these will be given campus jobs. Requests for employment cannot be filled, however, unless work is open in the business areas of the Twin Cities.

Previously students have accepted various types of employment in grocery stores, men's and women's dress shops, shoe shops, paper mills, filling stations and offices calling for secretarial work.

Night and day jobs have been included in the list of part-time employment in previous years. Business men desiring to discuss employment problems are asked to confer with Perkins regarding recommendations of students for particular types of work.

Brooks Labeled 'Aquatic Kings'

Rains Came— So They're Unbeatable

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

They may be dead ducks by next week, but as of today the Brooklyn Dodgers are aquatic kings of the National League.

At least four of their victories are thoroughly waterlogged and if they try to play any more games under conditions such as prevailed yesterday, the front office better consider equipping the club with fur-lined swimming suits.

The defending champs have discovered some amazing ways to lose games this season, but when the rains come they are unbeatable.

Back in May they beat the Phillies 3-0 in six innings in Philadelphia when rain brought a halt. Then in June they skidded to a 7-6 victory at Milwaukee in five innings, scoring five runs in the fifth.

Last week they repeated over the Braves, 2-1 in five rain-soaked innings just before Hurricane Edna hit Flatbush.

Yesterday, the bad weather brought a 10-4 triumph over the Cincinnati Redlegs with the Reds screaming that both clubs should have stood in bed.

At the Polo Grounds, some 15 air miles from Ebbets Field, the first-place New York Giants and the third-place Milwaukee Braves never left the clubhouse. The temperatures hovered in the 50s and water stood in puddles over the covered infield.

In both cases the decision to play or not was in the hands of the umpires. They came close to calling time at Brooklyn with the score tied at 2-2 after four innings. But after a brief huddle the umps sent the players back on the field and they sloshed to a finish.

Only two other games were played. The St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia 3-1 and Baltimore moved out of the American League cellar with a 2-1 squeaker over Boston.

The Dodgers moved within three games of the Giants and have nine to play. The Giants have 11 left including a doubleheader today against the Braves who trail by 5½ lengths.

Gil Hodges put the Dodgers on the victory trail against the Reds with his 40th home run in the sixth inning. Three singles, a walk, a bases-loaded double by Pee Wee Reese and an error added five more runs before the inning was over.

Don Newcombe, with help from Jim Hughes in the ninth, registered his ninth victory. Bud Podbrelan, who left shortly after Hodges' homer, was the victim.

The magic number remained eight for the Giants. Any combination of eight New York victories and Brooklyn defeats will clinch the pennant for Leo Durocher's men. The season ends a week from Sunday.

A pair of run-producing doubles by Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst gave the Cards their margin of victory over the Phils and brought Tom Poholsky his fourth win. The loss shoved the Phils back into fifth place a half game behind the Reds. The Cards are in sixth, a game behind the Phillies.

A pinch single by Jim Fridley with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth gave the Orioles their victory over Boston. Lou Kretlow gave up only five hits and blanked Ted Williams who was up four times.

Tech Worries Over Hurts As Wildcat Date Nears

RUSTON, La., Sept. 16 (Special)—A growing injury list is causing considerable concern at Louisiana Tech this week as the Bulldogs prepare for the season's opener here Saturday night against Louisiana College.

What looked like one of the best Tech backfields in a number of years at spring practice has now been reduced by injuries and other turn of events and the Bulldog coaching staff may have to do some shuffling to take up the gaps.

Latest blow to the Canine squad is a broken hand sustained by co-captain and All Gulf States Conference fullback James Oliver in scrimmage Saturday. The Bossier City senior who averaged 6.5 yards each time he carried the pigskin last season, is likely to be out until some time in October. And his loss will be felt.

Another injury from the Saturday workout is a broken nose sustained by guard Larry Barbay. Week before last John (Bud) McMichael, halfback, came out of a scrimmage session with a severe leg sprain that has kept him from practice since. Head Coach Joe Aillet says he hopes that McMichael will be able to play at least part of the game Saturday.

Added to the injury troubles in the Canine ball-carrying department is the fact that two halfbacks from last season, Zero Brown and Gayle Wise, decided not to participate in football this year. Then the outstanding freshman fullback of 1953, Ray Manchester of Jena, decided to enroll at another college this fall.

In the Louisiana College game fullback duties are likely to fall to senior Benji Smith, 170-pound Ruston student who has not played first string offensive fullback since 1951. As a sophomore he lettered on the defensive team. Two other fullbacks who might also see action are Dean Walker, junior of Jonesboro-Hodge, and freshman Buster Thornton, Shreveport.

Against Louisiana College last year the Bulldogs were able to gain a hard fought 20-6 victory at Pineville. Word from the Baptist school is that the Wildcats have more depth, speed and beef than last season and should be a stronger outfit.

Hunters Given Warning Against Starting Fires

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 16 (Special)—Louisiana's 1954-55 hunting season will be ushered in Thursday when doves become legal quarry for an estimated 300,000 nimrods, L. D. Young, Jr., director of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries commission, announced.

He urges hunters who go afield to use every precaution against fire during this hot dry period. "The entire corps of wildlife rangers has been instructed to aid the Louisiana Forestry commission, particularly during the current fire threat," he said.

Director Young cited section 107 of act 56, which prohibits the destruction of feeding and breeding grounds of wild game and quadrupeds. "It is unlawful to willfully set fire to any wild woodland, marshland or prairie land; however, this section does not apply to the owner of the land setting such fire to clear or prepare his enclosed land for agricultural or pastoral purposes or for the purpose of improving land conditions for the wildlife found thereon," he emphasized.

"We are lending the forestry group a hand again this year in an effort to prevent the destruction of property so vital to the people of this state. Hunters are asked to be especially careful with campfire, matches and cigarettes and to report fires to the nearest forest or wildlife ranger."

HIGH, LOW

Rocky-Charles Fight Reslated For Tonight

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—A drizzling rain Wednesday forced postponement until Thursday night of the Rocky Marciano - Ezzard Charles heavyweight title fight after Charles had weighed in at 192½ pounds—heaviest of his career. Marciano weighed 186½.

The postponement was announced at 1:55 p.m. by promoter Jim Norris after he and all the principals had spent the morning peering at the gloomy, grey skies and consulting various weather authorities.

The forecast for Thursday was just as bleak as Wednesday's weather—cloudy, cool with occasional rain.

If rain deals the fight another setback Thursday a decision will be made then as to the next possible date. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, was hoping to use Saturday as the alternative for the Yankees Stadium affair. It can't go on Friday night because of the I.B.C.'s regular radio-TV show that night from Washington featuring Walter Cartier and Willie Troy.

There were several blocks against Saturday, too. For one Norris said the host New York Yankees, who return to the stadium on Monday, have not yet given permission for the use of the park that night. Secondly, Nate Halpern, president of Theater Network Television, Inc. (T.N.T.) said he had the cable cleared for Thursday's theater-telecast but didn't know whether he could get the coaxial cable for Saturday.

It was the third heavyweight title to be postponed. The weather also completed a cycle of three title fight postponements for the I.B.C. this month. The Sept. 1 welterweight title fight between Kid Gavilan and Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia was postponed until next month when the champ from Cuba came down with the mumps. The scheduled Sept. 22 lightweight championship clash between Paddy DeMarco, the titleholder, and Jimmy Carter, in San Francisco, was put off until November when DeMarco developed calcification in his left elbow.

Joe Louis was involved in both previous heavyweight title postponements, the first with Tommy Farr in 1937 and the second a twice postponed affair with Jersey Joe Walcott in 1948.

Both Charles and Marciano appeared relaxed at the weigh-in ceremony Wednesday and they conversed in Italian. Charles learned the language while stationed in Italy with the army during the war.

Charles' weight Wednesday was seven pounds more than he scaled for the June 17 clash when he lost a 15-round decision to Marciano. He didn't have any breakfast before the weigh-in then. Wednesday manager Tom Tannas said Ezzy devoured orange juice, corn flakes, bacon and eggs, toast and marmalade and tea.

"The weight is good for Ez," said Tannas. "He'll be strong and that's what he needs for Marciano."

Charles himself had said in training that he wanted to be heavier this time. The 185½ pounds was one of the lowest weights he had fought at in three years. This previous high was the 191½ he scaled in two losing battles—a 15-round title fight with Walcott in 1952 and a 10-rounder with Nino Valdes Aug. 11, 1953.

Marcianos weight was just about what he figured. He weighed 187½ for the last fight.

They wont have to weigh in again Thursday. They will receive physical exams, again, however, in private and separately. The two went to different gyms Wednesday afternoon to loosen up.

Neither the rain nor the announced weights brought any noticeable chages in the odds. Marciano remained a 1-5 choice to win, and a 5-12 favorite to stop his 33-year-old opponent. It was still 6-1 against Charles knocking out the undefeated, 30-year-old champion.

Winnsboro Is In Good Shape For Ferriday Clash

WINNSBORO, La., Sept. 16 (Special)—The Winnsboro Wildcats came out of their 20 to 0 win over Lake Providence last Friday night with only minor injuries and are pointing toward their second Class A conference game with the Ferriday Bulldogs at Ferriday Friday night.

Coaches Phillip Poole and Orville Elkin are stressing pass receiving by the Wildcat ends this week. At Lake Providence, five pin-point passes thrown by quarterback David Jones slipped through the receivers' fingers. But this week in practice, the 'Cats are really hanging on to that ball.

Heads up football by the Winnsboro backs, who took advantage of holes opened by a hard charging Winnsboro line led by veteran tackle Billy McGraw, was the combination that spelled victory over The Wildcats marched all the way down the field on line plays with James Mock going over from the three for the first touchdown. Chuck Gordy went through the line and ran 48 yards for the second counter, and Gordy went through the middle from the 10 for the third touchdown.

This is the first year Ferriday has been in Class A, but they were Class B state champions last year. In 1952 Winnsboro defeated Ferriday 21-19, and in 1953 lost to them 19-0. Although the Wildcat team is rated as the underdog in this contest, if the Winnsboro eleven displays the teamwork that has been evident in past seasons, it could be anybody's game.

Winnsboro has produced some outstanding players and in the past two years, six boys have received college football scholorships. Last year, Frank Cheek, Eugene Southern, and Tommy Bankston went to Louisiana College. This year, Earl Huff went to the University of Mississippi, Steve Thompson to L.S.U., and Philip Cobb to Northeast. But the outstanding quality of the Poole-Elkin coached teams has been teamwork, and this will be the strongest weapon to be used against Ferriday.

Galloway Says He's Worrying Over Injuries

HAMMOND, La., Sept. 16 (Special)—According to Coach Stanley Galloway, lack of experienced depth and injuries may keep Southeastern Louisiana College "out of the contender class" in the Gulf States Conference football race this season.

S. L. C.'s Lions open the season with Northeast State College in Strawberry Stadium here Saturday night, and Galloway is gravely concerned about the condition of his eleven for the opener and the coming grid season.

"We lack depth at several positions and if anyone else gets hurt Saturday, we may be in for a rough time this season," Galloway said.

Three top players, tackle Gerald Stone, guard Roy Moreas and halfback Arlen Blackwell, were nursing injuries early this week and only Stone is expected to be ready by gametime.

Stone, 6-4, 225-pound senior, will team with either Jack Schommer or Don Peroyea at tackle. Galloway's only guard lettermen, Titus Johnston and Dan Fournet will open at the guard slots Saturday and squadman John Andre, an inexperienced sophomore, will start at center.

Salad Week In Sports; Choice Picks

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—This is sports salad week with a heavyweight title fight, a national golf tournament, numerous horse races, a torrid baseball scramble in the National League and a flock of college football games making up the dish.

Here are gilt-edged winners of the weekend's football games:

Oklahoma over California: A football mussel that should have been saved for mid-season. But you will see it on your TV screen Saturday. Oklahoma has two outstanding ends in Max Boydston and Carl Allison. California's strong point is Matt Hazeltine, a defensive genius at center.

Maryland over Kentucky: Maryland is carrying on from last year while Kentucky is rebuilding. Dick Bielski of the Marylanders, moves into his own.

Texas over Louisiana State: everything always is colossal in Texas but the 1954 Longhorn team is rated super-colossal. That should make it good enough to beat LSU, rated no better than average.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: Graduation took many of Tech's bevy of backs but Larry Morris, All-America center, is hale, hearty and eligible for another season.

Southern California over Washington State: Too early in the year for Washington State's sophomore crew. Southern California has a goe-whiz sophomore in Jon Arnett.

River over Florida: This could go to Florida very easily but believe Rice, dethroning Southwest Conference champions, have just enough left to win.

Baylor over Houston: Baylor is No. 2 team in Texas and Houston lacks tackles.

Oklahoma A&M over Wyoming: A meeting involving prospective champions of the Missouri Valley and Skyline Eight loops.

Kansas over Texas Christian: Hard to flip a Lincoln penny to decide this one.

Alabama over Mississippi Southern: The Southerners have a road-block into Alabama's path but fall but the Tide swears it will get revenge Friday night.

Mississippi over North Texas State: The Rebels are rated one of the hottest teams in the South.

The others, without comment:

East—None.

Midwest—Colorado over Drake, Iowa State over South Dakota State, Kansas State over Colorado A&M.

South — Georgia over Florida State, Mississippi State over Memphis State, Clemson over Presbyterian, Virginia Tech over North Carolina state, Richmond over Randolph Macon, Virginia Military over Davidson, Texas A&M over Texas Tech.

Far West—Oregon over Idaho, Stanford over College of Pacific, UCLA over San Diego Navy, Washington over Utah, Denver over Colorado College, Montana over Fort Lewis, New Mexico over Brigham Young, San Jose State over Utah State, Arizona over New Mexico A&M.

Vanderbilt Entry 1-2 In Rhode Island Run

LINCOLN, R. I., Sept. 16 (AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's favored entry of Social Outcast and Crash Dive ran 1-2 in the inaugural running of the $58,000 Rhode Island Special at Lincoln Downs Wednesday. Punkin Vine was third and Larry Ellis finished fourth in the mile and a quarter race for 3-year-olds and up, richest event in the history of Rhode Island racing.

The Vanderbilt entry was backed down to 4 to 5 by the crowd of 12,052 and returned $3.60, $2.80 and $2.80. Punkin Vine, owned by G. S. Howell, paid $3.20 to show.

24 Rounds Of Boxing Scheduled Tonight At Kallio's

Cook 10-Rounder Headlines Arena Gloves Contest

Gus Kallio presents an all-star boxing program at the newly-remodeled arena tonight, with 24 rounds of professional boxing scheduled, headlined by the Clarence Cook-Alex Cedillio feature ten-rounder.

The semi-final bout, slated for six stanzas, is a feature attraction in itself. Grover Bass, the smoothie from McGehee, Ark. takes on colorful "Barefoot Boy" Tobe Harris, from a town in Texas by the name of Cut 'en Shoot.

In the second of the two four round preliminaries, Farmerville's Devane Garris, a long and lanky leather - tosser, fights newcomer Harry Wells, a stockily-built light-hair, who replaces Tallulah's Gene Sargent on the card.

In the 8 p.m. opener, another Farmerville lad, Jimmy Evans, fights Bobby Flores of Houston, Tex.

Cook, up-and-coming middleweight contender, has made a good impression in recent New Orleans bouts, and is rated by Ring Magazine as the middleweight of the south. Formerly from Oak Grove, but now residing in Bastrop where he is employed, Cook has always been impressive in any boxing card he has headlined here, including his unanimous decision win over Norris Ray, the slugging Bastrop Bomber, before a jam-packed arena crowd.

His opponent tonight may well snag Cooks fistic climb, for Cedillo, from Durango, Mex., has fought 65 pro fights, and is reputedly a crafty and strong, as well as experienced, puncher.

Bass is a smooth-working, hard-hitting youngster, whose handsome appearance belies his ring skill. He won his last fight here on a unanimous verdict without too much trouble, and impressed one and all with his boxing ability. Tonight he meets a rugged lad, who looks like a hillbilly with his coon-skin hat and bare feet, but fights exactly the opposite.

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 16 (AP) — Coach Gaynell Tinsley gave his Louisiana State University football team a rest from heavy scrimmage Wednesday to concentrate on tying up loose ends in offensive and defensive maneuvers.

The aerial game received a lot of attention, with tossers looking sharper than usual. Quarterback Al Doggett, Win Turner and Mat Burns were hitting the ends and halfbacks with precision and consistency.

Ends Joe Tuminello and Bob Reich got to the right spot at the right time and helped make the passers look good.

Halfback Vince Gonzales and guard Phil Beron returned to practice after minor injuries but performed with the second team. Both had been slated for starting berths against Texas in Austin Saturday.

Future Of Harris Not Certain; Nats Overhaul

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—A major face lifting is in store for the Washington Senators over the winter, but whether manager Bucky Harris will vanish in the shuffle rests squarely with an old friend, clubowner Clark Griffith.

The wolves have been howling in the capital as a result of the club's disappointing second division finish. Its attendance figures have tumbled.

And when neighboring Baltimore shelled out a sizeable bundle of cash Tuesday to lure Paul Richards as general manager of the Orioles, the howling grew even louder.

Calvin Griffith, the Nats' executive vice president, acknowledged the situation Wednesday. "Something is going to be done," he said. "We can't afford to get kicked around. You can be sure there will be plenty of changes."

Clark Griffith, the 84-year-old owner of the ball club, said firmly that any decision to shift managers would be his and his alone. He promised an announcement after the season ends Sept. 26.

Harris, himself, was saying nothing. He was at the same old stand, directing the field fortunes of the club which he piloted to its first championship 30 years ago. This is Harris' third hitch as manager of the Senators.

The Washington complaints are familiar. They run like this: The club has no respectable farm system; it makes no effort to get good players; it has no life in the field.

Both Griffiths dispute these assertions. They believed last spring that the Senators had the nucleus of a first diivision club. Harris went along with that idea. He even foresaw the possibility of a pennant.

The fans whooped it up enthusiastically at the start of the season, but as the Nats slid down the ladder, the crowds fell off. Only 460 showed up for one game last week, and total attendance if off nearly 100,000 from last season.

"We're going to do some trading," Calvin Griffith said. "We're working on promotional ideas, too. We don't intend to stand still."

He was looking over his shoulder at Baltimore, 38 miles away, where a last place club was making motions as if it were determined to be a last place club no longer.

St. Matthew's To Play Tonight At Holly Ridge

HOLLY RIDGE, La., Sept. 16 (Special) — The Holly Ridge Eagles will open their 1954 home football season Thursday night when they face an invasion from the St. Matthew's Fighting Irish of Monroe. The Eagles go into their home opener with a season record showing a tie with Start and a loss to Rayville. It will be the first game of the year for Coach Jay Broussard's Irish.

The game, originally scheduled for Friday, was advanced to Thursday night to avoid conflicting with neighboring games.

The Eagles have worked hard getting ready for an expected improved Irish eleven, correcting mistakes uncovered in the Rayville game.

Probable starting lineups are:

St. Matthew's — Pittaro and Zagone, ends; Saucer and Sharmon, tackles; Goldman and Guerriero, guards; Fruge, center; Norman, quarterback; Jungina and C. Inzina, halfbacks; Guirlando, fullback.

Holly Ridge — Williams and Thompson, ends; Sistrunk and Taunton, tackles; Stokes and Moton, guards; O'Quinn, center; Best, quarterback; Smith and Futch, halfbacks; Boleware, fullback.

Coach Broussard reported two Irish starters, Jackie Norman and Carl Inzina, on his ailing list, but he will give them the starting call. He said George Fruge may be moved from center to halfback if Inzina can't play.

Game time is 8 o'clock. Ticket prices are $1 and 50 cents.

Junior Rebels Show Triumph In First Scrap

While the West Monroe varsity gridders are grooming for tomorrow night's battle here with the strong Rayville Hornets, the Rebel junior eleven is celebrating a 26-0 triumph over Jonesboro-Hodge's juniors Tuesday night.

Johnny Marzula, outstanding player for the West Monroe juniors, went 30 yards for the first Reb touchdown, and following touchdowns were by Joe Ford, 20-yard run; Odis Howell, guard, who went 40 yards with an intercepted pass; and Joe O'Neal, 50-yard run.

Meanwhile, the varsity Rebels, hoping for revenge for last year's loss to Rayville, were working hard for tomorrow's game against a Hornet machine expected to come here at full strength. The Rebs are optimistic about their victory chances, but inexperience is still the biggest anchor on Reb hopes of breaking away.

Women's Amateur Led By Miss Faulk Into Round Of 16

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16 (AP)—Mary Lena Faulk, an imperturbable mudder from the land of Bobby Jones, struck a strong blow in defense of her Women's National Amateur golf championship Wednesday when she came from behind to defeat ex-titleholder Grace Lenczyk on the 20th hole.

The Thomasville, Ga., bookkeeper, keeping her nerves and shots under firm control through a distracting drizzle, won on the second extra hole where Miss Lenczyk, obviously tiring, half-sculled her approach, hit short with a wedge and took a bogey five.

Miss Faulk thus went into the round of 16 with a strong international field including Marlene Stewart, the little bespectacled Canadian champion who also was carried an extra hole; Philomena Garvey, the Irish golf queen; 19-year-old Janette Robertson, the pride of Scotland; Margaret (Wiffi) Smith of Guadalajara, Mexico, at 17 the youngest player in the tournament; and Mrs. Margarita Demaglione of Argentina.

Another survivor was Mary (Micky) Wright, 19-year-old Stanford University co-ed from LaJolla, Calif., who put out the only other ex-champion in the field, Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta, 1 up.

Canada's Miss Stewart, playing with a damaged left hand, eliminated Jeanne Bisgood, the round-faced British barrister who holds the English crown, on the 19th hole after being two down with four to play.

Miss Faulk's sixth round opponent Thursday will be Miss Garvey, who eliminated the experienced Maureen Orcutt, Haworth, N. J., 3 and 2. Miss Stewart's next obstacle is Mrs. Maxon Berger, Buffalo, N. Y., better known around New York as Cookie Swift, who rang in putts of ten and 12 feet on the final two holes to oust Mrs. A. H. Allen, Arlington, Va. 3 and 2.

Two rounds will be played Thursday, reducing the field to four.

Indians To Leave Friday For Southeastern Battle

Coach Devone Payne's Northeast State Indians will run through their last home field scrimmage this afternoon before leaving by chartered bus tomorrow morning for Hammond where they will meet the potent Southeastern Lions in the opener of the 1954 Gulf States Conference season.

The green Indian squad, boasting only eight upperclassmen in a squad of 38, open against one of the teams who finished in a three-way tie for the Gulf States championship last year. Coach Payne, asked to crystal ball the final standings this year by the Associated Press, ranked the Lions from Hammond as the team likely to finish second behind Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs. He picked the Demons of Northwestern for third. These are the three teams which finished in last years unusual deadlock for the top spot.

Quarterback Danny Hoak, freshman from Hopwood, Pa., who was figured for some duty in coach Paynes split T, has been bothered recently with a pain in his hip. It has become progressively worse until yesterday he was sent to a physician for a check. His condition and possible readiness for action are a question.

Pete Chambliss, a transfer student from Hinds Junior College in Raymond, Miss., will likely get the nod to start at the important split T quarterback slot.

Coach Payne and his staff have spent much of the last two days setting up their defense for Southeastern's attack. Twice a day practice sessions have been the rule for the inexperienced Indian squad until yesterday when college registration, which took players' time, cut practice to one session. A practice session is scheduled for tomorrow night under the lights in Hammond. The team will return immediately after the game Saturday night.

The Indians expect to present a balanced attack against the Lions, mixing a passing and running game, coach Payne said.

Demons Seeking Revenge Over Oklahoma Foes

NATCHITOCHES, La., Sept. 16 (Special)—Northwestern State College will seek to avenge one of its two 1953 football losses here Saturday night when coach Harry H. Turpin's Demons face Central (Oklahoma) State College in the annual season opener for both teams.

Northwestern has six more lettermen than the Oklahomans, 22 to 16, but coach Dale Hamilton's forward wall includes five senior lettermen who average 205 pounds. Four were starters in last year's 7-0 Broncho victory.

The "Mr. 3-D" title on the Oklahoma squad, however, goes to junior letterman Tom Bear, who packs 240 pounds on a 5'11" frame.

Neither of the Sooner state backfield stars who figured in the 1953 decision will be back. Quarterback Bill Dutton, who scored the game's only touchdown, and halfback Hooter Brewer, leading Bronc ground gainer in the game, are both gone.

Also missing will be Northwestern fullback Joe Barkate, leading Demon ground gainer in last year's loss to Central State.

Coach Turpin hopes to make up for the loss, however, with at least one experienced hand at every position. Several transfers, ex-servicemen and former N.S.C. gridders are counted on to give "Rags" plenty of depth in his 20th year as head football coach at the Natchitoches school.

Requested Taken By Bicard; Pays $13.90

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Philip Bieber's Bicarb closed with a rush in the final sixteenth to win the $15,065 Requested Handicap at Aqueduct race track Wednesday.

Bicarb scored by a neck over William Noble's South Point. Five lengths back came Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Find.

Third choice with the crowd of 15,444, Bicarb returned $13.90, $6.50 and $4.30. South Point paid $9.40 and $6.40 and Find was $4, to show.

Cornell's Classy End Ineligible For Season

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP)—Stan Intiar, sparkling junior end of the Cornell University football squad, Wednesday was declared scholastically ineligible for the 1954 season.

A special committee of the School of Mechanical Engineering announced it was determined at a hearing Tuesday that the 215-pound, six-foot-four, pass grabber from Euclid, Ohio, had not met the school's scholastic requirements. Intihar made the All-Ivy League team last year.

Lea Lane Is Winner Of Durazna Stakes

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—Charlton Clay's speedy Lea Lane ran down Hasty House farm's Alspal in the stretch to whip her persistent rival by two and one-half lengths and capture the $18,200 Durazna Stakes at Hawthorne Wednesday.

Third in the six-furlong dash for 2-year-old fillies was Alleghan.

Lea Lane returned $4.20, $2.80 and $2.80. Alspal paid $3.20 and $3. Alleghan's show price was $6.

'Silence Is A Part Of Acting'

HOLLYWOD, September 16 — The screen name is Lois Smith. She's a budding star at Warners. The story behind the name, and a second story about the reasons for her selection for a big part, are unique. When I heard them, I asked permission to tell them — and here they are.

Lois Smith in real life was Lois Humbert. She was born in Topeka, Kansas. She acquired the name of Smith when she married Wesley Smith, a student. Upon entering the movies she asked that her screen name be that of Smith. That was okay at the studio. How many others in glamourland, especially in the player bracket, are named Smith? Those with Smith as a real name have adopted glamour handles for film careers. Lois is different. She believes if it is thrilling enough for her married life, is it good enough for her film journey.

How did she gain her present role in "Strange Lady in Town?" She knew how to listen as well as talk. Mervyn LeRoy, her director, judges players that way — that is, by the way they listen to the dialogue of others in the scene. Lois is co-starring with Greer Garson and Dana Andrews in this one. I asked LeRoy about this unusual way in detecting acting ability. He said:

"Silence is a part of acting. No player is talking all the time. Sometimes she must show reaction to the words of others. How she does this, in my opinion, is an indication of her real ability. If an actress shows she is listening to another character, then I know she is thinking about the whole scene — not just her own lines. These are the kind of new players I'm always searching for. They have the instincts of born thespians."

Lois Smith first showed LeRoy how well she could "act" without opening her mouth in portraying a small part in "East of Eden." He saw her footage and then gave her a test for the role of Spurs in "Strange Lady in Town." He had sought for three months for an actress to do this difficult role. Spurs is 16 years old, daughter of an Irish father portrayed by Dana Andrews, and a Castilian mother. She is emotional, beautiful, a fine horseback rider and in love with sophisticated Cameron Mitchell. LeRoy tells me the role is important enough to make a star out of the actress playing it.

Now it is up to Lois. She is 21 years old and gained her first dramatic experience in church productions. She attended high school and college in Seattle. She has large, expressive grey-blue eyes, long slender legs and eye-compelling feminine contours. She looks much younger than her age. Well, maybe in "Strange Lady in Town" another star is being born — as Mervyn LeRoy is predicting.

Preview nights: "Shield for Murder" is the story about a police officer who isn't too ethical, produced by Aubrey Schenck for United Artists release. It stars Edmond O'Brien, John Agar, Marla English and David Huche. It introduces Miss English, being groomed for stardom. The theme being what it is — a cop going crooked — we have some brutal scenes. Two-fisted fights and thrilling chases. Crime is spotlighted and characters played by John Agar and Marla English try to save the policeman who harbors murder in his heart. I believe the moral involved overcomes the crime element sneered at. I have no patience with pictures that glorify crime — but this isn't one of that variety. Howard Koch co-directed with O'Brien, and he manages the rough and tough scenes so they seem logical, though not always beautiful . . . "Suddenly" is also a United Artists release, produced by Robert Bassler and starring Frank Sinatra, Sterling Hayden and James Gleason. It is a low budget production, but as you watch and listen through its 82 minutes of action, you'll agree that it is a pretty fine picture, fresh in its story-telling. Sinatra cast in the role of a psychopathic killer, with gangster associations, invades a small town with the intention of assassinating the president. He meets defeat because ordinary American citizens, in real life roles of small folk in the town, fight him. It makes for a good, clean-cut delineation of American character and fighter qualities. Nancy Gates comes to the front in an excellent piece of work. I pronounce this picture a real bit of entertainment . . . "The Black Knight," a Columbia release of a British - made picture, stars Alan Ladd and Patricia Medina. It is filmed in Technicolor and picks a chapter out of King Arthur's Round Table period. Alan Ladd rises to great heights in the title role, and supporting him are a fine lot of artists, creating and carrying on furious action amids tremendous settings. There is a love angle involving Ladd and Miss Medina. The plot is intricate and suspenseful, with Ladd gaining the upper hand in his own way . . . "The Red Inn" is a French story, with French artists, and it tells about a French inn that over a long period was a sort of murder farm. It is released in the United States by Arthur Davis. Just how it will be received by the American movie public, I would not know, but it is a very much mixed up picture. Murder, to me, is no basis for comedy. Evidently the French think otherwise.

Cattle Raisers Seek Realistic Drouth Program

GONZALES, Tex., Sept. 16 —UP— A "more realistic" drouth relief program for cattlemen was asked Wednesday in a telegram sent to U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson by a group of Gonzales financial leaders.

George Holmes, agriculturalist for the Gonzales State Bank, said duplicate telegrams were sent to Texas Sens. Price Daniel and Lyndon B. Johnson and to state officials.

"We urge you to endeavor to secure a more realistic drouth relief program comparable to last year," the telegram said. "Protein feeds are of more than grains. We also feel prices of lower grades of cattle should be supported comparable to better grade. Small operators cannot afford to pay present prices for feed, and shortly will be forced to dump cattle on market within next 60 days."

Holmes said he didn't believe the current [illegible] program "is worth a damn." He said the small number [illegible] for aid from [illegible] cattlemen don't believe it's worth anything.

He said [illegible] chiefly on grain is [illegible], and that "if a farmer can't [illegible] of hay he has to [illegible]."

The [illegible] represented sentiment [illegible] of the Gonzales State Bank, the Gonzales Production Credit Association and the local office of the National Farm Loan Association, Holmes said.

If you spot the with the hose of your fish vacuum cleaner to get [illegible] bottom of the cover, try [illegible] Come strong around the outside of the house and make a loop [illegible] of the string on a [illegible] about five feet up on the front door.

Railroad Sued For Digging Up Bodies

NATCHEZ, Miss., Sept. 16 (AP)— A suit filed here today for John Cobbler charged the Natchez and Southern Railroad with digging up the bodies of his two former wives and putting them in a railroad fill a mile away from their graves.

Attorneys Graham Hicks and Joseph Brown filed suit for Cobbler, asking $10,000 damages.

The suit charges that the railroad, in excavating dirt for a railroad fill, dug up the bodies of his two former wives, destroyed their graves, and deposited their bodies in the fill.

DRAFTEES & VETERANS GUIDE

By MAJOR THOMAS M. NIAL

Disability Payments To Increase After 65

You wartime veterans drawing monthly payments for minor service disabilities may be eligible for higher payments after you're 65.

Whether you will be eligible will depend on whether the Veterans Administration (VA) finds you eligible to change from "compensation" payments to "pension" payments.

Compensation is the term the VA applies to the money you and other vets are now being paid for disabilities you got in service. Amount of compensation varies according to the degree—from 10 to 100 per cent—to which the VA has found that the disability interferes with a vet's ability to make a living. In the case of a 10 per cent disability, the amount will be $17 per month after this month; 20 per cent, $33; 30 per cent, $50; 40 per cent, $66.

A pension is paid to vets who are found by the VA to be totally and permanently disabled from disabilities having no connection with their service. For almost all eligible vets over 65 the pension payment will amount to $78.75 a month.

So, as you can see, if you're eligible to make the change to drawing pension from a 40 per cent of less disability compensation payment, you'll end up getting more money per month.

In making the switch, the big question is whether you're eligible to draw pension payments. The fact that you're drawing compensation has little bearing on your eligibility to pension.

To draw pension, you must meet three requirements:

1. You must have been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable from at least 90 days' active duty, some part of it during wartime.

2. You must have a yearly income of less than $1,400 if you have no dependents or $2,700 if you have dependents.

3. You must be totally and permanently disabled, unable to work enough to make a living. The condition must be determined by the VA as likely to remain with you for life.

One thing in your favor in meeting the pension requirements and the real reason your more likely to make the switch from compensation to pension is that after you reach 65 the requirements are easier to meet.

When the VA decides whether you're totally and permanently disabled it considers your advancing age as one disabling factor. At age 65, the added consideration given age as a disabling factor is far greater than before 65.

For example, a small actual physical disability, which is making it impossible for you to make a living, is considered by the VA to be sufficient to qualify under the VA's definition of "totally and permanently" disabled.

If the VA allows you to make the switch, incidentally, you don't lose your right to compensation if at some future time you are found to be no longer qualified for the pension. Under no circumstances can the VA wipe away the fact that you have a service disability of some degree even though you get no compensation for it.

If you feel that you're qualified to change from compensation to pension, all you have to do is apply for a pension at the nearest VA regional office. Before you do, however, you should have a talk with the office claims officer to get a full explanation of just what the change will mean to you.

(You may write Major Nial in care of this newspaper about your service-connected problem. Please enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope and 20 cents in coin.)

Senate Censure Group Again In Secret Session

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 —UP— The Senate Censure committee hopes to include in its report on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy a statement on the "high moral" standards that all senators should observe, a committee member said Wednesday.

The member, whose name could not be disclosed, told friends the statement would be in the nature of a declaration of principle to the effect that the Senate is a "body with certain ideals and codes of behavior."

It would be separate from the committee's report on censure charges brought against McCarthy.

The committee met four hours Wednesday to work on its report but chairman Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) declined to say whether any progress was made. He told reporters it would be unethical to discuss any decisions that might have been taken.

The six-man committee hopes to chart the main outlines of its report this week. But it is not expected to be in final form until sometime later, probably around Oct. 1. It then will be up to Senate leaders whether to have a Senate vote on the reports before the congressional elections.

The committee apparently has reached no decision on whether to restrict its report to "findings of fact" on the charges against McCarthy or to include conclusions for or against censure of the Wisconsin Republican.

To Introduce Curfew Law

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Councilman Paul d'Ortona plans to introduce a curfew ordinance for Philadelphia youngsters in hopes of curbing juvenile delinquency.

D'Ortona said yesterday he would ask the city council to pass a curfew law under which parents, rather than the youngsters involved, would be punished for violations.

The curfew would be effective from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m., Sunday through Thursday, and from midnight to 6 a.m., Friday and Saturday night. It would cover minors under 17 years of age.

The telephone company will change the ring of your phone if it wakes the baby or sounds too much like your neighbor's. But make sure it wakes you.
